

Delts, Mc Chesney Move to Finals

Kehrli, Bowman Set Pace In Key Wins

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

4:00 p.m.—Sigma Chi vs. Beta Theta Pi (B team)

4:45 p.m.—Theta Chi vs SAE (B Team)

Delta Tau Delta and McChesney hall rolled into the final round of the intramural playoffs yesterday, as the Delts beat out Phi Delta Theta by a 22-20 count, and McChesney turned back the yellow tide from Lambda Chi Alpha, 42-31.

McChesney hall's race-horse fast break and sure-fire shooting proved too much for the Lambda Chis in the day's initial contest. The Hallmen got off to a fast start from the tip-off and ran up 16-9 first period score. McChesneys tough defense proved hard to get through for the Lambda Chis in the first quarter, and forced them to stay in the game by potting long ones from out front.

Bob McKean and Dick Mase ran past the defenders continually to lay the ball in the hoop in easy style. In the second quarter, however, the Lambda Chis rallied and held the fast break to a slow walk, forcing Mase and company to work the ball in or go pointless. Score at half was a slim 22-19, with the Hallmen still in command.

McChesney Stops Rally

McChesney put down the rise, however, and went on to build up a 36-27 lead by the end of the third period with their same fast break which has spelled defeat for teams all season.

The Hallmen stayed tough on the backboards for the remainder of the game and came out with a 42-31 winning count. Don Bowman of McChesney had 13 points to take high honors.

Delta Tau Delta led the Phi Delts through most of the game, heading them at the end of the first quarter, 5-4, at the half, 11-9, and at the end of the third period, 17-14. With two minutes to go in the fourth period, however, Phi Delta Theta was clutching a three point lead, which fell under shots by Hawes and Dave Robathan.

Watkins Fires Mates

The crowd went into wildness in the last minute and 20 seconds of the contest, after a Delt free-throw tied it up at 20-20. Hawes then snaked his way into the left side of the key, swished the cords with his "miracle-shot." The entry of George Watkins into the game in the last few minutes was responsible for the sudden Phi Delt uprising. Watkins potted two beauties before the Delts noticed he was in the game, and generally made for the thriller finish.

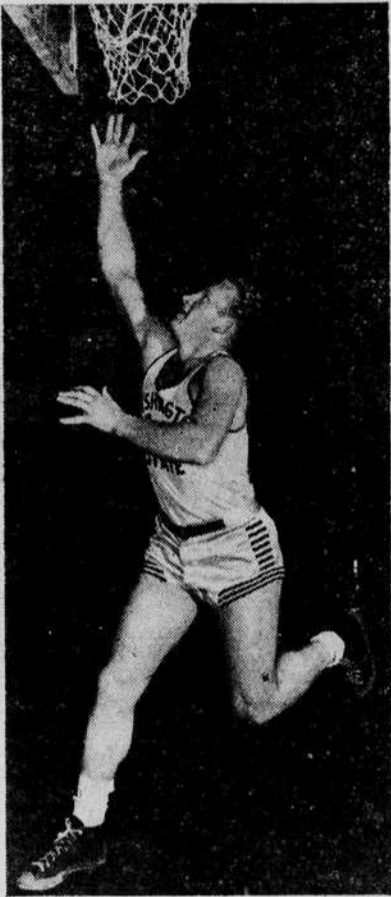

Kehrli was high with eight, followed by Hawes with seven markers, and Taggesell and Rod Fullerton with six each.

Kids Crash Court; Admission Free

EUGENE, Feb. 23—(AP)—Three Eugene youngsters should have looked up admission regulations.

The trio was discovered creeping into the basement doors of McArthur court to see a frosh basketball game. But it wouldn't have cost them anything to come in the main door. The game was free.

Gayda Still Trying

Rog Still Leads

Down Washington State way there sayin' "Watch out for Gayda, Mr. Wiley." Gayda, at the present time is trailing Wiley by 18 points in the race for top scoring honors in the Northern division.

Each man has four games to play, and on the records, Gayda has the best chance to overtake Wiley, as Washington State meets University of Washington, and Idaho university, both fighting to keep out of the cellar.

On the other hand, Oregon meets tough opposition in the Oregon State Beavers currently in first place. However, Oregon fans are confident of Wiley's ability, having seen him score on more than one occasion.

"Why watch Gayda?" they ask, "Why not watch Wiley—he's on top."

If the student hasn't learned, the instructor hasn't taught.

HS Conference Will Discuss UN Ability

"Can the United Nations Do the Job?" is the theme of the second annual Oregon High School International Relations League conference which begins on the campus, Thursday.

