

Education Awaits Freshmen on Walls of Chow Hall Corridors

By Victor Fryer

A factor of great importance that has been overlooked by advocates of the "DuShane Plan," is the educational benefits freshman men will have waiting in the chow lines at the veterans' cafeteria.

Penciled (or inked) along the wall of the long corridor to the cafeteria entrance are perhaps some of the choicest pieces of art and literature outside a museum or library.

For instance, there is the statement, "Jack is a yuk." Where can be found a more profound and absolute thought? In addition, one soon learns that "Ryan is also a yuk," as are "Clark" and "Chuck." The knowledge that "Mac is a whisk," and that "Mack (not the same fellow, I trust) is a smick-smick," is also recorded for the benefit of the new student or other interested parties.

One learns, also, that enrolled in the University are various "whists," "smuks," "snarfs," "Whiffermites," and other odd creatures. One person has gone so far as to state, and I quote, "We're, except me, all smuks." Another has disagreed with him insofar as to say, "I am a yuk."

And the fact, unknown to most, even those familiar with the metric system, that 1000 roys equal one kilroy, should be a boon to chem and math students.

Not to be outdone by the philosophers and scientists, the artists have been busy decorating the wall with their individual bits of art.

Women are a popular subject (of art), most of the drawings being of the Esquire type. One, a Dalilike drawing of what presumably could be a witch, is rather inappropriately labeled "Betty Coed."

Men were not forgotten by the artists. A huge muscle-bound athlete, and an ROTC student in full-dress uniform with "railroad tracks" (Captain's bars to you civilians) on his shoulders vied for honors for the largest pictures, while the Fearless-Fosdick type seemed most popular. One surrealist piece was titled simply "Therman thmoking a fag."

Miscellaneous pieces include a skull and crossbones, several "schmoes," and a decrepit car loaded with students, heading "to Corvallis (Waldo hall)."

Various tic-tac-toe games and geometric drawings attest to the fact that perhaps a few that pass through these lines are bored with the educational opportunities offered them. But it seems obvious that such an important aspect of education as this should be utilized to its fullest extent. The freshmen should live in the dorms the first year in order that they may get their education in its fullest extent and meaning.

AWS Group Plans Benefit For Christmas

Plans are being made for the second annual AWS Christmas Benefit tea, according to Jeanine Macaulay, general chairman.

The tea will be held December 4 from 2 to 4 p. m. at the Zeta Tau Alpha house. Each woman's living organizations will be contacted to prepare a box complete with everything except perishable foods for needy families of Eugene. Marjorie Petersen, chairman of the distribution committee, will contact the Lane county Welfare commission for families needing such contributions. The ages of the children, number of people in the family, and other information will be secured so the boxes can be made the most useful for the families, Miss Petersen said.

Invited will be women's house presidents and AWS representatives, faculty wives, house mothers, and members of the American Association of University women, Zonta club, Quota club, Business and Professional Woman, and City Panhellenic, announced Sally Waller, chairman of the contact committee.

Committees working with Chairman Jeanine Macaulay are distribution, Marjorie Petersen; decorations, Joyce Bailey; publicity, Donna Kletzing; promotion Florence Hansen; contact and invitations, Sally Waller and Jean Armstrong; program, Donna Mary Brennan; food, Marguerite Johns; serving and cleanup, Helen Gatewood.
