

Veterans Establish New Dancing Room

The management of the Veterans Memorial, located between 16th and 17th on Willamette, announced that the recreation room has been converted into a dancing room equipped with a juke box.

Refreshments are easily accessible and lounge chairs and sofas help make it a good place to spend an evening. It will be open every week night until midnight and 12:30 on Saturday. Campus clothes are okay during the week.

Students and their guests are cordially invited to take advantage of this new room and dancing privileges.

Secret Spy Trial

seize upon such a trial policy for propaganda purposes.

About all that really is known about the case is that it stems from the arrest November 19 of some 20 persons accused of having sold important military and other information to the Czechoslovak government.

Brig. Gen. John L. McKee, chairman of the military commission, contends identification of the witnesses, disclosure of the testimony or even announcement of the verdict might imperil United States security.

Military Governs Trial

The trial is being held under U. S. military government laws which are issued by Clay as military governor. These laws do not mention secret trials.

The order creating the commission, however, was issued by the army's European headquarters in Heidelberg. The order specifically declared the commission should not be bound by court martial rules, and directed the commission to take necessary steps to "protect and preserve the security of information, the public disclosure of which, because of its nature, may be considered detrimental to the best interests of the United States."

McKee said the army intelligence asked for the secrecy, but that possibly a review board at some later date might make public some of the withheld information.

Would Take Ugly

velop—but not necessarily.
The preparations being made by both sides strike me as being in large degree precautionary. The west is fearful of an assault by the Communist bloc, but I'll bet a bit that Moscow also is scared. Likely the Russians are more scared, because America not only is by far the most powerful nation on earth but she has the atomic bomb of which the whole world stands in fear.

Actually there is no nation which is prepared to wage war today. Therefore it would take a very ugly development indeed to set the chariots of war rolling.

It's my belief that on the whole, we have very good reason to be hopeful. Providing, of course, that we keep our socks pulled up.

McCown to Give East Culture Talk

Dr. C. C. McCown will speak on "The Conflict of Cultures in Trans-jordan" in this week's lecture. The lecture, one of a series by Dr. Cown, will be given tonight, at 4 p.m. in 101 physical education building.

In relation to the series on which he is speaking, Dr. McCown has published several books among which are "Ladder of Progress in Palestine (1943); "Tell en-Nasbeh I, Archaeological and Historical Results" (1947). He has also written several other books.

Before coming to the University of Oregon as a visiting professor of religion, Dr. McCown was a professor of New Testament literature and interpretation in the Pacific School of Religion. He has been director of the American School of Oriental Research (1930-31) and joint director of the Yale University-American school research expedition at Jerash, Palestine and director of the Palestine Institute of Archaeology at Berkeley since 1936. At the end of graduate study in this country and in Germany Professor McCown received his doctorate from the University of Chicago in 1914.

Dorm Council, ISA Plan Mixer Dance

Interdorm council members agreed to co-sponsor an all-campus dance at their meeting Tuesday night. They are planning it with ISA for March 5 in Gerlinger annex.

President Ed Ladendorff named the following committee to work with ISA members: Walter Buchanan, Paula Nigg, Elizabeth Sanford, Suzie Michel, and Bill Hall. Both committees will meet at 7:15 Thursday night in 105 Commerce building, Ladendorff said.

Rhoda Williams was appointed chairman of the Interdorm activities committee at the meeting. She asked that dormitory presidents make up a list of all activities the house participated in during fall term.

The lists should be submitted to Miss Williams or Ed Ladendorff right away, she said.