The conference is built around a series of nine round table discussion groups which will examine subtopics under the general subject. Dr. Charles P. Schleicher, professor of political science, is in charge of the meet.

Delegates may register in the lobby of Johnson hall tonight from 7:30 p. m. to 12 midnight, and Friday from 8:30 to 9:30 a. m. Three preliminary meetings will be held tonight at 7:30. Round table advisers, chairmen, discussion leaders, secretaries, and state league officers will meet in 107 Oregon. Nomination committees will gather at the faculty club, and the constitution revision committee will confer in room 1, Johnson hall.

Friday's schedule includes the plenary session in the auditorium of Johnson hall, a luncheon at John Straub, roundtable discussions, and a banquet at the Osburn hotel.

James Topic for Lecture Tonight

"The Revival of Henry James" is the topic of tonight's Lecture-Forum to be given in the library browsing room at 7:30.

Dr. Hoyt Trowbridge, professor of english, will be the speaker, and the discussion will be led by Mrs. J. G. Beck, according to Miss Bernice Rise, head of circulation and readers' consultant.

"The talk will deal with the recent re-awakening of interest in Henry James," said Dr. Trowbridge.

James wrote a prolific number of books during his lifetime, but is more famous for the style of his writing than for the quantity produced. His novels are characterized by his insight into character, his love for the artistic, and his subtlety of suggestion. The American author has been credited with revolutionizing the form of the novel, and has been a great influence on young writers.

German-Born Pianist Slated For Concert in Alumni Room

Members of the three professional music organizations on the campus will sponsor a reception in the Gerlinger Alumni room tonight following the piano concert given by Bernhard Abramowitsch, honored guest for the affair.

Chamber Concert series season ticket holders and students have been invited to attend.

Abramowitsch, German-born concert pianist, will present a five-part program at the music school auditorium tonight at 8:15. The well-known Pacific coast pianist is a former Portland resident who now lives in Berkeley, Calif.

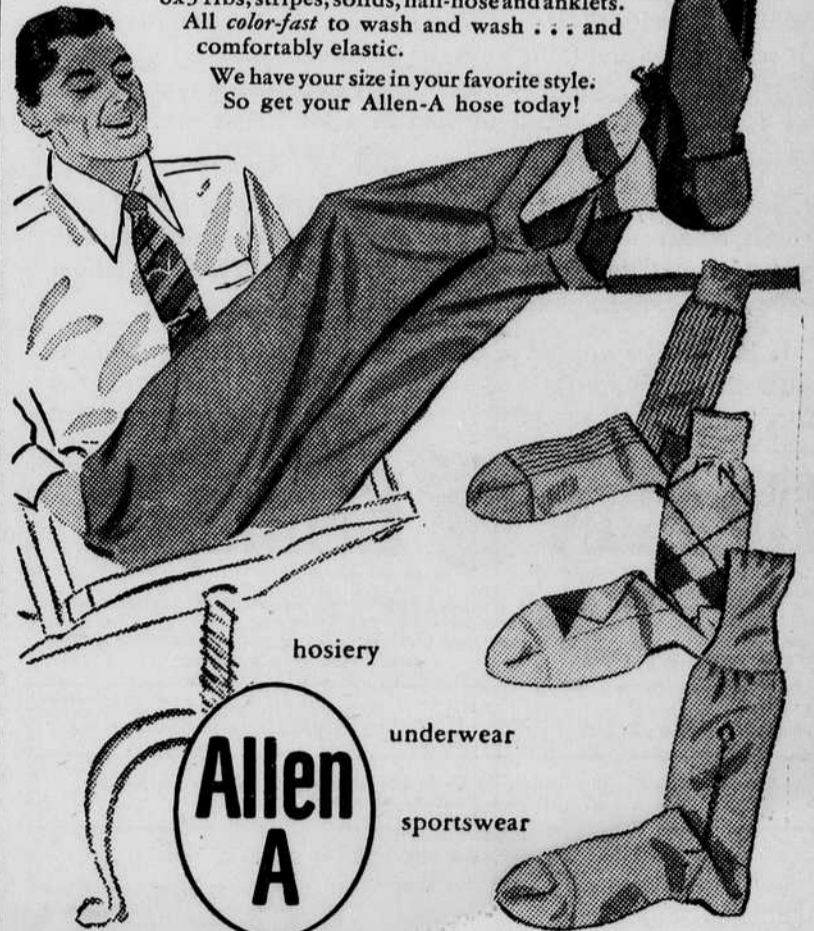

Performances with the Portland and San Francisco symphony orchestras and other West Coast music groups have gained him wide acclaim from music critics and audiences. Tonight's concert will mark his first appearance in Eugene.
