Flashy Hawaiian Shirts; ASUO Socks Are the 1949 Male Spring Sensations

Young Stuff

SEX had long since dried up, and blown away on lips of fervid flaw typical of this arid wilderness . . . some stirred restlessly—others forsook altogether . . . man could not be accountable for his humility . . . then suddenly the elixir came—naturally! "Young Stuff." Thank to Bob Tweedell and two cartons of Phillip Morris.

Before, we said that the gigantic "You Naming It" contest would be concluded today at noon. Shortly after that announcement we received over 5,348 suggestions which seemed to indicate that everyone on the campus had entered the contest well before the deadline. So as long as the contest had been conducted fairly and impartially, we decided not to waste our haste in getting the author's name in the title.

An interesting sidelight to our contest was the unanimity of the selection which Mr. Tweedell happened to submit first. All but three suggested the identical name, and those three undoubtedly meant to agree only they had the words in the wrong order.

After you think you've mastered the art of telephoning call Susan Campbell and get on a 2½ party hook-up with Pat, Mary, and Donna.

The Alpha Phi's report that more than the croquet pastures are green down their way. Starley Sparks has quit checking on the other side of the fence now that she has Dick Brock's DU pin. There is wonderment what will be the outcome of the Elesa Keeney-Beta Pinky Newell session.

Thursday night the Tri-Delts welcomed Bill Lyon's Phi Kap pin. It was tuned in by Gloria Merten, ex-bop celloist.

The old—who has the gum?—routine comes to mind when the Alpha Xis relate how they keep a day-to-day check on Dee Williams so they know when she has Bob Richardson's SPE pin and hasn't.

No more long walks home for Delt Bob Coffyn. He's shoveling gravel in the ChiO alley so he'll be able to park by his house, too.

Two engagements were the recent features at the Gamma Phi house. Donna Rankin to Phi Psi Jim Love and Martha Cleveland to Hood River's new football coach, Phi Delt Bill Abbey. Other signs of spring with the Gamma Phis are Mary Lou Renard's recent gain of Bob Glasgow's Phi Sig badge. Likewise with Jane Carson and Pi Kappa Phi Jim Shaw.

Gamma Phis also rumor that Jackie Wachort, Bill Hoak, Pat Cook, and SAE Herb Ray in that order, but not altogether, are being pretty steadily.

In hilltopping we found that the Delta Zetas have two more aboard as Joy Dean has Dick Ryall's SAE pin, and Patty Laxton swiped Les Jones' Pi Kap jewelry.

SPE Paul Davenport left his heart at Charles F. Berg's in Portland with Camele Maybee. Don't sell this "pin of the campus" stuff short.

Remember those 16 sides of reebop coming out on Capitol records this week.

Back at Shack

Barbara Heywood, Emerald associate editor, made a brief, unwilling visit at the infirmary Thursday, April 7. A speedy recovery from her temporary indisposition brought her back to the more familiar confines of the "shack" yesterday.

His Royal Highness Prince Charles

HERE ARE TWO camera studies of H.R.H. Prince Charles of Edinburgh, made by royal command at Buckingham palace in London when the young prince was 19 weeks old. The fair-headed, blue-eyed son of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, was born on November 14, 1948. He was christened Prince Charles Philip Arthur George of Edinburgh, but to the London press he is "Bonnie Prince Charlie." (AP Wirephoto)

Odd Questions Keep Library Workers Busy

"I'm looking for information regarding the hole in the doughnut. This is only one of the many queries received by Miss Elizabeth Findly, head reference librarian of the University of Oregon library.

It is the purpose of the reference department to assist students in the use of the library, and the various ways in which this is carried out comprise the duties of the ten employees. The newspaper, magazine, and periodical rooms of the library are also in this department.

Among the many tasks to be performed behind the scenes are indexing such material as Emeralds, Oregonians, and collections of particular stories, poems, and essays which appear in anthologies. The two courses offered by the library, Use of the Library and University Library Resources, are taught by the reference librarians.

