

Chairmen Picked for WSSF Drive

Committee chairmanships for the forthcoming World Student Service Fund drive on the Oregon campus have been named by General Chairman Art Johnson. The drive is scheduled for the first of winter term.

Promotion will be under the chairmanship of Maggie Johns, with Kathryn Littlefield in charge of posters, Helen Sherman in charge of radio, and Joanne Frydenlund in charge of stunts.

Publicity chairman will be Stan Turnbull. Ed Peterson will handle arrangements for speaking team and Joe Labady will handle off-campus organization contacts. Contacts with off-campus individuals will be handled by Barbara Ness.

Other chairmen include Suzie Michel, campus organizations; Billejan Riethmiller, Greek living organizations; independent living organizations, Jeannine Macaulay. Treasurer will be Velma Snellstrom and the faculty adviser is Donald DuShane, director of student affairs.

The World Student Service fund is the American fund-raising organization of World Student Relief, an international organization made up of students and teachers in 19 nations, who are raising money for their colleagues in war-stricken areas.

The drive on this campus will be the only official campaign on the campus this year, according to Chairman Johnson. Other drives may be held but they will not be official, he said.

Frosh Urged to Gather Wood For Big Bonfire

"All freshmen should be getting wood and trash for the frosh bonfire," Johnny Backlund, chairman of the event stated yesterday.

"The bonfire is their function—actually it is the first big event on the campus that they take part in as a body," he commented, and urged, "That each men's living organization begin collecting the needed trash for the fire."

In past years the fire has been one of the big points of the Homecoming weekend, with flames from the fire reaching a hundred feet in the air. Last year the bonfire fell flat due to pirating by Oregon Staters, rain, and lack of cooperation from the freshman class.

Store the Wood

In order to prevent pirating this year, all wood and trash should be kept near the living organization. At a specified time it will be moved from the houses to the bonfire area on the intramural field.

Anything from cardboard boxes to actual logs are used in the fire, the bigger the better.

"We're putting the event right in the frosh's laps, it's known as the frosh bonfire and we want them to take care of the event—each president of the frosh class in the houses should get his men started collecting right away," Backlund concluded.

Features Open House

Open house will highlight the women's organizations part in Homecoming, according to Joan O'Neil, assistant Homecoming chairman. The women's houses will not be open for lunches to returning alums as had originally been planned because the houses would prefer to put on a better correlated open house as they have in past years.

Men's living organizations will have lunches for their alums, however, as was originally scheduled. Most of the men's houses will feature buffet lunches for their alums and many houses expect to feed close to a hundred above the regular house lunch number.

Spectators See Hostess Chosen

Six of Oregon's most beautiful and personable co-eds are especially eager for the arrival of tomorrow's game.

One of the six will be revealed as 1948 Homecoming Hostess during half-time of the Trojan-Duck grid battle in Portland's Multnomah stadium.

Bob Don, chairman of Homecoming, will make the announcement to an expected crowd of 32,000 football fans, climaxing nearly three weeks of campaigning on the Oregon campus.

Spanish Teachers Slate Portland Meet

The girls are finalists of a group of 27 representatives from each of the girls' living organizations. Judging by a five-man and one-woman committee eliminated 21 of the candidates last week. The student body picked the actual hostess in voting Tuesday and Wednesday but the name has been kept a secret, reports Leslie Tooze, selection chairman.

Candidates for ruler of the 1948 festivities are Jane Hull, Ruth Mihnos, Norma Duffy, Nancy Chamberlain, Barbara Link, and Virginia Walker.
