A GROUP OF SOFT COAL miners end a two-week memorial-protest work stoppage by going back to work in a U.S. Steel corporation mine near Bridgeville, Penn. More than 463,000 diggers were scheduled to return to the pits. (AP Telephoto)

12 Easements Only Obstacle To Millrace

Approximately 12 easements lie between the Millrace Park association and the successful completion of its battle for the restoration of the millrace, according to Kieth Fennel, association secretary.

"We will attempt to secure the remaining easements during the next two weeks," Fennel stated. He added that there is no assurance that remaining millrace property owners will give their easements to the association, but that it is the intention of the association to gain the easements if at all possible.

The drive for easements has heretofore been the chief stumbling block in the restoration of the race. However, there is still a sizeable amount of money which the association will have to raise to complete the fund to match a millrace appropriation voted in city elections.

"Once the funds are raised, work on restoration can begin immediately," Fennel noted. The association has been working for the millrace association for some months, during which time it has encountered numerous obstacles, most recent of which was the controversy with the Koke-Chapman printing company, which filled a section of the race for building purposes.

The Weather

Party cloudy, with a few possible showers. High will be about 55. This may be progressive weather improvement. Rain yesterday—sunshine tomorrow? Only the weatherman knows.

Emerald Has New Telemat Service

Beginning with this issue, readers will find a new feature in the Daily Emerald.

Associated Press wirephoto service has been added to provide an up-to-date picture coverage of both local and national news.

The pictures are delivered via air-mail to the Emerald office daily.

Job Interviews Set For This Afternoon

Students interested in summer resort jobs will be interviewed by a representative from Crater Lake national park from 1 to 5 p. m. today, according to Shirley Sylvester, head of the student employment office. Interviews will be held at the employment office in the campus YMCA.

California Co-eds Feel Slighted

King of Hearts in Hot Water at Yuba

Whether Oregon girls are superior to California coeds has given one University of Oregon man an unique amount of concern lately.

He is Jerry Smith who was voted King of Hearts last February. Jerry's concern centers mainly around an Emerald story which quoted him as saying "Girls at Oregon are much superior to California coeds. They are more down-to-earth and natural in appearance and personality."

The clipping with the quote somehow reached the coeds at Yuba college in California where Jerry once attended school. The Yuba coeds, to put it mildly, were

UO Student Elections Moved Ahead One Month This Year

Emerald to Have New Staff Plan

Stan Turnbull, familiar figure in the Emerald "shack," has been promoted to assistant managing editor, taking over his new job with this issue. Emerald Editor Bill Yates announced the change yesterday.

Beginning with this issue, a revamped staff under a new organizational plan has taken up its duties on the Oregon Daily Emerald. The changes were announced yesterday by Editor Bill Yates.

Under the new arrangement, the news and editorial staff positions will correspond more closely to similar positions on metropolitan daily papers.

The changes will also conform in title more nearly to the actual duties of the staff members.

The "news editor" will now be known as the "city editor," according to Yates. Bob Tweedell has been appointed to that position.

The news editor, responsible for making up the paper and "putting it to bed" nightly, is handled on a day-to-day basis by Chuck Grell, Hal Coleman, Steve Loy, Vic Fryer, and Diane Meham.

Oregon Band Sets Concert

Featuring 60 players and two soloists, the University of Oregon band will present its annual concert tonight at 8 in the school of music auditorium.

Margaret Holm, clarinetist, will take the soloist's part in Weber's Concertino for clarinet; while soprano Barbara Detrick will give the vocals for two selections from Wagner's Tannhauser.

Other portions of the program, under the direction of John H. Stehn of the school of music, will include selections by Bach, Weber, Wagner, Strauss, Prokofieff, and Liszt.

Balloting Planned for April 27; Nominations Five Days Earlier

By Betty Lagomarsino

Studentbody elections will be moved up one month and held on April 7 this year, Bob Allen, ASUO president, announced yesterday. Elections have traditionally been held at the end of May.

Allen listed three reasons for the executive council's decision to change:

1. Elections will not collide with other late spring term activities, such as the Mortar Board Ball.

2. The Pacific Studentbody Presidents Association meets the week of May 9th, and both the president and president elect should attend.

3. The president elect—who will be installed June 2nd—will be able to work with Allen. This overlapping, Allen said, will result in a greater continuity in student administration and save the new president from "learning the ropes" during his actual term of office.

Nominating Assembly

Since the Constitution requires elections to be held five days after the nominating assembly, the assembly automatically falls on Friday, April 22.

Allen said that because Friday is a poor night for the nominations, the executive council plans to discuss a new plan with the heads of the campus political parties.

New Plan to be Discussed

If approved by the political heads and by the council, a small meeting without speeches will be held April 22 to present the nominations in conformity with the constitution. Then on Monday or Tuesday night preceding the elections a student rally will be held in McArthur court for nominating and seconding speeches.

April 27 was selected for elections, Allen pointed out, because Wednesdays have proved the best day for students to vote.

A new first vice president, to replace Marv Rasmussen who was seriously injured in an automobile accident last week, will be appointed within the next two weeks, Allen said. The new officer will be in charge of elections.

Rass Hurt In Vacation Car Wreck

Marv Rasmussen, first vice-president of the ASUO, is improving in the Hillsboro hospital after an auto crash that took the lives of Bob Hendrickson, senior in business administration, and two others near Hillsboro Saturday.

Also killed were Gloria Fick, Oregon graduate of 1947, and Gilbert Hiles, Tongue Point naval air station sailor.

Lola Mae Heagney, also a 1947 graduate, and three other sailors were injured.

Rasmussen is suffering from fractures of facial bones, basal skull fracture, and a fractured pelvis. He is expected to undergo surgery at the end of the week.

The crash occurred when the car Hendrickson was driving collided with a car bearing the four sailors as Hendrickson attempted to pass another car.

Bob Hendrickson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Hendrickson, of Eugene. He is survived by his parents, a brother, Dan, who is attending Stanford university, and two sisters, Judy and Mrs. Mary Litchman, both of Eugene. Funeral services were held yesterday morning at St. Mary's Catholic church and interment was made at Mt. Calvary cemetery.

A history major while at the University, Miss Fick was a member of Gamma Phi Beta and Mu Phi Epsilon, music honorary. Miss
