Enrollment Figure Reaches 5304

Ninety-nine more Oregon students had registered for spring term classes by Saturday noon, bringing the registration total up to 5304, an increase of 135 over figures at the corresponding time in last year's enrolling period.

Saturday noon, April 9, is the deadline for adding classes or completing registration this term.

Symphony Concert Set For Friday

Dimitri Mitropoulos will conduct the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, in McArthur court Friday at 8:15 p.m.

Open to students who present their registration cards, the concert is last on this season's series, sponsored by the Eugene and University Civic Music association.

One of the most widely traveled symphonies in America, the group has toured the United States, Cuba, Mexico and Canada. Radio appearances and recordings have also been on their agenda.

Each tour of the orchestra usually originates on the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis. Concerts there are performed before more than 4000 people, the largest average concert audiences in the United States.

Minnesota students are considered fortunate in being able to obtain special season ticket rates to encourage their concert attendance. The symphony became an integral part of campus life in 1930, when it completed arrangements for regular programs with the institution's board of regents.

The symphony, one of the foremost in the world, made its first appearance in Minneapolis in 1903. It then had 40 members. Now with 90 participants it has a record of 46 years of musical service.

The group played for students, faculty members and residents of Eugene two years ago, also on the local Civic Music association series.

No Word Yet On How Strike To Hit Annual

No news may be good news, concerning the lithographers strike in Portland which could delay publication and distribution of the Oregoniana.

Dick Williams, educational activities manager, traveled to Portland Friday to discuss the situation with the lithographers, who voted to quit work at 11:59 p.m. that night. They were still trying to work out a settlement, and were to call Williams yesterday to tell him of developments, but he had heard nothing by 5 p.m.

While the lithographers may be on strike, according to Williams, he believes the duration of the strike may be in doubt, since he has not received any word from Portland.

The Oregoniana could still be distributed spring term if the strike lasts three weeks or less. If the duration of the strike is longer, the yearbook would have to be mailed to students sometime during the summer.

Would-be Editors Asked to Petition

Petitions for editor and business manager of the 1949-50 Oregoniana are due in the educational activities board office by 5 p.m. April 8. Interviews of applicants are scheduled for April 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Deadline for petitions for business manager and editor of next year's Emerald has been set for April 15 at 9 p.m. Applicants will be interviewed by the educational activities board April 20 at 7:30 p.m.

Any student, man or woman, who feels himself qualified may apply for the positions.

Englishman To Discuss Germany

Dr. John Hawgood, professor of modern history and government at the University of Birmingham, England, will speak at 8:30 p.m. April 7 in room 207, Chapman hall.

The next University lectures speaker will discuss "Problems of Postwar Germany."

Prof. Hawgood has visited central Europe on seven different occasions since the end of the war. In 1947 he was a member of a delegation of British university professors invited by the foreign office to inspect and report on German universities. Later that year he was appointed to interview "displaced scholars" in Germany.

In connection with the Centenary of the 1848 revolutions, Prof. Hawgood broadcast for BBC and published several articles in periodicals. He is now engaged in a systematic survey of the revolutions of 1848. Intergovernmental administration is one of his main interests in the sphere of government.

In 1927-28 he was a research fellow in the social sciences of the Rockefeller foundation in Austria and Germany and in the United States in 1928-29 and 1935-35.

He headed the German section on foreign research and press service of the British foreign office, 1939-40. The professor has served with the political intelligence department and with the political warfare executive.

Dr. Hawgood is the author of "The Citizen and Government," "The Tragedy of German-America," "Modern Constitutions Since 1787 (1939)," "Political and Economic Relations Between the U.S.A." and "The German Provisional Central Government at Frankfurt-am-Main in 1948-49."

Ann Case is handling window displays; Jean Armstrong, posters; Jeanne Hoffman, flying speeches; Betty Jane Wright and Diane Meacham stunts; Eve Overback, newspaper advertising; and Steve Church, radio.

Lance stated that the first meeting of the committee will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Side.

R. L. Neuberger On War Path

SALEM—(AP) Lo, the poor Indian someday may be able to buy a drink.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, Portland Democrat, introduced a bill today to allow sale of liquor to Indians.

He said the present law discriminates against a race, and that Indians can't get any more drunk than White persons.

But the Braves shouldn't start celebrating yet. Even if the legislature passes the bill, there still is a federal law to keep them from buying the firewater.

Theme Contest Ends Thursday

Fifteen dollars awaits the student who submits the winning suggestion in the Junior Weekend theme contest which closes this Thursday at 12 noon. The traditional highlight of the spring term is scheduled for May 6, 7, and 8.

Theme entries may be submitted to weekend chairman, Malcolm MacGregor at the Lambda Chi Alpha house, or Bob Weber at the Pi Kappa Alpha house. In case of duplication, MacGregor said that the application with the best explanation will receive the award.

Judging of the various themes submitted will be by chairmen of all weekend committees. If none are satisfactory, the committee will decide the theme and no cash prize will be awarded.

Last years theme was "Storybook Wonderland."

Emerald Sends Out Call for Workers

The Emerald needs qualified, willing workers for jobs as reporters, copyeditors, rewrite men, and night staffers at the press.

Applicants may see Managing Editor Bob Reed or leave their names at the Emerald shack.

'Good Despite Eighth Place'

'Buck Fever' Hampers Rifle Squad

By Bill Clothier

Though the University of Oregon ROTC rifle team did not finish first in the Sixth Army matches held this January, they did finish five notches ahead of Oregon State. Seventeen teams, including most of the major colleges on the Pacific coast, participated in the match. The University of San Francisco took first honors and Oregon wound up in eighth place.

Sergeant M. D. Mudd, an army veteran of 22 years, coached the Oregon team. He offered no excuses for not getting the blue ribbon, but noted with sorrowful pride:

"This team was one of the best I've ever handled. No better than this one. I still think they are just as good as USF. On Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays we could shoot the pants off the other teams. Buck fever, just a bad case of buck fever, that's all it was."

10-Man Squad

Firing for Oregon were Charles Hallin, Lowell Apjlet, William Hall, Robert Thomas, Irwin Holzman, Gordon Swan, Ted Colley, Dean Forbes, Fred Hooper, and Donald Jacobsen.

The shoot is held at the respective ROTC campuses. The record firing is supervised by an officer and the targets are sent to Sixth Army headquarters for final grading. Just as a precaution, army fashion, the particular targets used for record day (please turn to page 2)

SDX Elections Slated Thursday

The initial spring term meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, has been slated for Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the Side, according to Larry Lau, SDX president.

Election of officers for the coming year will be the main item of the business meeting. In addition, complete SDX plans will be formed for the remainder of the school term.

Attendance at the meeting is compulsory, according to Lau. An executive meeting at 4 p.m. in the adviser's office will precede the general meeting.

Article Presents Educational Needs

The first in a series of several articles dealing with the problems of higher education in Oregon is presented on page three.

The series is designed to acquaint the students with the pressing problems of rapid growth and expansion in state-supported colleges and universities.
