

UO Council Names Church Clubs

Closer ties between new students entering the University of Oregon and the religious organizations of their choice are the goal of the University religious council. The council represents 11 denominational groups and the YMCA and YWCA, all of which offer social religious programs during the school year.

Council activities of non-sectarian nature include Religious Evaluation week, the World Student Service Fund drive, vesper services, a Christmas musical program, and Sunrise Easter services.

Students are invited to participate in the programs of the following groups:

BAPTIST

Chi Omicron Sigma of the First Baptist church, corner of Broadway and High streets, has been organized for University students and young business people.

Parties with varied themes are sponsored frequently by the groups during the school year and the social program is culminated in the annual spring formal lawn party and Memorial day beach trip.

The fellowship sponsors the church orchestra and men's athletic teams. The goal of the organization is expressed by the motto derived from the initials of its name: Christ first, Others second, and Self last.

The Baptist Sunday school class is devoted to Bible instruction and the fellowship hour includes discussions and other means of member participation.

Ann Judson house, a campus living organization for women sponsored by the First Baptist church, serves as a meeting place for Bapand one notable speaker during the past school year was Loretta Young who appeared while on location near Eugene.

The social program includes two Sunday breakfasts each term, an annual ski trip, an annual picnic, and two dances. A club bulletin is published monthly by the members.

Francis Mahula is president and Father Louis H. Sohler has been serving as club adviser.

MORMON

The Mormon student group was organized late spring term and although its schedule has not been compiled as yet it will be active during the ensuing school year.

Officers elected by the group are Jack Leonard, president, and Lyall Gardiner, vice president. Bob Thomas is the club adviser.

CONGREGATIONAL

Plymouth club has been organized by the First Congregational church, 490 Thirteenth avenue, as tunity, weekly, for study of the Bible and the Christian faith under the leadership of Dr. Wesley G. Nicholson, the minister. Dr. Nicholson and Miss Mary Grubbs, his assistant, offer advice and personal consultation to students who desire it. Arthur Elbon, Jr. is the student president.

Representatives of three religious faiths speak to "lingers-on" after a Brotherhood week meeting. The clergymen are (left to right) Rabbi Leo Trepp of Tacoma, Methodist Bishop Francis J. McConnell of Portland, and Father Lenahan.

CHRISTIAN

The First Christian church of Eugene sponsors a student group which meets at 6 p.m. on Sundays at the Campus YMCA.

The Sunday meetings include a devotional period, a social period with refreshments, and a discussion of topics particularly interesting to college students.

The student leader is Arthur As-sink, and Dr. Victor P. Morris, dean of the University of Oregon school of business, is the adviser.

EPISCOPAL

Canterbury club is an organization for University students who are members or friends of the Episcopal church. The organization provides a center of fellowship—spiritual, intellectual, and social—with in the framework of academic life.

Evening prayer, business and social evenings are held each Sunday at 5:30 p.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal church, corner of Thirteenth and Pearl streets. The organization distributes a bi-monthly publication, "The Canterbury Chimes," to its members.

Holy Communion is observed each Wednesday morning at 7 a.m. at Gerlinger hall on the University campus. Canterbury club members will conduct a Youth Sunday service on October 17 as well as the annual Feast of Lights service, next January. The Sunday evening prayer services are also conducted by members of Canterbury club.

Robert Skillicorn is president and Rev. C. C. Slocum, assistant minister of St. Mary's Episcopal church is club adviser.

EVANGELICAL

The Evangelical United Brethren sponsors a youth fellowship group which meets at 6:30 p.m. every Sunday at the church, Eighth and Monroe streets.

The church program each Sunday includes church school, 9:45 a.m.; worship service, 11 a.m.; youth fellowship, 6:30 p.m.; and evangelistic service, 7:30 p.m.

There is a Bible hour and prayer service at 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday, and all students are invited to attend the church brotherhood which meets on the third Tuesday of each month.

The president of the youth group is Donald J. Sorensen and Gordon Corner is adviser.

