You Name It

By Fred Young

Looks like the lucky Emerald subscribers are going to have the pleasure of a new Emerald feature. But, this tactless tattling will need a name, and the cleverest of you will receive two cartons of Phillip Morris cigarettes for your title. The next best idea will receive one carton of the same. Here's your chance to be the fortunate one to name this new column. Truly an opportunity in a lifetime.

Leave your titles at the editor's office in the Emerald shack. We'll especially consider the printable ones. Deadline will be a week from today at noon.

Speaking of weeds brings to mind spring planting, and the lists are growing. The Alpha Chis and the Betas negotiated in pins with Sally Churchman, Jack Morrow, Lucretia Prentiss, and Jack Noggle the speculators.

While contending with his cigar, we should mention Sig Lynn Hamilton's sparkler towards Tri-Delt Sara Bjorset. And making shmoos last Monday were Chi O Mary Joy Ham and Phi Delt Walt Kirsch, who called upon the little Dogpatch fairies to aid them in their announcement.

Things are being expected around the DG house with Cookie Heron and Sigma Nu Jim "Kissy" Bartelt's romance being on the front burner since basketball season.

The Chi O's are circulating dope sheets in the house to determine whether Janet Morrison or Barbara Ness will cop the next pin from the respective friends Fiji Bill Lake and Beta Macolm Marsh. However, at the moment business is slow at the Chi O house with a general evacuation to the Founder's day convention down south.

The Pi Phi's just hooked one big one recently, with Nan Humphrey keeping track of Sig Wally Adams' white cross. Yes, also, Gladys Hale spending extra time in the kitchen baking cakes for the mailman.

DG Elle Johns celebrating the return of steady Chi Psi Chet Lowry, Vanport and Cupid traveling hand-in-hand.

The Thetas report a second-floor yarn of considerable dimensions with Carolyn Parker's initial pair of argyles aimed to knit her friendship with ATO Dick Gehr.

And those of you interested in contemporary chamber music and jazz keep an eye on the Emerald for news of an approaching live concert. Also, let's be getting in the greatest contest and winning weeds.

Army Brass Pays Homage

A TRIED AND TRUE VETERAN of World War II, the famed "Swoose," receives a visit at Hamilton field, California from General Hap Arnold. The "Swoose" is to be enshrined in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D. C. With Arnold, on the left, are Capt. H. Varner, Capt. Roland Boone, and Major Harry Schreiber. To the right are Major Charles Reeves and Col. Frank Kurtz.

Conservative Briton to Discuss British Socialism's 'Other Side'

Cecil Palmer, Conservative British author and publisher, will present "the other side" of British socialism Tuesday in his discussion "What Socialism is Doing to British Freedom and What It May Do To American Freedom."

His talk, sponsored by the Eugene exchange club, will be held at 8 p. m. April 5 in the Eugene armory. It will be open to the public.

Palmer, who signed the "Manifesto of British Liberty" which was issued by the society of individualists, is touring the United States under the auspices of national economic council.

A conservative politically, the author has expressed his opposition to socialism in these words.

"Britain has strayed from the narrow path. She has for 40 odd years flirted with socialism and now finds herself a partner in unholy wedlock. There is, however, such a thing as divorce."

According to Dr. Leland Stauffer, exchange club president, Palmer will deal with socialism "from a basis of facts rather than political appeal."

He will describe how the socialists rose to power and what they have done since they've controlled the government, as well as the effects of socialized medicine and socialized industry, Stauffer added.

The Eugene exchange club is a new service organization and was chartered by the national exchange club March 12.
