

Last Duck Home Game Today

They're Doing a Good Job

Gael Battle 'Breather' For Oregon

Three - touchdown favorites to win their sixth game in seven 1948 starts, the Oregon Webfoots close their Hayward field season today at 2 p. m., against a swift crew of, invading St. Mary's Gaels.

A near-sellout crowd of 16,000 is expected to watch the game, and the stadium may fill to capacity if the weatherman comes through with a good football day.

Although favored to win this non-conference battle, the Ducks may be pressed by Joe Verducci's youngsters. The Gaels arrived in Eugene yesterday, and looked good during their brief workout.

Upset Not Impossible

A hard-charging line and a fast backfield led by Spike Cordeiro and Dick Jarvis could take the Saints to a major west slope upset.

Oregon Coach Jim Aiken and his league-leading team are not expected to hold back today, since they will be after more than 20 points. California defeated St. Mary's 20-0 earlier in the season.

McKay Ready

The Webfoot backfield will be at full strength today for the first time in three weeks. Left halfback Johnny McKay has been running well in scrimmage, and will see plenty of duty.

Van Brocklin to Pass

Van Brocklin is expected to boost his passing percentage even higher today, with Dick Wilkins, Dan Garza, and Darrell Robinson on the receiving end.

The only player on the doubtful list is Benny Holcomb, defensive safety man out with a leg injury. Holcomb, one of the ten seniors playing their last home game today, may be ready for some duty.
