Apply Now For Ducats To Game

Ballot Box in Co-op Stays Till Monday

OSC game tickets may be applied for today instead of next week, as printed in yesterday's Emerald. Students should sign ticket number 33 in their athletic books and drop them in a ballot box in the Co-op, which will be there until next Monday.

The $2.00 tickets will be sold to 1450 students whose names will be drawn from the ballot box at an executive council meeting Monday night, November 1.

A special rooting section will be reserved for Oregon students at the game in Corvallis, November 20.

After the Monday drawing, the names will be listed in alphabetical order and placed in the library, Co-op and McArthur court for three days, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, so that students may see if they are eligible to buy tickets.

Sale Starts

The actual sale of the tickets will start November 8, 9, and 10 in McArthur court. Students are requested to bring their athletic books and registration cards, so that the book numbers and names can be checked with the athletic office lists.

Those who still have athletic books coming may obtain slips of paper to be filled out from the office of Howard Lemons, athletic business manager. These may be used as substitutes for ticket no. 33.

Fifty tickets out of the 1500 allotted for Oregon rooters will be withheld from the drawing to be given to members of the executive council and the Order of the O. Seating arrangements and policing at the game will be taken care of by the latter.

This method of distributing the tickets to Oregon rooters was selected as being "the most equitable way," according to members of the executive council.

Oregana Appoints

Don Hagedorn, sophomore in journalism, has been appointed circulation manager on the business staff of the 1949 Oregana.

His appointment was announced Thursday by Olga Yevtich, business manager of the book.

Final Curtain to Set Soon on Production

Friday and Saturday evenings will mark the final performances of the "Petrified Forest," the University theater's first production of the year. The two-act play is directed by Horace W. Robinson with technical direction by William E. Schlosser.

Tickets are on sale at the Johnson hall box office from 10 to 12, and from 1 until past curtain time on both nights.

ISA Hallowe'en Mixer Saturday In Gym Annex

Broom dances and Paul Joneses will prevent the "usual staglines from forming" at the ISA's Hallowe'en mixer Saturday night, Bob Davis, ISA president, promised.

The dance will be held from 9 to 12 Saturday in Gerlinger annex. Admission is free to all members of ISA.

Door prizes include an order for an orchid from Wayne's florist and a bottle of cologne from Kieth Fennels. Refreshments will be served. Music will be from Glenn Miller records.

ISA membership cards may be purchased for 25 cents at the Co-op Friday, from ISA senators, or at the door of the mixer.

All independent students are invited to attend.

Johnny Lusk's 'Sweet' Music For Pacific Coast Rally Dance

Mock Vote Set For Today

Students of all ages will show their political preferences, nationally and state-wide, in a mock balloting today preliminary to the November 2 election.

Balloting will be taken by polls at all living organizations during the noon and evening meals. Results will be announced in house listings in Saturday's Emerald.

Members of Alpha Phi Omega, national service honorary, will take the poll under the direction of their vice-president, Herby Kariel.

Bob Miller, senior in political science, is in charge of the project.

Election of Officers Planned Today By IFC

Election of officers for the coming year will be a chief feature of this afternoon's business session, as the Western Regional Interfraternity Conference swings into its second full day.

All nominations will be made from the floor at the session, which will be held in the Guild theater, Johnson hall, at 1:30.

"The University of Oregon IFC deserves the utmost praise," commented King Crosno of the University of California, president of the Pacific Coast council, yesterday.

"Their organization of the conference has been nothing short of superb. Discussions have been interesting, free, and spirited from the very beginning," Crosno said.

Today's Schedule

Today's schedule of discussion groups, which are open to the student public in the Guild theater, Johnson hall:

9-10:20 a.m. "Fraternity Finances," Oregon State College, presiding.

Panel: University of Southern California, University of Idaho, and Willamette university.

10:30-11:50 a.m. "Alumni and Public Relations," University of Washington, presiding.

Panel: University of California at Los Angeles, Colorado A & M college, and University of New Mexico.

Recreation will occupy the time of the delegates this afternoon from 3 to 5:30. University men's physical education facilities will be available to the visitors. This includes basketball, handball, swimming, and tennis equipment and floors.

