

Oregon Y To Direct Program

An organizational committee meeting of the religion and worship committee of the YWCA will be held at 4 Tuesday at Westminster House, announced Lou Weston, chairman of the committee.

The Oregon YWCA has been put in charge of the programs being carried on in colleges and universities of the Pacific Northwest in the field of Christian faith and heritage. This Y is to correspond with other campuses to find what they are doing in their programs. The committee will incorporate the information into a program and present it to the regional council next spring. A progress report is also due at the next council meeting February 26.

Miss Weston stated that persons at the meeting will set up this committee and will also make religion and worship plans for this campus. The group will be divided into the following subcommittees: correspondence, to keep in touch with other campuses; a committee to collect effective devotional material and prepare a notebook; chaplains' committee to work out programs for the commissions; and a group to prepare lecture series and other methods to keep up the program on this campus.

Forty letters have been sent out explaining the work for the term and all girls who signed up for this committee when joining the Y, chaplains of the commissions, and all other girls who are interested are urged to attend, said Miss Weston.

Browsing Room Sponsors Poet

"The Ethel R. Sawyer Browsing Room Hour," dedicated to the first browsing room librarian, will present poetry read by Mr. Ernest G. Moll this afternoon from 4 to 5.

Mr. Moll, former poet laureate of Australia, will read selections from his own works, said Miss Bernice Rise, head of circulation and readers' consultant. He has published a number of books, all collections of his own poetry with the exception of one book entitled "The Appreciation of Poetry." Most of his works are short, said Miss Rise, from fourteen to thirty lines in length.

This afternoon's browsing room hour will be the first of the series dedicated to the late Miss Ethel R. Sawyer. The afternoon programs in the comfortable surroundings of the library browsing room will present readings from books and poems, one-act plays put on by the drama department, and lectures on art and travel. The emphasis this term, said Miss Rise, will be on reading.

Cabinet Positions Open in YWCA

Petitions for all electoral positions of the YWCA will be due at noon January 22 and those interested in cabinet positions are urged to petition as soon as possible, according to Laura Olson, president of the YWCA.

Petitions may be obtained at the Y bungalow and an appointment should be made for a personal interview.

Electoral positions open include president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and sophomore and upperclass commission heads. Cabinet positions include membership, international affairs, public affairs, worship, social, junior advisors, service, publicity, posters, flying speech, public relations, house, and conference.

U O Play Given At Linfield Festival

"This Property Is Condemned," a one-act play by Tennessee Williams, was Oregon's presentation at the Linfield college play festival play at McMinnville on January 15. Louise Clouston and Gordon Erickson played the parts of Willie and Tom in the production.

Mrs. Otilie T. Seybolt, professor of speech, Charles Boice, graduate assistant in speech, Le-Jeune W. Griffith, business manager of the University theater, and Horace W. Robinson, who directed the production and served on the panel during the afternoon session, also attended.

The purpose of the festival is to provide criticism of the plays to help improve the quality of presentations. Other colleges represented were: Portland university, Marylhurst college, Vanport extension, Pacific college, Clark college, Washington, and Northwest Christian college.

A corrected fault is a profitable gain.

Chess-ers Lose To Salem Club

A bare half-game margin made the difference Sunday as the Salem chess club downed the UO chess team by a final score of 9½ to 8½. The tournament was held in Salem, where an Oregon State aggregation recently dropped a tournament to the same group by a 17-3 count.

High point men for the vanquished were George Swift and Shubert Fendrich who came through for two games each, and Francis Linklater who won one and drew one for a tally of one and one-half. James Van Houten, Fred Scullin, and Dennis Bakewell split, winning and losing one each, and William Gruman, Lowell Noble, and Wellington Smith sacrificed two each.

The hosts served pot luck dinner for the team.

Dougherty to Speak

Die Deutsche Gesellschaft will present a talk by Dr. Dougherty on American students studying in Switzerland tonight at 7:30 on the Gerlinger hall sunporch.

Reporters to Meet

Reporters from all campus organizations and honoraries have been asked to attend the next regular Emerald reporters meeting, Thursday at 7 p.m. in Room 6 Journalism.

All regular Emerald reporters are also asked to attend by Stan Turnbull, Emerald news editor.

Group To Discuss 'Baroque Music'

"Baroque Music," will be the subject of discussion at 8 this evening in 104 Music by the Journal club of the foreign languages department.

Arnold Ellston of the music school will give the preliminary lecture, which is the second in the Journal club's study of the "Baroque," (17th Century) period. The first lecture, held December 9, was given by Professor Ross of the school of architecture on "Baroque Architecture."

