

Registration 66 Over Last Year

By the end of regular registration Monday, 4424 students had registered for spring term classes. This represents a slight increase over last year's enrollment at the same period, 4358.

Few of these enrollees are new to the University, Clifford Constance, registrar, said yesterday.

"We've just about gotten back to the normal prewar situation when almost all students begin their college work in the fall," he stated.

During the post-war rush students enrolled in college for the first time during all three terms, Constance explained.

April 9 is the deadline for completing registration; however, it gets expensive by then, with a $1 daily fine for late registration beginning yesterday.

Former Dean Dies Here March 8

The career of a great promoter of the University ended March 8 with the death of Virgil D. Earl, '06, who for 16 years was dean of men at Oregon. Dean Earl died at Sacred Heart hospital, Eugene, following a prolonged illness.

The former Oregon dean was born April 26, 1880, near Albany, Oregon. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University in 1906. During 1909 and 1910 he was a student in the law school and received his master of arts degree from Oregon in 1932.

Dean Earl's work as an educator began in 1906 as an instructor in the Lewiston, Idaho, high school. He returned to Oregon the next year as superintendent of schools at Jefferson. After leaving Jefferson in 1908, he served as instructor of mathematics at Washington high school in Portland, and was later appointed head of the department as principal of Astoria high school.

Twenty-six years of service to the University began in 1923 when Dean Earl joined the faculty of physical education. In 1931 he was appointed dean of men and continued in that position until his retirement in 1947.

In his undergraduate days at Oregon Survivors are his wife, the former Florence B. Messer, whom he married in 1917; a daughter, Mrs. William Maltman; a granddaughter, Dean Earl was a member of the football and baseball teams, and also managed a baseball team at the University. As student manager of the University track team, Dean Earl hired the late Bill Hayward, famous for his track teams.

It is for his work as dean of men that Dean Earl will be longest remembered. He advised and influenced thousands of men who passed through his office.

Dean Earl was affiliated with Phi Delta Kappa Honorary, Kappa Sigma, social fraternity, and the Oregon State Teachers Association. A prominent member of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, he also held membership in the Presbyterian church.

Anne Elizabeth Maltman; a sister, Mrs. Ella Isham, Los Angeles; four brothers, Elmer, of Eugene; Robert W., Hugh S., and Victor, all of Port.
