

Twenty-Nine Earn 4.00; 188 Get 3.5

Twenty-nine students earned 4.00 GPA's, representing straight A grades on a study load of 12 or more hours, in winter term classes, according to the honor roll released yesterday by Clifford Constance, registrar.

Listed as having made a record of from 3.50 to under 4.00 were 188 students.

"The list does not include most grades which the faculty turned in after our deadline," Constance stated yesterday.

"Undoubtedly there are others who could have been listed, but were not because it is necessary for us to get the list out early." This list will be final, however, and no additions can be made.

Earning perfect grades were Ralph E. Brown, George W. Capps, Joseph C. Cunningham, Stanley W. Durland, Patricia L. Erickson, William H. Gardner, William E. Heidrich, Gene E. Johnson, John W. Jap War Trial Prosecutor On Campus

"The average Japanese is ashamed of his leader's war crimes," stated Major Murray F. Gibbons Jr., recently returned war crimes prosecutor. Gibbons is now an instructor of military law in the department of military science.

Major Gibbons, who holds an LLB from the University of Oklahoma, arrived in the United States a short time ago after assisting in the trials of numerous Japanese officers.

"Our soldiers are certainly salesmen of our way of life," mentioned Gibbons, "but we have a long way to go before the Japanese attitude will approach ours."

Prominent among the Major's convictions was an officer of the Rising Sun sentenced for ordering the pouring of flaming gasoline on American soldiers-prisoners in the Philippines.

ity to impart enthusiasm; (3) Clear, reasonable assignments; (4) Quality of testing; (5) Logical development of course; and (6) General teaching effectiveness.

"This idea presents a definite challenge to every member of the committee to do it as fairly as possible. It is a marvelous chance to serve the University," Miss Olson concluded.

Student interest in a plan for rating instructors came to a head recently with ASUO executive council approval of the proposal, giving the go-ahead signal to Allen to appoint the studying committee. Much faculty and student comment, pro and con, has been aroused by the forthcoming system.

Mitropoulos Featured On 'Campus Headlines' Today

An interview with Dimitri Mitropoulos conductor of the Minneapolis symphony orchestra will be the feature of today's Campus Headlines show over KOAC at 4:00.

Mitropoulos will be interviewed by Bob Litten on his arrival. A fifteen minute tape recording of their conversation will be broadcast.

Popular piano stylings of Wally Bullard, senior in music, will follow the interview. The musical program is under the supervision of Anne McGeorge.

"Wings for Angels," a story concerning the hopes, struggles, and achievements of Oregon itinerant workers, will be this week's dramatic presentation. The local "Grapes of Wrath" was written by Robert Fulton, a university student, who recently took second prize in a nation-wide essay contest, the results of which were announced by Drew Pearson on his Sunday broadcast. Bill Alley will handle the cast. The play will begin at 4:30.