The Journal club is organized to study various phases of culture which interest members of the foreign languages department. However, anyone may come to the meetings and take part in the discussion.

Latin-American Art Show On

The school of architecture and allied arts will present an exhibition of "Colonial Art in Latin America" in the little art gallery, beginning today, extending through to the 27th.

The collection of 44 mounted photographic panels is on loan to the University from the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.

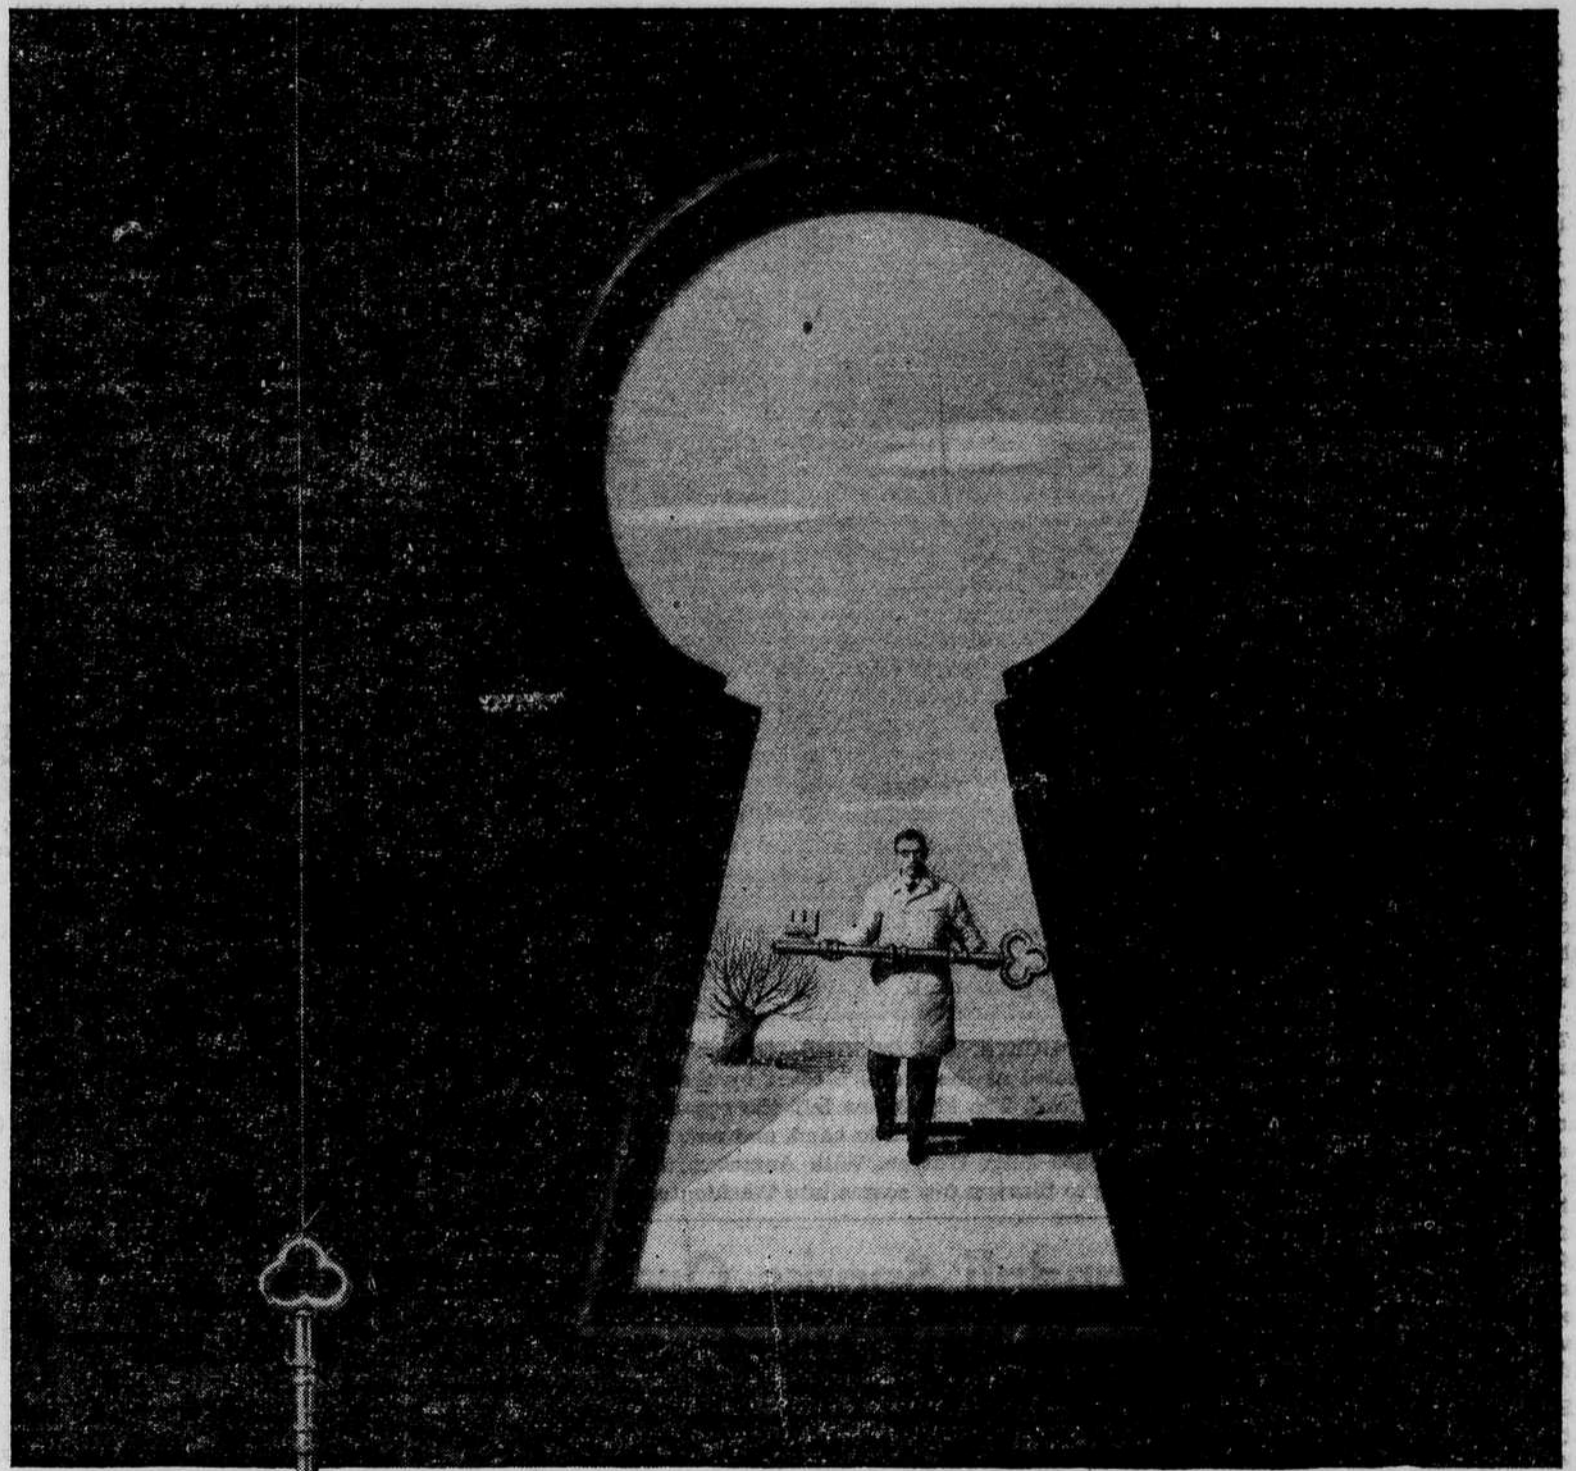

The material covers a wide range of national styles in architecture, painting, sculpture and minor arts. The exhibition was prepared by Robert C. Smith of the American Federation of Arts.

M. D. Ross, of the architecture faculty, will present an illustrated lecture on the exhibition. The time and place of the lecture will be announced later.

The gallery is open from 10 to 5 daily.

USA Meet

There will be a USA meeting at 4 p.m. today in room 3 Fenton hall.

You can help lock the door against cancer

This is a story about a door and two keys. The story will have more point if, first, we state three facts:

- Every 3 minutes an American dies of cancer.
- 25% of those who die could have been saved.
- Many cancers can be cured—if detected in time.

Now here is the story. A door can be built to repel this deadly killer, but the door locks only if two keys are turned. Science holds one key. Your money can provide the other.

Your dollars support cancer research which some day may find the causes and cure of the disease. Your money supports an education program that teaches men and women how to recognize cancer in its early stages, when immediate treatment can save their lives.

Won't you help us lock the door? Give as generously as you can. Give more than before. Give to guard those you love.
