lies with the Engineers. Georgia Tech by 7.

Illinois and Wisconsin will be bumping heads in the Midwest about the same time our boys are taking their workout. The Badgers looked bad last Saturday while the Illini were shellacking Kansas State 40-0. We'll take Illinois, by 13 . . . North Carolina, now rated No. 1 in the nation, takes on a tough Bulldog eleven from Georgia. We doubt if the Georgians will have any better luck than Texas. North Carolina by 20 . . . Northwestern and Purdue meet in one of the three top games of the week. While the Wildcats are trampling UCLA, the Boilermakers were losing a 28-27 heartbreaker to Notre Dame. Everything points to Purdue including Mr. W., but the statistics from the Wildcat-Bruin game helped make up our mind. For an upset, Northwestern by 7.

The Bruins of UCLA, still licking their wounds after last week, meet a doormat Idaho eleven, smarting after two consecutive losses. Both teams will be out to get into the win column. We figure the Bruins will do it in a big way. By 27 points. . . Minnesota's Golden Gophers meet an untried, but tough, aggregation from Nebraska. Too bad the Cornhuskers had to open with Minnesota, who we're picking to win the game by 20 points.

the regular left half, was injured against the Spartans and is expected to see little action. In his place will be sophomore sensation Chuck Ortman, a lanky tailback who has shown great promise.

At the key quarterback spot will be Pete Elliott, younger brother of last year's star, Bump Elliott. Pete saw lots of action last year on the defensive unit, and is rated as good as last season's regular, Howard Yerges.

Another member of the Rose Bowl team's defensive will start at fullback, a bruising blaster named Dick Kempthorn. At right half will probably be Walt Teninga, though he might well see action at left half, backing up Ortman.

The line will be a bulkier edition of the one that led the Wolverines through an undefeated season last year. This year the line will weigh in a good ten pounds per man heavier and will lose little in speed and agility with the increased weight.

Something Up His Sleeve

OREGON FOOTBALL COACH Jim Aiken will attempt to engineer a gridiron upset tomorrow at Ann Arbor, when he sends his Ducks against a favored University of Michigan team.

Oregon Rooters Cheer Gridders

Swirls of fog wreathed some 400 Oregon students who braved chilly weather and the early morning hour to back their team in yesterday morning's sendoff rally at the Eugene municipal airport.

Although the plane did not actually take off until 10:14 a.m., loyal rooters turned out in force at 6:45 to join in yells, songs, and stunts led by Yell Leader Marv Horenstein and his rally squad. Members of the Duck grid squad were called upon for impromptu speeches before the shivering audience.

Humor entered the picture with a few latecomers, beneath whose long overcoats were seen peeping flowred pajamas. Rumor has it that several campus houses were

An estimated 350 cups of coffee were served to the rooters by the courtesy of the University Man's Shop, the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, Rush Inn, Taylor's, the Kampus Kafeteria, and Spudnuts.
