

Emerald Satisfied

Emerald is adequate. He said that "they show the average student to be much more satisfied with the paper than its vociferous critics are inclined to believe."

When asked which type of examination they preferred, 55 per cent voted for the essay type, with 45 per cent favoring objective tests. Of those who liked the objective type, 21 per cent favored completion questions; 60 per cent, multiple choice; 4 per cent, true and false; and 15 per cent said it made no difference. Fifty-six per cent believe that the essay best tests a student's knowledge of the subject matter, 29 per cent voted for the objective test, and 15 per cent thought there was no difference.

On the question, "Do you think that a student in the University should or should not get married before graduation?" 59 per cent thought that it depended upon the individuals. Nine per cent thought students should marry and 32 per cent thought they should not.

Fifty-four per cent indicated satisfaction with the present closing hours in women's living organizations, while 38 per cent voted for a change to later hours. Eight per cent had no opinion.

Eighty-two per cent felt that fraternities and sororities serve a useful purpose on college campuses. Ten per cent thought they do not serve a useful purpose and 8 per cent had no opinion.

Forty-six per cent approved of the Du Shane plan, under which all freshmen will be required to spend a year in a dormitory before moving into a fraternity or sorority, while 48 per cent disapproved of the plan. Six per cent had no opinion.

When those who disapproved were asked if they would favor the Du Shane plan if pledging were also deferred for a year, 33 per cent said they would approve and 67 per cent still said they would disapprove. Price said his figures from these two questions show that a possible 62 per cent of the students would approve of the plan under certain conditions.

Price said that his class in public opinion measurement was too small and time was too limited to obtain absolute reliability on the answers. The poll was primarily designed to indicate methods of polling to the students. The twelve members of the class have polled approximately 150 students during the last few days. A random sample was picked from the Pigger's Guide on the basis of year in the University, major, and sex.

The percentages on state and national question which were also asked will be available later in the week, Price said.

All Male Cast In Military Play

"Taut, dramatic, completely believable"—that is what critics termed the New York production of "Command Decision," the University theater presentation of which opens tomorrow night.

"The play has a military clip about it," another critic said. "It is powerful and is filled with masculine emotion; none of our war plays have come to the point so sharply."

Heading the all-male cast are Dave Oestreich, Bob Croisant, Cliff James, and Gene Deutschmann. The play is under the direction of Mrs. Ottilie T. Seybolt.

"Command Decision" is the story of a bomber outfit, and the scene is laid in England. Guild hall theater's opening curtain will reveal the interior of a general's office.

"We are stressing practicality and realism in this setting," said W. E. Schlosser, technical director of the University theater.

Tickets for the play, which will be presented on March 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, and 10, are on sale now in the box office in Johnson hall. Reservations may also be made by calling extension 401.

HE HAS BUILT A BRAND NEW CITY

The "telephone man" is mighty busy these days!

Since the war, among many other things, he has built or enlarged 2,800 buildings... scores of them large enough to fit into the skyline of a modern metropolis.

These buildings are more than brick, mortar and telephone equipment. They are jobs for thousands of men and women... more and better telephone service for millions of people... more business for the towns and cities in which they are located.

But most important of all, they are an indication of the Bell System's earnest efforts to keep up with the nation's ever growing needs for communications service.

You can help lock the door against cancer

Here is the story about a door that can be built to repel cancer, the deadly killer. The door locks only if two keys are turned. Science holds one key — your money can provide the other.

Your dollars support: cancer research which some day may find the causes and cure of the disease; an education program that teaches men and women how to recognize cancer in its early stages, when immediate treatment can save their lives.

Won't you help us lock the door? Give as generously as you can. Give more than before to guard those you love.
