

City Manager Quits Position

Deane Seeger, Eugene city manager, has resigned his position with the city to become consultant for the League of Oregon Cities.

Seeger, who has been city manager since the manager system was inaugurated in Eugene in 1944, will move from his offices in the city hall to League offices in Johnson hall.

Interviewed yesterday afternoon, Seeger stated that his resignation in no way reflected dissatisfaction with his city job, but was rather a move which he believed to be in his best interest.

"I tendered my resignation to the city council last night, and will leave as soon after January 1 as possible." Seeger will retain his position until a new manager is appointed.

The League of Oregon Cities represents 187 cities in the state. Seeger will act as adviser to member municipalities, and will represent the league in legislature. He will retain his home in Eugene, where he moved after residing in Bellingham, Washington, during the war.

Vienna Choir Boys Scheduled For December 6

A concert by the Vienna Choir boys will be the third event on the Eugene and University Civic Music association series. They will sing December 6 at McArthur court under the direction of Felix Molzer.

On its first transcontinental tour in 10 years, the choir consists of 20 boys, ranging in age from 8 to 12 years. The program is selected from a large repertoire of sacred and folk music and always contains a costumed operatic sketch.

The group was established in Vienna in 1498 by decree of Maximilian I, and has produced many famous musicians and composers in the four and one-half centuries of its existence. Members receive a general education as well as their musical training.

The choir was introduced to America in 1932. Of them the New York Times critic wrote, "The chorus has to a remarkable degree excellence of diction, precision of attack, a clear enunciation of each vocal line in its part singing and a fine balance . . . They immediately captivated a large audience!"

Fire Marshal Miles E. Woodworth recommended the action. He said the stations have been banned in Los Angeles and that the State Fire Marshal has taken similar action in Oregon.

From Other Editors

(Continued from page six) better be good; for though we are not accomplished in being hoity-toity, we plan on some catty remarks. In fact, California had best dedicate to practice some of that time for study which it has been so carefully husbanding. Of course, we agree that it was a close decision, and that the faculty representatives had an unhappy job to perform in casting their ballots. But whether or not the exact votes are ever revealed, we believe that in all justice the individual arguments should be submitted to the public. Otherwise a great many people will continue to feel that the assumption of the right of California schools to the bowl contest, except in extraordinary cases, actually played a part.
