

Transportation Students Open New Fraternity

A new professional fraternity Delta Nu Alpha for those interested in studying transportation and traffic management, has been organized on the campus. It has the distinction of being one of the first chapters west of the Mississippi river.

At its organizational meeting last Tuesday, the following officers were elected: Walter Grande, president; William Bond, vice-president; Jack Odell, secretary; Ray Heidenrich, treasurer.

Members: Max Angus, Gerald Arthur, Ervin Ashmore, Barry Belkins, Clifford Bevans, David Blunt, Gerald Capps, Bruce Cleary, Kenneth Cowgill, Charles Hanson, Hudson, Lothian, Mike Madden, Lester McNab, Andrew McClelland, John Mertz, Lee Perry, Wesley Richards, Alvin Saxton, Evan Skersies, John Waller, and Charles West.

C. F. Ziebarth, associate professor of business administration, is the faculty advisor for the group.

A cool-looking queen that'll make temperature rise, is Margaret Thors daughter of the Icelandic minister to the United States. Miss Thors was selected queen of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom festival to be held April 28-29 at Winchester, Va. She is a native of Reykjavik, Iceland.

Permanently Converted

Summer is around the corner, but Albert Alhadeff doesn't seem too happy to see that his sedan has become a convertible permanently converted. Wednesday's earthquake loosened bricks which crashed down upon his parked car. (AP Wirephoto)

Kwama Invites Old Members To Dessert

Kwamas of yesteryear will review old times next Tuesday night, when today's girls in white will entertain them at a dessert.

All students who were Kwamas, from two years ago to the present, are invited to the event which will be held at the Kappa Alpha Theta house at 6:30 p.m.

In charge of invitations is Emily West, who reports that 50 have been sent out. Entertainment, under the direction of Leslie Tooze, will consist of a piano solo by Jean Armstrong and readings by Glenna Hurst. Ruth Landry is in charge of refreshments.

One guest of honor expected is Billiejean Riethmiller, last year's president of Kwama. The honorary hopes to make this "alumni" gathering an annual event. A similar picnic was held by the organization three years ago.
