

Webfoot Prepare For Dons Series

Oregon's Webfoots will go through only light warmup drills this afternoon, resting up before their weekend series with the University of San Francisco. Yesterday John Warren sent his cagers through a regular session, complete with scrimmage.

The Webfoots will have to be sharp to beat the highly-rated Dons. The San Francisco squad emphasizes ball control and defense, and have the ball in their possession through most of their games.

Cage Playoff Foes Selected Today

All houses which have teams entering the intramural basketball championship playoff must have a representative at a meeting set for 9 this morning in Room 143, PE building.

"Opponents in the playoff will be determined," Jim Vitti, intramural sports manager said, "therefore it is imperative that each team be represented."

Houses already holding berths in the championship round are McChesney hall, Delta Tau Delta, Lambda, Chi Alpha, Sigma Chi, Phi Delta Theta, Fizzeds, Sigma Alpha Mu, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Sigma, and Beta Theta Pi.

Baseball Aspirants To Meet Tonight

All baseball aspirants, both varsity and frosh, are to attend a meeting tonight at 6:30 in the physical education building. Manager aspirants are also invited.

They are asked to come prepared with pens and information to fill out eligibility forms.

WAA Swimmers Battle in Gerlinger

Ten teams will compete tonight at 7 in the WAA swimming intramurals in Gerlinger pool.

Biggest single event will be the 40 yard individual freestyle. Speed will be emphasized in the 60 yard medley relay, and the 40 and 30 yard free styles.

Diving and form swimming will also be exhibited.

One event is in charge of Dixie Sheldon, graduate student in education, and Jeanette Masilionis, instructor in health education. Amphibians and P. E. majors will assist.

Doors will open at 6:45.

ATO's Post One Over Kappa Sigs

Alpha Tau Omega posted a 3-to-0 victory over Kappa Sigma in intramural handball competition yesterday.

Dick Stoinoff defeated Jack Donald 21-9 and 21-6 in the first singles while Lyle Rogers drubbed Dick Daugherty 21-6 and 21-1 in the second matches.

In the doubles, Ed Chrobat and Bob Harrion walloped Has Haight and Abe Johnson 21-1 and 21-2 to complete the shutout.

The Ducks, despite 6-foot 8-inch Roger Wiley, will be up against a taller front line. Both center Joe McNamee and forward Don Lofgran are 6-feet 6-inches and the third man up front, forward John Benington, is 6-feet 3, the same height as Will Urban, second tallest Webfoot regular.

Besides height, USF boasts plenty of speed at the guard posts, where Rene Herrerias and Frank Kuzara will open. Kuzara will be moving into a regular guard spot this year, taking over for Ross Guidice on his fine showing in the last few games.

Guidice is expected to see plenty of action tomorrow night, however. He is a valuable man, and was the top scorer on the club last season.

The Dons will have most of their height in their starting five, with only 6-foot 9-inch Walter Olson in the towering class among the reserves. Olson has only appeared in four of San Francisco's games so far this year, however, and will probably see little action over the weekend.

Warren plans to use his regular lineup with Jim Bartelt joining Wiley and Urban in the front line and Paul Sowers and Johnny Neeley at the guard posts. Neeley is back in top shape and has looked very good in practice this week. His return to regular duty will strengthen the lineup.

Webfoot Scoring Third on Coast

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 — (AP)—Rhode Island state's "Firehouse" basketballers lead the nation's major college teams in scoring with an average of 70.5 points in 13 games, closely followed by Yale with 69.5, the national collegiate athletic bureau reported today.

Following in order are Loyola (Md.) 68.3; Bowling Green 68.2; Illinois, 68.1; Colgate 68; Western Kentucky, 67.9; New York U., 67.8; Cincinnati, 67.3; and Bradley, 66.2. The figures include games of last Saturday night.

Oregon has the third best scoring average on the Pacific Coast with a mark of 55.1 per game.

Wisconsin has scored the most free throws in one game, 31 out of 46 against Marquette.

Plans Completed For WAA Carnival

Plan are now complete for the WAA carnival Friday night, according to Co-chairmen Bonnie Geinger and Marguerite Johns. Actual construction of booths will begin Friday noon.

The affair is being held in the men's unfinished gym under the men's physical education building, where ample space is available for booths. The theme, which will be carried out in decorations and entertainment, is "Slowboat to Slobbovia."

Sixteen cents buys a ticket in living organizations, at the Co-op today and tomorrow, or at the door tomorrow night, announced Barbara Ness, ticket chairman.

Two Upsets Mark Intramural Action

Two upsets highlighted intramural hoop action yesterday as Phi Kappa Sigma dumped the league leading Betas from the undefeated list 13-11, and Nestor hall turned the tables on the Legal Eagles 20-12. Phi Kappa Sigma A beat Omega hall 16-8.

Starting from the opening horn, Phi Kappa Sigma "B" squad kept its playoff hopes alive by bursting into an early lead that was never headed as they handed the Betas their first setback of the season.

Beta Drive

Led by Will Larson, the Phi Kapps moved away to a 7-to-2 edge in the first quarter. Then a gradual Beta drive during the next two frames brought the count up to 12-11 at the start of the final canto.

Dale Bruegger, Beta forward, missed a free throw in the dying moments of play which would have knotted the score before Larson added the final point of the game.

If the Phi Kapps win their Friday afternoon game with Sigma Phi Epsilon, they will be tied with the Betas for the playoff berth.

Upset Dope Bucket

Nestor hall also upset the dope bucket as it posted a decisive eight point win over the previously once-beaten Legal Eagles.

Guided by Pat Hanna who pushed in nine points, the vets dorm five faltered only once and allowed the Lawyers to climb to within two points of the command as the third quarter ended 11-9. Then the Nestor team loosed a fast break which baffled the Eagles and forced the latter into a man-to-man defense. The loss killed all Lawyer hopes for a playoff berth built up by the Beta defeat by the Phi Kapps.

Phi Kappa Sigma "A" lacked the scoring punch it exhibited in its last game when it applied a 75-to-0 whitewashing to Hunter hall, but had little difficulty handing Omega hall a 16-to-8 trimming.

However the Straubmen kept the score and the game hanging in the balance for three quarters before Bill Lyons started feeding Bill Juza on fast breaks to put the game out of danger.

Today's Schedule

3:50
Sederstrom vs SAE
Cherney vs ATO
4:35
Sigma Hall vs Kappa Sigs
Merrick vs Fijis
5:15

Oregon Skier Speaks Tonight

Jack Meissner, famed Oregon cross-country skier, will speak to the University of Oregon ski club tonight at 7:30 in a meeting in the band room of the ROTC building.

Meissner, who made the wintertime trip on skis from Mt. Hood to Crater Lake last year, will tell events which happened on the journey, as well as advise the club members how to prepare for cross-country overnight trips. The ski club has plans for a weekend trek early next term in the Willamette pass area.

The talk by Meissner will be of special interest to several of the club members who are entering the Pacific Northwest Ski association cross-country championships this Sunday, at Willamette pass.

Two women from the club, Mary Harvery and Olyvia Watt, will enter the women's class C run, which will cover a three mile layout, and other entries are probable. Awards will be made to the first 12 places in each division. Cups will go to the first three finishers in each section, and medals to the other nine.

The ski club meetings are open to all students and faculty members interested in skiing.

Track Managers

Applicants for senior and junior track managers should see Coach Bill Bowerman in his office at McArthur court this afternoon.
