

Men, Women Use Different Gates

In order to reduce waiting lines at the Oregon-Oregon State basketball game this weekend the athletic ticket office has requested men students to enter McArthur court through the doors at the northwest corner of the building, and women students to enter through doors at the southwest corner of the structure.

Gates for the game will open at 6, and students should be in the building by 7:30.

General admission tickets will go on sale at 6:15.

Dorm Concrete

(Continued from page one) stick to this schedule. They have encountered no labor or material shortages, but concrete cannot be poured during freezing temperatures and concrete floors cannot be laid during heavy rain. "This winter has been exceptionally bad for construction work," said Mr. Wright, "since we have had almost two months of freezing weather."

The 5th floor and roof will be poured in two or three weeks, which will complete the concrete work. The detailed job of building desks, wardrobes, window frames, and other interior woodwork is finished. They are now getting ready to tile kitchen partitions and install some equipment, and soon will start to lay the traditional red brick exterior walls.

So apparently only a go-ahead from the weather man is needed now to allow 333 University of Oregon coeds to move into their new, ultramodern home next fall term.

Bad Weather

the entire Northwest, slowed construction on the student union. The surrounding ground was turned into a quagmire, the workmen were forced to work in the icy cold, and the slowdown was on. Work did continue, however, and the timetable did not suffer greatly.

In this period of shortages, it is interesting to note that materials have not, and are not expected to be a problem. They have been coming through on time.

Excavation Complete

The excavation work is now complete, and future work will be in the actual construction of the building. Due to the large size of the building, construction plans have been divided into "A" and "B" areas. The "B" area, which will house library facilities, table tennis rooms, barber shops, letter lounge, gallery, and offices, will be the first completed.

This "B" area, which faces the University Infirmary on 13th street is the most obvious portion of the building thus far. The first and second floors have been poured and the roof is expected to be finished by the middle of March.

Part of 'A' Area Done

"A" area, which runs parallel to University and Onyx streets between 13th and 14th, will be the second part of the building completed. It will house eight bowling alleys, billiard tables, a soda bar and fountain, and a large ballroom and outside terrace. Structural steel is being used in the "A" section. Part of this steel work has been completed and the north half of the first floor has been poured.

The student union building will extend to ten feet beyond 14th street, but plans for landscaping go to 130 feet south of the street. This area includes the property now occupied by University house and a duplex facing 14th street. The 38 girls living in Uni. house will move to a University-owned building at 17th and Agate streets on March 3rd and 4th, and during spring vacation, the present house will be torn down. The duplex will be moved later.

No Changes

No other changes will be made on the block between 14th and 15th streets at the present time, but it is expected this area could be used for expansion if, at any time in the future, such a move seems desirable.

By the end of this school year the entire building is expected to be taking shape quite visibly. Outside construction will be nearing completion, and brickwork will be underway. "B" area will be nearly completed, both inside and out, and thus the work on "A" area will be intensified.

By the start of school next fall, the building will be two-thirds complete and work on the interior of "A" section will be underway. The building will be completed and landscaping will be added by April of 1950.

Aquatic sports are the kind which feature water straight.

Latourette To Speak At Condon

Widely Acclaimed Chinese Authority

Kenneth Scott Latourette, professor of missions and Oriental history and chairman of the department of religion at Yale university, will appear in 207 Chapman at 8 p. m. March 1 and 3 as the annual speaker for the Condon lectures. The public is invited.

Latourette, called one of the country's most outstanding scholars on Chinese civilization by L. S. Cressman, chairman of the lecture series at Oregon, will discuss the general topic of "Problems of Chinese Civilization." Monday night he will speak on "The China That Has Been." Wednesday's lecture will deal with "The China That Is and Is to Be." Latourette will tell of problems that China faces at the present as a result of contact with western civilization and the adjustments which that country must make to operate under these new influences.

Born In Oregon

A native of Oregon City, Latourette received his B.S. degree at Linfield college, McMinnville, Oregon. Other degrees he holds are D.D., B. A., M. A., Ph.D., LL.D. Latourette served as a member of the faculty college of Yale in China from 1910-17. He was Lowell lecturer, Boston, in 1939, and in 1940-41 was the William Belden Noble lecturer, at Harvard. The Chinese government decorated him with the Order of Jade in 1938. He was a member of the committee on promotion of Chinese studies, American council of Learned Societies, 1928-37 and has been a trustee of Yale in China since 1921. He has also been active in international organizational aspects of YMCA.

Latourette is the author of many books and has contributed articles to several encyclopedias. One of his books is "The Chinese, Their History and Culture."

Interprets Results for Laymen

"In view of the present situation in China, the lectures should have a special interest," Cressman stated yesterday. "The purpose of the Condon lectures," Cressman continued, "is to interpret results of scientific research to the layman. We try to get people who are experts on problems in some phase of the Pacific area."

Latourette will also speak at Oregon State college and in Portland while in Oregon. His lecture will be published.

Condon lectures are sponsored by Oregon State System of Higher Education.

On-Campus Living Regulations To Be Enforced Spring Term

University rules that lower-division men and undergraduate women not living with relatives in Eugene must live in organized University living groups will be enforced beginning spring term. This announcement came from the office of student affairs yesterday.

Golda Parker Wickham, director of women's affairs, requested that all undergraduate women who are at present living off campus to contact her office as soon as possible.

Exceptions to these housing rules, which are stated in the University catalog, have been made for one term at a time during the immediate postwar years.

The actual wording of the statement in the catalog is as follows:

"All lower-division men and all undergraduate women not living with relatives in Eugene must live in the halls of residence or in houses maintained by the organized University living groups, e.g., fraternities, sororities, independent groups."

This Issue Ends The Experiment

This is the last of four experimental issues of the Emerald published by newsroom policies classes of the School of Journalism. The first issue, Feb. 10, was a standard paper, with national and campus news evenly presented. The second issue was devoted mainly to national news of the Associated Press. The front page in the third issue was turned sideways, making a standard-size 8-column paper possible. Today's style necessitated putting important campus news on inside pages, with only headlines on page one, each headline being "keyed" to the inside story.

Song Leaders to Meet

Song leaders from each campus living organization will meet Thursday at 4 p.m. at the Kappa Alpha Theta house to select songs for the junior weekend all-campus sing.

In case of a duplication in selections, a drawing will be held. All campus sing co-chairmen Lou Weston and Sally Waller have requested that each organization have a second choice in mind. Rules of the contest will be announced.