At 6:30 p.m. in the Osburn hotel, delegates will gather for the Interfraternity banquet. Dr. U. G. Dubach, head of the political science department of Lewis and Clark college, former OSC dean of men and Sigma Phi Epsilon alumnus, will speak on "What a Fraternity Ought to Be and Do."

Tucker Appoints Assistant Manager

The promotion of Tom McLaughlin, present advertising manager, to the position of assistant business manager, was announced yesterday by Virgil Tucker, business manager of the Oregon Daily Emerald. Sally Waller who was assistant advertising manager, will replace McLaughlin as advertising manager.

McLaughlin, a senior advertising major, is vice-president of Alpha Delta Sigma, advertising honorary, and is house manager of Chi Psi fraternity.

Waller, a junior major in political science, is a member of Gamma Alpha Chi, women's advertising honorary, Phi Theta, junior women's honorary, and Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

'Miss Oregana' Presentation At Intermission

Johnny Lusk's nine-piece student band, complete with two vocalists, will play "sweet style" music at the Pacific coast rally dance which starts at 9 tonight. The dance, to be held shortly after a mass rally outside the court, is a sport affair.

At intermission, from 10:15 to 10:30 p. m., "Miss Oregana", a senior woman with beauty and a "Photogenic personality," will be introduced. She was chosen by members of the yearbook staff Wednesday night by pictures which appeared in the last three Oreganas.

Tickets to the dance will be sold today in the Co-op for $1 per couple. They have also been distributed to men's fraternities, and will be sold at the door tonight.

Sponsored by Kwama, Skull and Dagger, and the IFC, the dance will feature the emblems of different colleges which are being made by women's houses, according to decoration chairmen Kathy

"Miss Oregana" finalists are Marylyn McFarlane, Alpha Chi Omega; Mariel Means, Chi Omega; Joan Heron, Delta Gamma; Martha Cleveland, Gamma Phi Beta; Ann Fenwick, Hendricks Hall; and Gladys Hale, Pi Beta Phi.

The winner will be featured on a full page of the 1949 Oregana, and will be a guest at the staff banquet in the spring.

Littlefield and Ed Peterson.

Vocalists Warren Mack and Dolores Miller will sing with Lusk's band, which played for the pledge dance earlier this term. Lusk, a senior in music, has led his group at educational activity dances last year, house dances and Willamette park.

Eight Years Of Dust Of Johnson Hall Come To End For J. E. Atwood; Going Away Party Honors Janitor

By BOB FUNK

(Emerald Staff Reporter)

Approximately eight years of cleaning the floors, stairs and sundry crannies of Johnson hall paid off Wednesday for Mr. J. E. Atwood, retiring janitor.

Mr. Atwood discarded his broom and dustpan Wednesday afternoon and climbed the stairs to the second-floor lobby, which was the scene of a tea sponsored by the entire Johnson hall staff from President Newburn on down.

Something Different

A far cry from the tedious duties which Mr. Atwood performed year in and year out was the lace-covered table loaded with teacups and a huge iced cake.

Employees of administration offices and the news bureau strolled across floors which still bore the result of Mr. Atwood's labor. In the course of the afternoon, in fact, the second-floor lobby became slightly mused—but no cause for worry on Mr. Atwood's part. At the end of the week he leaves Johnson hall and its everlasting dust and grime for more pleasant pursuits.

An Airlines radio was a surprise dividend for Atwood. It was presented as a token of appreciation for the ship-shape appearance of Johnson's interior every 8 a.m.—and, of course, for Mr. Atwood, the man who kept it that way.

Dr. E. C. Pallett of the administrative offices led the gathering in "For He's a Jolly Good Fello." People asked Mrs. Atwood how long her husband had worked at Johnson; she wasn't quite sure.

At the end of the afternoon the Johnson staff trooped back downstairs, having given their janitor a royal going-away party. And Mr. Atwood? He found himself with the radio, memories of hard work—and at the end of the week, the title of janitor "ex officio" of Johnson hall.
