Johnson, Lewis May Start Today

1350 yards gained in four games. The Webfoots are second in rushing offense, with 1035 yards. USC isn't among the first five in either department.

Cravath is certain to call on Dean Dill to throw Southern Cal's passes. The slick quarterback has completed 20 out of 28 passes to date, to rank third in PCC passing. Only Van Brocklin and Ray Nagel of UCLA have completed more passes.

Dill boasts the best passing percentage, .714, but his tosses have gained only 195 yards.

Southern Cal has two other good passers behind Dill. Jim Powers played a good game against Utah, while George Murphy has been rated as the best passer in the Trojan backfield.

Plenty of Depth

A host of powerful and speedy backs round out the USC offense. Don Doll, an all-coaster last year, will probably start at lefthalf. One of best all-around backs on the Trojan team, Doll is a good break-away runner, an effective blocker, and does a lot of SC kicking.

Art Battle will open at right half for Southern Cal. Battle is a speedy runner and a good pass receiver. Jay Roundy is right behind Battle for a starting position.

A Battle of Lines

The two lines will be evenly matched today, with the Trojans having a slight edge in bulk. Only one man, Hachten at 195, weighs under 200 in the Troy line.

Aiken will probably field the same forward wall which has started all year. Garza and Wilkins will open on the ends, Steve Dotur and Don Stanton will be at tackles, Ed Chrobot and Meland are set at guards, and Brad Ecklund holds down the center spot.

On defense, Sam Nevills and Bob Roberts see action at tackles, Chet Daniels and Jim Berwick play guard, and Ben Holcomb and Johnson enter the backfield.

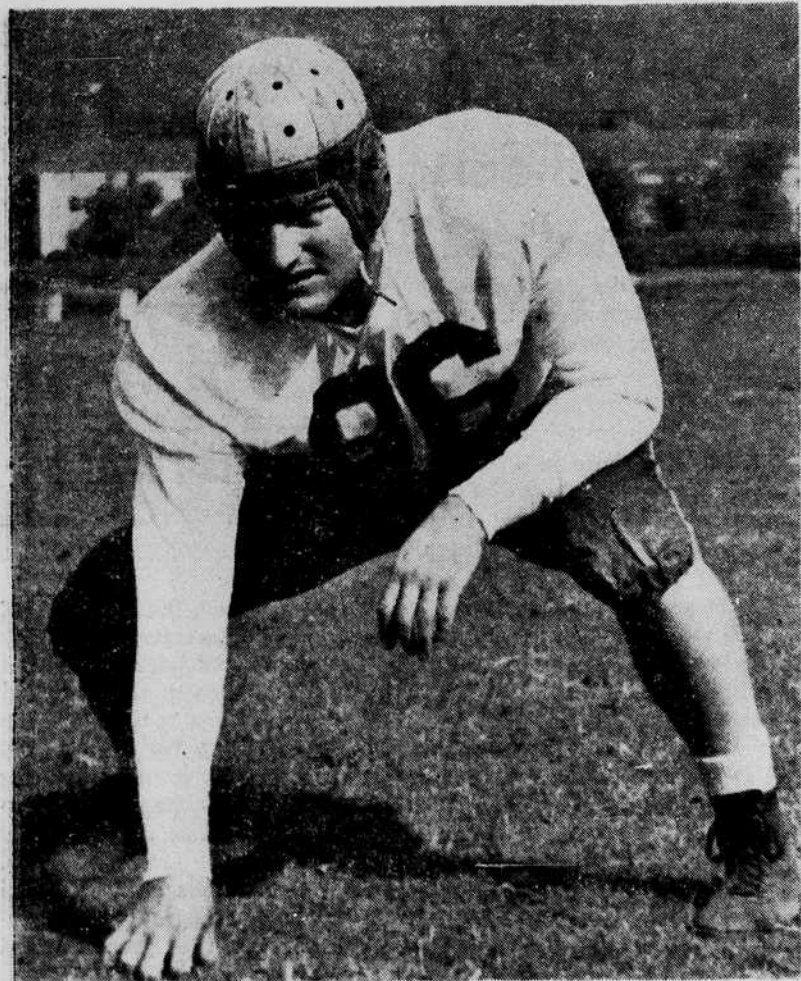

An estimated crowd of 30,000 is expected to fill the stadium for today's game. All reserve seats were sold out long before game time, and the remaining general admission seats will go on sale at 1:15 today.

Eugene radio station KASH and KEX in Portland are scheduled to carry the play-by-play broadcast of the game.

This Tackle Ready

STEVE DOTUR, regular left tackle on Jim Aiken's Oregon football team, will see plenty of offensive and defensive action today against Southern Cal. Steve was a 409-minute ironman last season, and has started every game this year.

Big Brad at Center

BLOND BRAD ECKLUND will hold down the middle of Oregon's line today against the Trojans from his center post. Ecklund, who is seldom taken out of a tough game, backs up the line on defense. He played 504 minutes out of a possible 600 last year.

Oregon Campus Barren Today As Faithful Fans Trek To Portland

The University of Oregon campus and the city of Eugene will be temporarily reduced to small-time status this weekend, as several thousand Webfoot fans desert the old home in favor of the Rose city.

Today's game with USC in Portland's Multnomah stadium has lured almost the entire flock of Ducks away. The migration began last night, when a great portion of the student body set sail for Portland, intent on making a weekend of it.

Rallies, breakfasts, dances and other functions in Portland provided incentive for the early departures, and reinforcements will continue to pour in right up until the opening gun today at 2 p. m.

Numerous fraternity and sorority houses are closing their doors in anticipation of the mass desertion.

Automobiles, special buses, and special cars on the scheduled trains assured adequate transportation for all who wished to see the game, be they students, alumin or just interested bystanders.
