

Husky Swim Team Whips Aquaducks

Washington's all-conquering swimming team, already conceded to be one of the finest ever to show in the Northern Division, proved too much for the Oregon Aquaducks in the Seattle pool last Saturday night as they emerged on the long end of a 62-21 count.

Coach John Borchardt's Webfoots, although outmanned from the very start, came through with a few sensational performances and generally made things interesting from a spectator's standpoint.

Stanley Comes Through

Most spectacular of all was the showing of two Oregon boys who completely showed up the Husky swimmers in their events.

Jim Stanley, the Duck's number one diver, served notice that he was ready to take over the vacated throne of Ray Staub for the ND diving crown at the coming finals here in Eugene.

In a strange pool, before a hostile audience, and on an unfamiliar board, Stanley dove unfamilarly around the highly touted and favored Jack Newton of Washington.

Idaho, WSC Next

Next meets will be against Idaho and Washington State in the Men's Pool on the weekend of February 18 and 19.

From then on except for a short jaunt to the Beaver pool, the Ducks will be at home to all callers including the ND Finals, which will be held here March 4 and 5.

Next on the outstanding list was the fine performance of co-captain Earl Walter, who, swimming against the ND record holder, not only defeated him but smashed the former's record with over a second to spare.

Repels Bid by Reagan

Swimming all out in the breast and back divisions of the Individual Medley, Walter built up a long lead and had some to spare to fight off the terrific bid of Washington's Bob Reagan in the final 50 yards of the crawl to break the record of 1:46.0 with a fine performance of 1:44.8.

This is the first ND record for the Ducks since 1943.

Louis Santos, in both the 100 and 220 yard Freestyle events, swam his best times of the season.

George Balch deserves as many accolades as any one for his 100 on the relay.

(Please turn to page five)

Frosh, Rooks Collide Tonight

Lemon-and-Green Eye Cougars Next

League Leaders Come South For Two Games

After last weekend's highly successful stand against the University of Washington, John Warren's cagers are now pointing towards the coming series with Washington State, this Friday and Saturday at McArthur Court.

Oregon is in third place, having taken that by downing the Huskies two straight, 65-58 and 70-69. Washington State's position in the Northern Division will be either first or second, depending upon the outcome of their series with Oregon State which ends tonight.

Take Light Workout

Yesterday the varsity went through only a light workout, taking it easy and resting up after Saturday's thrilling tilt. The Webfoots played fine ball in both games against Washington, and John Warren, the Duck Mentor, was well pleased with the showing of his team.

Saturday night started off in a wild fashion, both teams hitting consistently and with the lead alternating all through the first half.

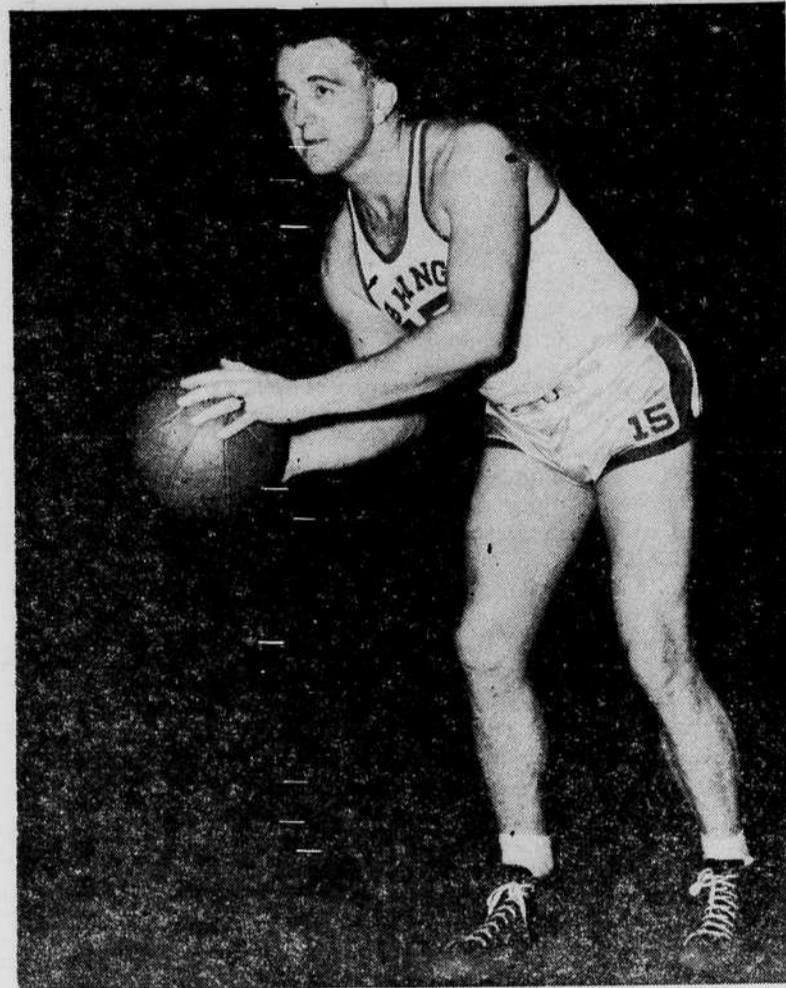

With five minutes left in the initial period, the Huskies posted their biggest margin of the night, six points, at 29-23.

