Public Schools See University Play

Millions," the University Theater's 1948-49 spectacle production, will be presented to an audience of public school students in McArthur court on Friday, April 29, according to LeJeune Griffith, business manager.

Scheduled because of the particular interest the play holds for students, this performance of Eugene O'Neill's colorful oriental extravaganza about the life of Marco Polo will be open to public school students only.

Tickets will be sold to groups, and may be ordered now by calling extension 403, or may be purchased at the box office the night of the performance. The price of admission is $.40, and no seats are reservstudents and the public, who will remember the spectacle production as being one of the traditional events of spring term at Oregon.

"This is the last year that the spectacle will be staged in Mac court," Mrs. Griffith pointed out. Petitions Due spectacle will be staged in Mac "The new stage in Villard will be large enough to take care of all our future productions."

Special sound equipment will be installed for the performance to insure audibility. The University symphony orchestra will be featured in the production, and elaborate costumes and spectacular staging will typify "Marco Millions."

Pigger's Guide

Friday is the deadline for Pigger's Guide petitions.

Any student who feels himself qualified can petition for the editor's and business manager's jobs of the 1949-50 University directory. According to the Educational Activties office, the editor will receive 100 dollars and the business manager receives about 120 dollars for their work during the first part of the school year.

"It is a big personal satisfaction also to see thousands of tokens of your work rolling off the presses. Besides the satisfaction and money, the jobs offer valuable experience in the business, journalism, and printing fields," commented Dorothy Orr, this year's editor.

The new executives will be named Wednesday.

two other 8th grade students were chosen to direct the huge chorus in two patriotic airs. Jean Voss of the Mount View school near Springfield and Florence Jones, Willagillespie school near Eugene, will lead the singing of "America," and "America the Beautiful."

The job of wielding this large group into a capable organization, will fall to Maude Garnett, associate professor of public school music. Assisting her will be 14 juniors in music, who will sing along with Prentiss, Lois Beanguard, Cora Jane Skillern, Ethel Anderson, Sylvia Williams, Treva Rice, Gertrude Rutherford, John Lusk, Charles Phillips, Jack Craven, Mary Ellen Everton and Velma Snellstrom.

Nine crewmen of the British destroyer Consort were killed as the ship went to aid the Amethyst aground on Rose Island, 60 miles downstream from Nanking. Three aboard the Consort were wounded seriously, the spokesman said.

The carrier carried on a running duel with the shore-based guns along a 50-mile stretch of the river. It is possible the Red runners may have mistaken the British warships for Chinese nationalist gunboats.

A report received from the Amethyst early this morning said she was refloated last night by her own