HEBREW

Hillel, the local chapter of a national Jewish student organization, is still in the organizational stage. To date, there has been a councilorship with Rabbi E. Charles Sydney of the Ahavai Sholof congregation in Portland meeting with the group periodically to lead forum groups, discuss world affairs, and review books. A social period usually follows these meetings.

Several members of the group attended a Northwest conference in Seattle last February and Bob Hason, president, said recently that plans are being constructed for a more permanent organization. Mr. J. J. Kammerman of Eugene is the local adviser.

An annual function of the group is an exchange meeting with the Oregon State chapter.

LUTHERAN

The University Lutheran student association meets every Sunday at the campus YWCA at 5:50 p.m. The supper meeting includes worship, group singing, fellowship, discussion, and recreation.

The weekly program of the organization includes: Sunday, Bible study and breakfast, 9:15 a.m. supper meeting, 5:30 p.m.; Thursday, Bible study, 12 noon, discussion group on social action, 4 p.m.; Friday, council meeting, 12 noon, and party night.

Ed Heide, vice president of the University Religious council, is president and Trudy Rogness is the adviser.

METHODIST

The Wesley Foundation, located at 1347 Onyx on the University campus, combines a social religious program and provides a convenient "Home away from home" for students. Wesley is affiliated with the National Methodist Student Movement.

Weekly meetings held on Sundays from 5 to 7:30 p.m. include: group singing, 5 p.m.; supper, 5:30 p.m.; worship, 6 p.m.; and three forum groups, 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Also on the weekly agenda is the Tuesday evening drama club; meditation service at 7:30 a.m., Wednesday, and "Jive Night" from 9 to 10:30 p.m.; Wesley singers, Thursday evenings; and a party each Friday from 8 to 12 p.m.

Kathy Dobson is Wesley president and Rev. David Seaman is director.

PRESBYTERIAN

Westminster house is the Presbyterian foundation located at 1414 Kincaid on the University campus. There is open house from 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. each day for students to enjoy the facilities.

The scheduled program includes: Bible study, 9:45 a.m., and a tea and forum, 6 p.m., Sunday; fire-side sing, 9:30 p.m., Monday; luncheon and discussion, Tuesday noon; married couples pot-luck dinner, 6 p.m., Wednesday; pot-luck for all students, 6 p.m., Thursday; and an open house with dancing, games, entertainment, and refreshments on Friday nights from 8 to 12 p.m.

Mickey Campbell is president and Rev. Joseph Harris is director.

UNITARIAN

The Unitarian church has tentatively planned to organize a chapter of Channing club, their national student organization, on the University campus.

Y.M.C.A.

The Young Men's Christian association is located at 1225 Kincaid on the University campus. There are recreational facilities at the YMCA for all students who wish to use them.

A luncheon club meets each noon at the "Y," there is a cabinet meeting each Wednesday noon, monthly. (Please turn to page eight) tist students on the campus. Virginia Burt, a University student, is president of the group, and Dr. Vance H. Webster, pastor of the First Baptist church, is adviser.

Dr. George Hedley, professor of economics at Mills college, was main speaker at the Sceptics Hour during the annual Religious Evaluation Week last October, sponsored by the University Religious Council. Dr. Hedley, a Methodist, was one of 11 visiting speakers.

CATHOLIC

Newman club, which is affiliated with a national Catholic student federation and honorary, meets each Tuesday at 6:45 p.m. at the Gerlinger annex on the University campus.

Discussions are conducted at the Tuesday meetings followed by dancing and refreshments. Guest speakers usually lead the discussion a social religious University student organization.

The group meets regularly at 5:30 p.m., Sundays, at the church annex, Plymouth house. The meeting begins with a snack supper and a discussion program is conducted.

There are two complete church services each Sunday at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Recreational activities and dancing in Plymouth house is scheduled for each Friday night, and special activities are sponsored by the church for choir members, ushers and married students.

Students are provided the oppor-

This scene at Canterbury club, Episcopal student group, is typical of social functions at campus religious organizations. Rev. E. S. Bartlam of St. Mary's Episcopal church is pictured with the young people's group.