Miss Findly urges students to be specific in their inquiries, rather than giving a general question regarding the source of information. Sometimes the material sought actually isn't recorded. For example, one student wished references on the influence of the industrial revolution on tennis.

Another apparently did not recognize the English authors, Addison and Steele, for he asked information concerning the Addison and Steele Company.

"We are never too busy to stop and see what people are looking for," she said in conclusion. Students are requested to bring all

Which Hat Will You Choose - For Easter This Coming Spring Is Your Face Oval?

Your hat can have the blithest shape and the wildest roses in the Easter Parade. But if like most women your face is not the classic oval, here are a few tricks the famous milliner, Florence Reichman suggests you follow in selecting your new spring bonnet. They're basic principles of line.

Is Your Face Long?

If so, a bonnet with a broken crown will cut the height of your forehead and a deep crown will help hide the depth of your head. If you're tall enough, you can also wear a large-brimmed hat, providing the rim dips. Don't wear a high crown or a tiny hat on the top of your head or a hat with most of the trimming at one side.

Is Your Face Square?

Try a smallish sailor with a flower-filled brim to balance the width of your cheekbones. Don't ever wear a crown smaller than the widest point of your face and never a hat that sits on top of your head. A rolling brim with a profile line, a tilted turban, a beret angled to one side are also good.

Is Your Face Triangular?

You can balance a pointed face with a thick-edged bonnet. This will emphasize its heart-shaped look, and the tapering line from crown to ears gives the illusion of an oval. You can also wear a slanted pillbox set slightly back or a small beret manipulated into the same basic lines. Avoid bulky crowns or too much back trim. That overweights the face.

Is Your Face Round?

Your hat line should be broken at the side. A deep crown is a good balance, and a tiny brim gives the necessary frame to the face. You can also wear a deep-crowned hat with high brim at one side, one-sided toque, a bonnet with a high curving archlike brim. Avoid a small high crown or the shallow crowned hat worn on top of the head.

FELLAS, you ain't heard nothing yet. If you are tired of reading "The Coeds' Clothesline," bathing suit fashions, ad infinitum, this is for you. The scoop is on what the Oregon MALE is wearing this spring.

Miss Kuckenber, Wednesday, mentioned several of the more fortunate coeds going to Hawaii and what they plan to wear. Don't worry—some of your own members have the jump on them. Note Dick Wilkins, Bob Anderson, and Herb Lombard's flashy creations. These shirts can be worn for picnics as well as campus meanderings, right Herb?

In the party-party line comes formal attire for house dances. Tuxes, dinner jackets (lend an ear, Californians), and dark suits are still the rage. Just as long as you fellas don't show in ASUO warm-ups and track shoes the coeds will be happy.

IF YOU WEAR shoes in the springtime, some of us do, you might try some white bucks with you - can - be - taller - than - she soles. Ask George Gibbons where he purchased same. Of course "sneakers" (a great deal of contemplation has gone into where this name came from) will be worn at all tennis functions, lawn socials, baseball games (may be win a few) and PE courses.

Ties, strictly taboo for all except graduate students, professors, and Harvard alums, are coming out in new and unusual styles. John Easton has a corduroy one that's a dilly, and Fred Young sports a white polka-dot number he claims is what THEY are wearing this year. California students report a knitted four-in-hand fad which has infiltrated to the campus. You might ask Hal Schiek if they ravel.

SOCKS TO go with those aforementioned shoes can be of any variety. Besides ASUO argyles there are the usual kind, knit by some patient (or by now, maladjusted) coed, and numerous striped, checked, and plain creations for those less fortunate or more sane. By the way, Pietschman, did you get a pair of socks out of that contest or are you trudg to class sans socks, accompanied by your trusty Chesterfields?

This number may not help you constructively, but we thought you might like to drag yourselves away from the sports page long enough to read about the New Look in the men's world.
