Ducks After Second Conference Victory

Oregon's football team will be gunning for their second conference victory today, when the Webfoots take on Idaho at Moscow. Game time is 2 p.m., with Eugene station KASH (1600 kc.) carrying the broadcast.

Jim Aiken's charges, going into the contest are tabbed as favorites over the three-time loser Vandals. Grid experts pick the Ducks to maintain an unblemished rating in Pacific Coast play by a margin of 6 to 21 points.

Idaho Looking for Victory

Idaho, coached by the one-time Alabama grid great Dixie Howell, is still looking for its first triumph of the current campaign. In dropping decisions to Oregon State, Utah, and UCLA, the Moscowmen were able to push over for scores in each game.

But the Vandals have been having their share of tough breaks this season as a result of injuries suffered in the Beaver tilt. Coupled with the fact that today's battle is Homecoming for Idaho, Howell has promised his backers that the Vandal eleven would win one of its first four starts. Oregon is the last team against which Idaho will have a chance to fulfill this prediction.

DeWayne Johnson Doubtful

Oregon, making its third successive start away from home, lists only one doubtful performer, DeWayne Johnson defensive half-

Bearden Halts Braves with 5 Hits

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Cheered on by a tumultuous home town crowd packed into huge Municipal stadium, southpaw Gene Bearden, Purple Heart naval hero, pitched a brilliant 2 to 0 victory over the Boston Braves yesterday in the third game of the 1948 series.

In sending the American league champions out in front, two triumphs to one, in the big play-off, Bearden allowed only five hits scattered over as many innings and himself scored the deciding run of the game after powering a long double to right field in the third inning.

The pitchers for today's fourth game will be Johnny Sain, who won the opener, 1-0, for the Braves, and Steve Gromek, who won 9 and lost 3 for the Indians in the regular season. Gromek's last start back. The remainder of Aiken's 37-man traveling squad is in tip-top shape for the Palouse invasion.

The Webfoots, who entrained for Moscow, Thursday, stayed at Pullman last night and will make the trek to the Vandals lair before game time. A capacity crowd of near 15,000 is expected to witness

Greeks to Discuss Mutual Problems

Greek organizations are asked to send a delegation to a meeting sponsored by the directors of student affairs Tuesday, October 12, at 6:30 p.m. in the Guild theater, Johnson hall.

From three to five officers or representatives of each house may attend the meeting. The purpose of the affair is to establish a basis for fraternity-sorority-institutional relationships, according to Donald M. DuShane, director of student affairs.

After a brief address by DuShane, mutual problems will be discussed.

Rally to Welcome Team Back Sunday

Ducks will lay out the welcome mat for the returning grid team Sunday morning at 11:30 in a railroad-platform rally.

"We want a big turnout to show the fellows we're behind them, whether they win or lose at Moscow," stated the rally board yesterday.

Jim Aiken, head football coach, told the board last week that he would like a welcoming reception for the team upon their return from every game, to show the players that they have solid backing among UO students.

Rukeyser Talk Will Spotlight US Economics

"The American economic system is the world's pace setter because it fits human nature like a glove," is the belief of Merryle Stanley Rukeyser, who will speak on "The Outlook for Better Living" in McArthur court Monday at 7:30 p.m.

In drawing a distinction between real progress and political blue sky, Mr. Rukeyser has said: "Through the decades, Americans have attained greater material well being than ever before achieved... The good results were the consequences... of the creative side of man operating in the realm of science, invention and engineering."

New York Headquarters

Mr. Rukeyser's headquarters are in New York. He has gained national distinction as an economic commentator, lecturer, columnist and author. Among his literary achievements are "Financial Security in a Changing World" and five other economic tomes.

Mr. Rukeyser has led a varied life as sports editor, teacher at Columbia university, radio lecturer, author, and, finally, economic commentator.

He has frequently been invited to speak before important lecture groups all over the nation. In addition to this, Mr. Rukeyser broadcasts each Wednesday evening on "The Battle of the Commentators," and has often appeared on such programs as "Wake Up America" (Please turn to page eight)

Aiken's Team Out to Win For Johnson

(Ed. note: The following report was telegraphed to the Emerald just before press time last night by Kirk Braun, photography editor. Braun drove to Moscow to attend the Oregon-Idaho game.)

PULLMAN, Wash, October 8—We pulled into Moscow at 6:30 tonight and the campus is in great spirits. It seems to be the general idea that it would be nice to have duck soup for dinner, come Saturday night, followed by an entree of roast duck. Aiken and company, who are berthed in the Washington hotel in Pullman, ten miles from the scene of battle, have a different sort of idea in mind.

The boys worked out this afternoon on the WSC field and Aiken says they are in good shape both mentally and physically. Aiken, however, isn't in such good mental state since he has his usual Friday night jitters. But he feels confident that the boys will bring home the bacon.

The team will miss the services of DeWayne Johnson, whose father passed away today in Silverton. The entire team and coaches sent flowers and sympathies and the boys are going to put in an extra lick or two for DeWayne.

Weather here promises to be fair so Van Brocklin should have a good day. Sports writers on Spokane, Moscow and campus papers all pick Ducks by from 7 to 14 points but point out that the Vandals will not go down without a struggle.

My own prediction is this: first quarter will go scoreless. Ducks will break ice in second frame with score. Two more in third quarter and one in final to give Oregon 27 to nothing win.

Rooters from Webfootville will be scarce but there will be several carloads.

Team is out taking in a show tonight and will be tucked in by coaches promptly at 9:45 p.m.

Idaho students say Quacks will be smacked tomorrow but in between the lines, they don't really believe they can do it.
