

Leona Anderson Gets Nod For Phi Sigma 'Moonlight Girl'

Leona Anderson, Alpha Delta Pi, sophomore, was named 1949 Moonlight Girl at the annual Phi Sigma Kappa "Moonlight Rendezvous" dance Saturday night in Gerlinger annex.

Miss Anderson was given a cup engraved with her name, the date, and the honor awarded her. This cup will be one of her permanent possessions. Her living organization will receive the large trophy which has been on display in the Co-op, to keep until the next contest, in 1950.

The six finalists, Mary Handelin, Alpha Phi; Molly Muntzel, Kappa Alpha Theta; Martha Cleveland, Gamma Phi Beta; Jeanette Houf, Alpha Chi Omega; Jean Merrion, Gamma hall, and Miss Anderson were honored at the dance, which was decorated as a nightclub, featuring the music of Johnny Lusk's orchestra.

Placement Head Back; Comments on Outlook

"I came back with the impression that there are still many opportunities for the more outstanding graduates," director Karl W. Onthank of the graduate placement service said yesterday, upon returning from a 26-day trip to New York, Washington, and Chicago.

"However, employing agencies are becoming increasingly selective as the number of college and university graduates increases, and the great number of positions which developed during the war have since become filled."

Onthank's trip had a twofold purpose: he attended the annual meeting of the National Advisory Board for YMCA student work, of which he is a member, and he made or renewed contacts with alumni and with national offices of major business concerns in the interest of helping Oregon graduates to find suitable positions upon leaving the campus.

"The University of Oregon is fortunate in having many well-placed and cooperative alumni who are willing and able to help current graduates with information and counsel," Onthank commented.

"At New York, John MacGregor and Owen Calloway of the class of '23 arranged a dinner of alumni to give me an opportunity to meet the group and arrange for a committee of alumni placement advisers in New York, similar to those already operating in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Foreign Postmarks Adorn Extension Students' Work

There are a good many students studying under the Oregon state system of higher education who won't be found in the Pigger's Guide, or its equivalent in other schools.

Miss Mozelle Hair, head of correspondence study for the general extension service, reveals that there are students who send their lessons from such distant spots as Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippines and Japan. Typical of the work that general extension is doing is the case of Mary Ellen Kennedy, a student of English and world history. Although she is a Portland girl, her present address is in care of the Arabian-American Oil company, Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. The chief problem of the department in this case is getting lessons back and forth with any degree of rapidity.

Frosh Girls Feted for Scholarship

Plaque Awarded; Ideal Husband Gives Speech

Anita Holmes, Ruth Landry, and Barbara Stevenson last night were awarded the Mortar Board freshman scholarship plaque at the senior honorary's annual Smarty Party, given in honor of all freshman girls making a 3.00 GPA or above for their first term.

The three winners, now sophomores, were awarded the plaque for having the highest cumulative grade point averages for their three terms as freshmen.

Ralph Johnson, senior in law chosen by Mortar Board as the "Ideal Husband" in a competition sponsored by Mademoiselle magazine, was interviewed by Laura Olson and Janet Beigel.

"My Ideal Wife," Johnson said when the question of his preference in a helpmate was sprung on him, "would be mature and responsible. She would not necessarily be beautiful, but she must be neat and attractive."

Trudi Chernis, Oregon editor, announced that Johnson will receive a full-page spread in the Kings and Queens section of the 1949 yearbook.

"Be a smart, not a smarty smarty," Donald M. DuShane, director of student affairs, advised the freshmen. He emphasized that one must also be moral, mature, and responsible.

"If you are smart without principles, you are machiavellian; if you are smart without responsibility, you are a nihilist; but if you have all three attributes, you are the finest product of western civilization, Christianity, and democratic education.

"Remember the three 'irrs,'" DuShane concluded. "Be irrefragable, irrepresible, and irresistible."

SDX to Meet At Side Thursday

All members and pledges of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, are reminded of the noon meeting at the Side Thursday.

According to chapter president Larry Lau, tickets for the initiation banquet will be sold at this time. Pledges should also be prepared to pay their national and local dues at the Thursday meeting.

Final plans for the initiation banquet, scheduled for February 10, will be discussed. Failure to attend the Thursday meeting will result in the customary fines, according to Warren Mack, chapter treasurer.

Dorm Council Slates Mixer

The Interdorm council will sponsor a stag or drag dance in Gerlinger annex Friday night after the Washington game.

Festivities will be underway immediately after the game, and will last until 11:30 p.m. Tariff will be 10 cents, or 20 cents a couple. Music will be from records.

Serving on the dance committee are Liz Sanford, Paula Nigg, Suzie Michel, Walt Buchanan, and Bill Hall.

Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed and Dr. and Mrs. Earl M. Pallett will keep their eyes peeled for eccentric behavior on the part of the participants.

Weather

Mostly cloudy with occasional light rain and snow flurries. Slightly cooler with a high of 37 degrees.

Trustees Select Colorado Editor ONPA Speaker

Houstoun Waring, editor of the Littleton (Colorado) Independent, has been chosen by the trustees of the Eric W. Allen memorial fund as the third annual fund lecturer.

Waring will address the 30th Annual Oregon Newspaper Publishers association conference on February 18, according to a tentative conference schedule. The subject of his talk will be "An Experiment to Improve Editorial Leadership."

Editor of the Independent for twenty-two years, Waring has been constantly active in journalistic circles. From 1933 to 1939 he served as part-time chairman of the University of Denver journalism department; in 1944-45 he was selected as one of the Neiman Fellows for study at Harvard university.

Chosen as the outstanding alumnus of the University of Colorado school of journalism, Editor Waring has copped the award for the greatest community service of a Colorado weekly newspaper eight out of the last fourteen years.

As third annual Eric W. Allen lecturer, he will take part in a program established in the memory of the founder of UO's school of journalism.
