

Mr. Gelhausen To Sing Tonite With Organist

A group of four compositions by Hugo Wolf will be sung by Herman Gelhausen, bass-baritone, for the opening of a voice-organ concert to be presented tonight at 8:15 in the music school auditorium.

Organist for the concert will be Donald Allton. Both men are of the faculty of the University school of music.

"Fantasia in Echo Style" by Jan Peter Sweelinck will be the first offering of Organist Allton. He will follow this with "Prelude and Fugue in A Minor" by J. S. Bach. Elston Composition to Be Played

The second group by Mr. Gelhausen will be highlighted by an original composition by a member of the University music school faculty, "A Gallant's Song," by Arnold Elston. This will be the first performance of this song. Other songs to be sung by Mr. Gelhausen in the second group include "Is There Such a Thing as Day" by Ernest Bacon, "On a Fly Drinking Out of His Cup" by Paul Hinemith, "Four Uncles" by David Diamond, and "Music I Heard With You" by Paul Nordhoff.

Allton to Play

Johannes Brahms' "Choral Prelude and Fugue on 'O Traurigkeit, O Herzeleid'" will be played by Mr. Allton for the first of his second group of offerings. He will also present Seth Bingham's "Roulade," Bruce Simonds' "Prelude on 'Iam Sol Recedit Igneus,'" and Cesar Franck's "Piece Heroique."

Concluding the recital will be Richard Wagner's "Abentlich Strahlt Der Sonne Auge from 'Das Rheingold,'" sung by Mr. Gelhausen, with Mr. Allton at the organ.

Accompanist for Mr. Gelhausen will be graduate student in music, Sylvia Killman of Portland.

The concert will be open to the public.

Planting time draws near and once more the gardner asks himself if it's possible that anybody raise parsnips on purpose.
