

Talent Program Is Rated Tops

Following the bonfire and noise parade, an all-student talent program will be presented in Mac court. Chairman of the rally committee, Al Lippman, says that it will be something new in the way of student talent shows.

Originated by Norm Morrison and Denny Marvin, the program will be in the form of a minstrel show, with several specialty acts. Zarones and his men of EZ Rythem, Negro jazz band, will provide the musical background.

Acts Featured

Featured acts are Carol Johnson, blues singer; Jackie Wrenn, tap dancer; two comics from old Mississippi, Gay Baldwin and Bob Chambers; a duet by the well-known mountain singers, Newt Thornton and Stan Smith; and Margo Spangler and Barbara Henton, Tri Delt duet.

Also feature dare an exotic Kappa dance team, consisting of Emily West, Georgie Balaam, Eva Moore and Julie Chevier; and Arnold Beaver, baritone. Presentation of the noise parade and Homecoming sign awards will be held just before the talent show.

To Hold Meeting

An organizational meeting of the worship workshop will be held Wednesday at 7:45 at the YWCA, announced Lou Weston, chairman. Miss Weston will outline the general principles of the workshop and will hold a discussion of any questions.

Representatives in the living organizations, both men's and women's, in charge of devotionals or anyone interested are invited to attend.

Monthly Luncheon Planned Thursday

The monthly luncheon of the YWCA advisory board and cabinet is scheduled for Thursday noon at the Y bungalow. Mrs. Curtis Avery, president of the advisory board, will preside over the meeting.

Nancy Moran will give an account of her work with the government last summer in the students in government project in Washington, D. C.

Laughs, Music, Fun, Color At Campus Talent Show

"Laughs, music, fun, color." These are attractions Chuck Corgan, Homecoming promotion chairman, promises Oregon students if they attend what he calls the biggest campus talent show of the year. The entertainment, first of this year's Homecoming festivities, is scheduled for 6:30 tomorrow night in front of the College Side Inn.

Chairmen Bob Chambers and Chloe Ann Mayer have been auditioning talent for four weeks in an effort to present something unique and outstanding in campus entertainment, according to Corgan.

With a "gay nineties" theme and torch lighting, the show will feature disappearing acts, imitations, "can-cans," and singing. Included among the performers will be the Pi Kap trio, Janet Standing and Bob Chambers, singers Phil Green and Carol Johnson, imitators Russ Haehl and Ron Stevenson, and magician Jim Steinkraus.

Jackie Wrenn and Barbara Cohn, described as "Toscanini of the dance and floor" and "The Sophie Tucker of Oregon," respectively, will also be introduced by Gay Baldwin, master of ceremonies.

Homecoming hostess Jane Hull will be presented to the students. "This big entertainment show launching Homecoming is free, so there is no excuse for anyone to miss it. We promise a lot of fun, Corgan stressed.
