Wrapped up in Their Work

Homecoming Chairman Bob Don and registration head Beverly Buckley put their heads together and decided that it would take this much paper to register all the alums expected to be on the campus for this year's Homecoming doings. (Emerald photo by Kirk Braun.)

Fall Schedule Of Educational Movies Posted

Movies will be held each Wednesday on the campus throughout the fall term, according to Don Hunter, director of the Educational Activities Board. These movies are selected and approved by a faculty committee and are free to Eugene residents as well as students.

Films are selected for their educational value rather than on an entertainment basis, Hunter said. The University has received these films from both the Museum of Modern Art in New York and other commercial houses.

Movie schedule for the fall term is as follows:

- Sept. 29—I Cover the Waterfront
- Touchdown Thrills
- Salmon Run on the Rogue
- Oct. 6—Film of Douglas Fairbanks
- Thief of Bagdad
- Oct. 13—Crossroads of America
- Deadline for Action
- Oct. 20—40 Years of Film Comedy
- Duck Soup and Barber Shop
- Oct. 27—Spanish Earth
- Old Missions of California
- Movements of Ancient Mexico
- Nov. 3—Girl No. 217

Vets to Receive Tardy Checks

The VA explained that heavy fall enrollments and the large volume of work in setting up necessary records will cause some delay in the issuance of first subsistence checks to student-veterans.

In most cases, veterans will get their first subsistence checks from the VA between October 31 and November 10. In a few instances, however, checks may be delayed longer. Initial VA payments will include subsistence due through October 31.

Veterans without dependents are entitled to a maximum subsistence allowance of $75 per month. Those with one dependent are entitled to $103 a month, and $120 a month with two or more dependents.

Outside earnings of veteran-students, plus subsistence from the VA, cannot exceed $210, $270 and $290 in each of the three subsistence categories.

Petitions Due Now

Today is the last day for petitions for chairmanships in the World Student Service Fund drive, according to General Chairman Art Johnson. Petitions may be turned in to Jack Werner at the YMCA or Lois Greenwood at the YWCA.

The drive itself is slated for next January, but Johnson indicated that petitions must be filed now so that the drive may be organized.

After the Stanford weekend this column should be called "Staggering Lines." People are still dragging around—the result of many parties before and after the game.

One of the most spectacular and terrific, was the impromptu affairs at Dinah's Shack, a few miles south of Palo Alto. Hundreds of Ducks assembled in the cocktail lounge for hours on end. We left around eight o'clock in the evening but people were still there.

Today, Buy a Pack of Chesterfields

One gal that wanted to go to the big game last week but didn't was Gamma Phi Jean Swift. She was almost ready to go hitchhiking down with us, but we finally talked her out of it. Last year Jean made the trip, but the journey is now history at Oregon what with the car breaking down and all.

Is there anyone who came back from Stanford without a souvenir. We've seen small wine bottles, Tonga room menus, Gay Nineties mustaches, half pints of liquor, and all other kinds of novel souvenirs. We'll give a carton of Chesterfields to the person telling us of the most novel one.

A late spring promises an interesting Marathon, from over-coated start to blanket finish.

Stations May Be Unable

their office, en route to Hal Diel, manager of Associated Oil in San Francisco, asking him to use his influence to get the broadcast to the Eugene area.

KUGN

Bob Whitely, UO graduate in 1947, now program director at KUGN, said, "We're doing everything humanly possible to get the broadcast rights. We have contacted Art Litchman, athletic news bureau chief, at Ann Arbor in an effort to get this mess straightened out. We won't know anything definite until Thursday."

Asked about the ABC-Game-of-the-Week, Whitely said, "That's Southern Cal and Ohio State. As far as I know, we have to carry that game; it's a network commitment. We might be able to make a delayed broadcast, but I doubt if that would be satisfactory to fans in the Eugene area."

KASH

KASH's Mr. Kincaid stated, "We have no definite information as yet, but we are working on it. We're under contract to Tidewater Associated Oil company, and plan to carry the WSC-Stanford game at 1:45 Saturday afternoon. It's not a matter of clearing the time. We could do that easy enough; it's a matter of getting permission from Tidewater, and then getting permission from the network that's bringing the game into Portland." KASH has Curtain Call, a musical program, scheduled for 11 a.m., the time the Oregon-Michigan game is to be broadcast.

KORE

KORE, when quizzed, said, "The broadcast is coming over CBS and won't be available to any station in this area. We're carrying the OSC-Washington game at 2 p.m." Asked about the possibility of leasing a wire from Portland, KORE replied, "We don't know if there is such a possibility; we rather doubt it. In most cases the networks will not release to a local radio station." KORE has a program called Housewives' Problems billed for 11 a.m.

Peace between wars is becoming so brief, that like a Northern Maine summed, it can be missed by a man who's a deep sleeper.
