Ducks Favored To Tip Beavers In Meet Here

Boasting a letterman in each event, Coach John Borchardt's Oregon swimming team will be favored to cop their season opener against Oregon State at 2:30 this afternoon in the men's pool.

Attention will be focused on the meet's finale, when four top Oregon sprinters will shoot for a new meet record in the 400-yard free-style relay. Jim Stanley, Tom Nekota, Louis Santos, and George Moorhead are conceded a good chance to break the old record of 2:47.7, set in 1939.

Another Record Shaky

Another record under fire will be the 100-yard backstroke record of 1:04, set by Sherman Wetmore in 1940. Oregon's Earl Walter has come within two-tenths of a second of this mark already this season.

Two or three of Oregon's outstanding crop of ineligible transfers will start off this afternoon with an exhibition. Pete Van Dyke, Joe Nishimoto, and possibly Carl Uyeda will attempt to eclipse the pool record of 53.4 in the 100-yard free-style.

The regular meet will start off with the medley relay, with Earl Walter, Rod Harman, and George Moorhead of Oregon vying with Bill Fuegy, Al Van Etten, and Ray Boyle of the Beavers.

The 220-yard free-style will be the second event, with Bob Hiatt and Louis Santos representing the Aquaducks. The contest in this event looks to be for second place, with Hiatt expected to win handily.

60-Yard Race Close

Another close event should be the 60-yard free-style, with Oregon's Tom Nekota and George Ealch attempting to shut out Gayle Ness, letterman sprinter from Corvallis. Diving competition will see Webfoots Willie McCullough and Jim Stanley matching aerial skill with Chuck Wicks and Perry Sargeant for the Staters.

Following will be the 100-yard free-style, where the Webfoots will be represented by Louis Santos and George Moorhead. For the Beavers, Ness will perform again, teamed with another letterman sprinter, Ray Dahl.

Orr Paces State With 31 Points; Hunt Tallies 14

CORVALLIS, Jan. 21—If 31 points in a single game is a record for a Frosh-Rook contest, pin a rose on Jackie Orr of Grants Pass.

The Oregon State yearling threw in that many points in the opening "little civil war" battle Friday night here and led his teammates to a 54-49 victory over Don Kirsch's Ducklings.

The former southern Oregon prep star hit from every angle. He had 17 points at the half and threw in 14 more for good measure in the final half. Had Orr been out of the game, or having only an average night, the Frosh might have won.

The other star, Bob Edwards who led the Corvallis Spartans to the state high school championship last season, was held scoreless, and Ken Hunt finally came up to his scoring capabilities. Hunt, a two-time all-stater from Marshfield high school, netted 14 points and directed the Oregon floor game. His total was high for the Ducklings.

The last time Kirsch's club was in the game was when the score was tied at 12-all. It was then that Orr began his scoring spree, and the Frosh couldn't stop him, trailing 32-19 at the half.

In the closing minutes of the game the Ducklings rallied, but the gap was too big to fill, and the Rooks stalled effectively.

Now It's Snow Golf

VANCOUVER, Wash., (AP) — The Royal Oaks country club yesterday had scheduled a golf game, and the players weren't going to let snow stop them.

Four men played over two inches of snow and managed to finish 11 holes. They changed the rules a bit, though: If a player got within a club's length of the nearest tree to the green, he'd finished the hole.

Unbeaten Redwings Face Portland

| Corvallis | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 |

The Eugene Redwings' league leading skaters take the ice at the local arena Sunday night to defend their perfect record against a strong sextet of Portland Blackhawk hockeyites in a game that promises to set forth plenty of action.

Eugene rounded out practices late in the week with Coach Tom Ferris concentrating on the weak spots displayed by the local skaters in their win over the Corvallis Beavers 11-2 last Sunday. He has had to find a replacement for Frank Sauer, student-player who has been out on illness and will not be able to see action against the Hawks.

Blackhawks Dangerous

The Blackhawks, though dropping their last game to Salem at the Capitol city showed an aggressiveness that could pull them through to a victory.

The Redwing offensive element will depend largely on high scoring Roger Newton and Canadians Tom and Dick Gillespie. Ex-pro Vic Ripley leads the Portland attack.

Newton, Dick Gillespie, and Ripley, plus John Olson and Ferris are in a scoring deadlock with four points each while Tom Gillespie trails one point behind. This game will undoubtedly pull one of them out in front.

Students are reminded that they are to be admitted with their date on one regular admission ticket. Tickets are on sale at Fennel's.

Unheralded Sophomore Turns Tide for Huskies

SEATTLE, Jan. 21—(AP)—A skinny sophomore less than six feet tall, Keith Jefferson, pulled the University of Washington basketball team out of trouble and pointed the way to a 44-43 victory over Oregon.

The winners led, 23-21, at halftime in the Northern Division Pacific Coast conference game.

Oregon's Paul Sowers had a chance to tie up the game or put his team ahead, but missed a pair of free throws in the final minute. Washington's Huskies stalled the last 60 seconds to protect their one-point edge.

Cougars Name Nebraska Man As Line Coach

SPOKANE (AP) — Washington State College named an old teammate of head football Coach Phil Sarboe as line coach yesterday.

Anthony Blazine, from the coaching staff of the University of Nebraska, was named to fill the position vacated by Roy Sandberg who resigned to enter private business.

Blazine and Sarboe were teammates on the Chicago Cardinals professional team in 1936. Sarboe said that he is "pleased" with the appointment.

Robert Brumblay, acting chairman of the athletic council, said Blazine "comes to the school boasting one of the most outstanding football records ever compiled by a line coach."

Blazine was line coach at the University of Illinois from 1941 to 1946 and was highly recommended by Ray Eliot, head coach at Illinois. He graduated from Illinois Wesleyan in 1934 and played professional football with the Chicago Cardinals for six seasons.

He later turned to coaching after one year with the New York Giants. The new coach is expected to arrive on the Washington State campus early in February.

Huskies Set Pace

Scrambling to get back in the division race after dropping three of their first four games, the Huskies set the pace through the first half, once leading 21-13. A cluster of baskets just before the gun pulled Oregon to within two points of a halftime deadlock.

Sowers dunked a layin five minutes after the start of the second period to put the Webfoots in front 29-27 and they held a narrow lead for the next six minutes. Sammy White, who counted only two buckets all evening, got one of them when Washington needed it to knot the tally at 35-all.

Lead See-Saws

Sowers and the towering Roger Wiley tossed in a pair to put Oregon in front again and that's when Coach Arne McLarney waved Jefferson into the fracas. Ladon Henson counted on a layin for Washington and Jefferson tied it up at 40-40. The sophomore added another acrobatic layin to give his team a 43-41 advantage and the Huskies couldn't be headed.

Oregon's Will Urban was thumbed out on personals in the final minute.

Washington Capt. Bill Vandenberg led the scoring with 16 points.

In the preliminary, the University of Washington freshmen collected their fifth straight basketball victory by trouncing Skagit Valley junior college of Mt. Vernon, 59 to 35.