Huskies Grab Lead at Half

Oregon came back and tied the score at 32 and 33-all before Washington hit two fielders, by Bill Vandenberg and Sammy White, within the last ten seconds to lead 38-35 at half.

Washington kept the lead through the early part of the second half, until the Ducks finally caught them at 53-53. From there, the score was tied at 55 and 57-all, and neither team was able to get more than a two or three-point lead for the rest of the game.

Johnny Neeley finally put the Webfoots ahead by tipping in a bucket and giving Oregon a 61-60 margin.

RAY SHINES—That's big Ray Arndt, 240-pound, 6-foot 5-inch Washington State pivot, who will go against the Webfoots here this weekend. A senior, "Tiny," as he is sometimes called, is playing his fourth year of varsity ball.

Duck Margin Trimmed

Urban dropped in a free throw, and White countered for the Huskies. Neeley then potted a long two-hander, only for White to hit from the field, leaving the Webfoots with only a one-point lead.

Neeley hit again from the field, and Wiley added a gift with less than three minutes remaining.

Almost a minute went by before LaDon Henson tipped in a rebound, promptly answered by a free toss by Paul Sowers to make it 68-65. But Henson sneaked in for a lay-in and Keith Jefferson, the skippy southpaw who always gives Oregon trouble, added another in five seconds. (Please turn to page seven)

WSC Trounces Beavers 47-41

PULLMAN, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Washington State Cougars, led by Bob Gambold and Ed Gayda, led Oregon State all the way tonight and stopped the Beavers 47-41 to strengthen their hold on first place in the Northern Division of the Pacific Coast Conference basketball race.

Kirschmen Mix With OSC Five At Corvallis

Oregon's freshman basketballers take on Oregon State Rooks in an 8 p. m. Corvallis mix tonight with the hope that the third time's the charm.

The first two of the Rook-Frosh four game series have gone to the Baby Beavers by 54-49 and 41-38 counts, so the most the Ducklings can salvage is a split in the series.

Coach Don Kirsch's Frosh have had two encounters since last Thursday night's loss to Rooks. They had little difficulty in overwhelming Newport Friday night, 72-34, but met stiffer opposition the next evening against Hillsboro, winning 47-35.

Yearlings Bounce Back

Although the Ducklings were guilty of loose ball-handling in the first half of the Hillsboro clash, they came back in the second half like vets to outplay their smaller opponents.

Forward Bill Clausen led all scorers with 15 points, several coming on tip-ins.

The Frosh may be without the services of Center Jim Vranizan, who is in Portland because of illness in his family.

Rooks Boast Height Edge

The absence of Vranizan would put a heavy load on the big men, Clausen and Bob Gilbert, because of the superior height which their Rook rivals can muster.

Kirsch is expected to start a combination which would put Clausen and Bill Carr at forwards, Gilbert at center, and Ken Hunt and Bill Korpela at the guard posts.

Eugene Redwings Come from Behind to Defeat Portland by 4-2 Margin in Hockey Engagement

Scrambling back after trailing 2-0 at one stage of the game, the Eugene Redwings retained their vice-like grip on first place in the Oregon Hockey League by stitching together a 4-2 victory over Portland here Sunday night.

Portland Coach Vic Ripley, who showed 'em how when his club notched a 7-3 triumph over Eugene a while back in the first meeting of the two, was pretty well bottled up this time, and this helped to account for the reversal of the previous decision.

Portland Breaks Ice

Portland demonstrated to the satisfaction of all that it hadn't made the trip just to see the scenery when Joe Howe and Gordon Bessaw slammed home the first two goals of the night.

This all came about in the second period, and the Redwings hopes looked pale indeed.

However, Eugene's John Olsen had other ideas about the matter and within the space of seventeen seconds in the same period he had knotted things up, 2-2.

Penalties Hurt Visitors

The first goal came when Portland was short one man on the ice, and the Redwings' third one, by Tom Gillespie, also came when Eugene had a one-man advantage due to penalties incurred by the visitors.

The final counter, putting the verdict in cold storage, was manufactured by Will Wall on a pass from Tom Ferris.

The game, a bonecrusher all the way, was marked by the customary exhibition of pugilism.

Ripley vs Olsen

In the second period Ripley and Olsen offered to send one another along to join their respective ancestors, and the result was a brief mix-up. Both boys were sentenced to five minutes in the hoosegow.

Ripley's ineffectiveness was due to the concentrated body checking thrown at him by the Redwings. Despite being ganged up on, he played a fine defensive game and generally looked like the best player on the ice.

This encounter left Eugene at the top of the league standings with four triumphs as compared with one setback. Portland is tied with Salem in the runner-up slot with a 2-2 record, while Corvallis (1-4) brings up the rear.

are delicious and healthful

UNIVERSITY GROCERY

790 E. 11th

Ph. 1597

Ice Skating

TONIGHT—8 P.M.

Special Price to University of Oregon Students (40c)

SESSIONS:

Nightly—8 P.M.

—also—

Sat. & Sun Matinees—

2:30 P. M.

Oregon Hockey League

ICE HOCKEY

8 p. m.

Every Sunday

Eugene Ice Arena

1850 W. 6th

Phone 4957

you'll agree

But the Coffee's always good and hot at

Del's Inn

Across from Sigma Nu