

TOPS!

Emerald News Is Tops

Thirty regular reporters and several special feature reporters comprise the news staff of the Emerald. The news is gathered and edited by students alone.

The Emerald has ranked All-American for nine out of fifteen years and its graduates include such names as Palmer Hoyt, editor of the Denver Post, Charles Gratke, foreign editor of the Christian Science Monitor, Ernest Haycox, author of "Canyon Passage," and Robert Ormand Case, prominent northwest novelist.

The Emerald sports side includes a staff of 12 regular sports writers and feature writers, who use their own time to gather and write spots news of interest to Emerald readers.

Full coverage is given to all major and minor sports at Oregon, in addition to the space devoted to sporting news of regional and national scope.

Its complete campus coverage contains all the news. Let them in on it!
