

Davidson, Orr Get Staff Jobs

Laurence E. Davidson, junior in journalism, has been appointed managing editor of the 1949 Oregonian by Trudi Chernis, editor. She named Dorothy Orr, junior in business administration, associate editor in charge of houses for this year's book.

Both appointments were approved by the educational activities board. Miss Chernis said she will choose other staff members next week.

Both Davidson and Miss Orr are beginning their third year on the staff of the Oregonian. He was associate editor in charge of schools, and she was executive editor last year.

As managing editor, Davidson will be in charge of layouts. He is men's journalism fraternity.

Other publications work by Miss Orr includes editorship of the 1948-49 Piggers guide.

Positions remaining on the 1949 Oregonian staff include associate editors in charge of activities and schools, executive secretary, index editor, caption and story writers, layout editors for living organizations, artists, assistants for houses, schools, and activities sections.

The business staff needs typists, advertisers, solicitors, collectors, promotion workers, and salesmen.

Interviews for workers on the yearbook are being conducted today from 3 to 5 and all day tomorrow in the offices in McArthur court.

Tucker Announces Emerald Additions

New members of the Oregon Daily Emerald upper business staff as announced this week by business manager Virgil Tucker include the following:

Assistant advertising managers: Sally Waller, Joan Minnaugh, Donna Mary Brennan, Virginia Mann, and Bob Zeller.

Day managers: Cal Smith, Elaine Loftus, Leslie Tooze, Jack Schnaidt, and Corky Mobley.

A complete list of business staff workers will be announced at a later date, according to Tucker.

Professor Excused for Belated Arrival On Campus From Paris

By VERN HAMMOND

Professor Picard, of the language department, has added a new twist to an old story. The prof. is creating quite a sensation by being late to school! And when we say late, we mean late, for at this writing, after a week of registration and a pretty good start on the old grind here at O.U., the wrothy professor has still not arrived on the campus.

There's no cause for alarm, though, as Mr. Picard has a very good reason for his tardiness. It seems that the professor spent his vacation in Paris, and when the time came to leave, about two weeks ago, he found that someone had put the snatch on his reservation—through official channels, that is. Said reservation was cancelled without warning and without explanation.

Mr. David Dougherty, head of the department of foreign languages, says that steps are being taken by the University, with the able assistance of Senator Wayne Morris, to secure a new reservation.

ROTC Companies Set Dress Drills

All Sophomore and Senior men in ROTC who were issued their uniforms last year are expected to appear in full dress at the regular Thursday drill.

Freshmen and Juniors are allowed until the following drill period, September 30, to get their uniforms and have them altered. Capt. Walter A. Koch announces that demerits will be issued to those men who do not comply. The uniforms are being issued from the store room in the men's PE building on 15 Avenue, between the hours of 8 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 4:30 p.m.

The professor is expected back on the job in a week or ten days. He will come either by ship or by plane.

Glancing down the list of courses offered under Professor Picard, we find such gems as "Contemporary French Writers" and "Advanced Composition," the former of which is to be conducted entirely in the French language.

Pending the arrival of Mr. Picard, various members of the language staff are doing their best to fill his shoes in class.

B. A. Enrollment Largest With 2049

The School of Business Administration is the largest professional school on the Oregon campus in terms of enrollment. Total enrollment in all courses is 2049, including non-majors. The runner-up is the School of Architecture and Allied Arts.

Prof. C. L. Kelly, who has been on the faculty of the School of Business Administration since 1922 said that this term's enrollment in C.P.A. problems is the largest he has ever seen. He teaches 66 students in that course now, and the previous record, established in 1946-47, was 44.

Schworer Reports Endorsing Policy

"The Veterans Administration does not endorse any publication nor does not endorse any publication nor seeking subscriptions for the benefit of veterans," Donald C. Schworer, VA representative at the University of Oregon stated today.

A number of reports coming to the VA in the past few weeks indicate that solicitors, implying connection with the VA, are working in the Northwest area.

They are reported as claiming that certain benefits will accrue to veterans if the subscription is purchased.

Instances of such misrepresentation should be reported to the VA, Schworer advised.

- Thursday, all men, including members of the faculty.
- Friday, all women, including members of the faculty.

Demos Meet at Y

A meeting of the Young Democrats will be held at 7:30 p.m. today at the YWCA. Discussion will center around the liquor and timber situations in the state. The public is invited to attend by president Bob Davis.

Iowa scored 103 points against the University of Chicago in a basketball game in 1944. That total is a record for the Western conference.

An inch of gold will never buy an inch of time.

Alumni Pow Wow Set by Bay Group

Oregon alumni will get a kickoff party of their own as an appetizer to the forthcoming Stanford encounter when they assemble Friday evening at 5:30 in the Whitcomb Hotel in San Francisco where the Webfoot graduates of that area will play host in a pre-game pow wow.

The Golden Gate crew has arranged a special alumni seating section for the game, and all those in attendance at the party will be in that section.

On the ticket at the party itself is some last-minute grid gossip from the athletic staff, movies, and refreshments.

DRAMA MEET TONIGHT

Pi Epsilon Delta, national drama honorary, will hold its first fall meeting tonight at 8 in the drama studio. All members of the national collegiate players' group are requested to attend by chapter president Norman Weekly.
