

World Affairs Conference Draws Middle Eastern Jobs Offered

Dr. Gordon Wright, associate professor of history, will participate in the twenty-fifth session of the Institute of World Affairs at the Riverside Mission Inn, December 5 to 8. Dr. Wright will be chairman of a round table session December 6 on the subject "Responsibility of the United States."

Government officials and university authorities from twelve Pacific Coast institutions will discuss the general theme, "The Conflict of Two Worlds" during the four days of all-day and evening sessions. Specific days will be given over to the subjects of the United States in relation to Russia, and the peace and to the United Nations and the peace.

Among the speakers for this year's session will be Bohus Benes, brother of the late Eduard Benes and former consul for Czechoslovakia; Douglas H. Schneider, acting chief, Public Affairs staff of the Department of State; and Senator Elbert D. Thomas of Utah.

California, Stanford, Arizona, Southern California, Redlands, Oriental Colleges, together with the gon, and California at Los Angeles, and Pomona, Whittier, and Occi-California Institute of Technology, are represented by speakers, according to Professor Marc N. Goodnow of Southern California, executive secretary of the Institute.

Christian Group To Meet at KU

Two thousand students and 200 leaders representing 15 national student Christian movements will meet from December 27 to January 1 at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, it was announced in the YWCA cabinet meeting Tuesday.

From the Pacific Northwest, 15 students are eligible to attend. The meeting will center around the themes of "World Churchmanship 1949" and "What is the work of our growing Christian unity?" Platform addresses, worship, and discussions will be featured in the mornings.

Six sub-conferences of 200 to 400 delegates will be held in the afternoons on the topics of church and personal faith, church and churches, church and university, church and politics, church and economics, and church and vocation.

Evening sessions will center on small Bible study groups on the book of Ephesians and worship. Recreation and informal activities are also scheduled.

Any interested student may obtain further information at the YWCA.

Employment in the Middle East is being offered college graduates by a client of the Zinser Personnel service.

Students with BS degrees in mechanical, electrical, or civil engineering, or with BS degrees as chemistry or geology majors are wanted. Six months training is given in the US with a twenty-four month contract for service in the Middle East.

Training pay is $260 monthly, or $280 for holders of MA degrees. Merit increases in salary are given after every six months of service.

Further information about these positions, may be secured at the graduate placement office on the second floor, Emerald hall.

Business Honorary To Entertain Frosh

Freshman women majoring in business administration will be honored at a tea given by Phi Chi Theta, women's business honorary, this afternoon between 4 and 5 at the Alpha Pi house.

Another tea is planned for next Tuesday, at the Alpha Chi Omega house also honoring freshman women in business administration.

JoHanna Wong recently was installed as vice-president of Phi Chi Theta.

Landscape Society To Meet Saturday

The Oregon Society of Landscape Architects will hold a Eugene conclave on Saturday, November 13, according to John Conrad, society member.

Following dinner and a tour of the school of architecture and allied arts, there will be a 7:30 p. m. meeting in Room 107, Architecture. Howard Buford, director of the Central Lane County planning commission, will speak on "Landscape Architecture in City Planning."

All University students are invited to attend.

'In My Opinion'

the nation was about one per cent. A larger decrease than this is expected to come to Oregon next fall. Under the new ruling, it is obvious that the last to suffer will be the University controlled dormitories. The first to suffer will be the fraternities and sororities. The fraternities don't deserve such treatment, for it is their inherent housing resiliency that has been an immeasurable aid, truly a godsend, for the many students who might otherwise have been deprived of housing and a chance to obtain education here at Oregon. The way fraternities have cooperated, doing everything but hanging men from the rafters, has constituted a noble effort, not without sacrifice to all concerned.

In conclusion, Mr. DuShane said, "We are determined that this will operate to strengthening and improvement of the fraternity-sorority system, which we support." Support? Yes, if one calls being hung by the neck, support, then the fraternities and sororities are surely being supported!

only 529 passing, a total attack which stretches out 1.6 miles.

Those teams of the past two years, sparked by Johnny Lujack who is now with the Chicago Bears, touched off a string of 25 games in which Notre Dame has remained undefeated.

Northwestern Threat

Once-beaten Northwestern (28-0 by Michigan) presents the most serious threat to that record Saturday, in a game which has been sold out for three months.

Notre Dame having pulled plenty of punches this campaign while averaging 34.5 points per contest and holding foes to 10.3, will be ready to shoot the works against the Rose Bowl-minded Wildcats.
