

Students Warned To Check Classes

"If you pre-registered for your spring term courses, check to make sure that you are attending all of the classes for which you signed up," said Vergil S. Fogdall, director of men's affairs, in a reminder to the student body yesterday.

"If a student is enrolled in a course, the professor is required to enter a term grade for him," Fogdall said.

"Naturally, if the student never shows up for class, the professor will enter an F on his grade record."

In addition to accepting the Zeta petition yesterday, Greek bloc delegates discussed the coming ASUO election.

Mike Madden and Rich Ward, campaign managers, announced that a meeting of the AGS nominating committee will be held this week to select nominees from petitions submitted by houses.

Recommendations of the committee will be presented to a bloc meeting next week, at which time additional nominations will be made from the floor. The nominees will be voted on at the same meeting, which will probably be held Thursday evening.

Keynoting the campaign, AGS President Hale declared that the purpose of AGS is to "promote the best interests of the University of Oregon through fraternal organizations."
