

Ya Can't Take It With Ya, Vets Find

ELLENSBURG, Jan. 14 (AP)—Central Washington college pranksters whose "experiment" in a men's dormitory attic came to an untimely end yesterday can blame the cold weather.

College workmen seeking the source of a roof leak found a container of mash near the heating pipes in Munson hall. It became an object of curiosity to students and a puzzle to college authorities.

The best guess appeared to be that student veterans who had picked up a rice-raisin formula somewhere on their wartime travels were trying it out.

February Completion Scheduled for Villard

According to a spokesman of the University speech department, the second floor of Villard hall will be practically completed in time for the Northwest Drama Conference, February 10, 11, and 12

Approaching completion at the present time, the second floor will include classrooms, reading rooms, offices of faculty members, and the offices of the department of speech. Chief obstacle to total completion lies in the lack of hardware; because of this, no doors will have been hung by the time the drama conference convenes.

The offices on the second floor may be occupied, even without doors, before the classrooms may be used. At present floors are being sanded and the final touches are being given to the paint job.

Color scheme throughout the second floor will be the most outstanding on the campus. The colors range from the near-chartreuse walls in the hall to the brown-and-yellow color scheme in the office of Horace G. Robinson.

According to the floor-plan, each office will include a window. Since the windows have not been moved from their position in the original structure, diagonal walls have been utilized to make office space conform with lighting problems.

All rooms retain the exceptionally high ceilings which were present in the old structure. This, coupled with the modern colors, will make the classrooms the most pleasant on the campus.

The basement, first, and third floors of Villard, as well as the new theater wing, are still in the more basic stages on construction. The completed project will include a major theater seating 402 persons, a "Little Theater," seating approximately 100, and an arena theater, which will have a capacity of 135.

The race for number two spot followed the same pattern with Shirley Hillard's 23 votes on the first ballot standing against four votes for Chi Omega Lorna Larson, two for Pi Phi Ann Darby, and one for Kappa Katherine Fletcher.

The candidates were recommended by a five-man nominating committee appointed at the Wednesday meeting at which the ASA changed its name to Associated Greek students.

advantage of the Washington bad luck and used his reserves in the last half.

Washington closed the gap twice to 10 points, at 25-35 and 29-39, but were never able to become a real threat.

Gayda and Hamilton each hit 14 points during the evening to share scoring honors. Washington's best was the seven-point total earned by Henson.

The loss gives Washington one win and two losses in conference play. The teams meet again tonight at Pullman.

You can help lock the door against cancer

Here is the story about a door that can be built to repel cancer, the deadly killer. The door locks only if two keys are turned. Science holds one key — your money can provide the other. Your dollars support: cancer research which some day may find the causes and cure of the disease; an education program that teaches men and women how to recognize cancer in its early stages, when immediate treatment can save their lives. Won't you help us lock the door? Give as generously as you can. Give more than before to guard those you love.
