Ore-Nter Returns To Oregon Ducklings

This spring will see a revival of a traditional UO publication on the campus—the Ore-Nter, last published in 1947.

A project of the ASUO executive council, the 1949 Ore-Nter will be co-edited by Olga Yevitch, business manager of the 1949 Oregon, and Trudi Chernis, editor-in-chief of the Oregon.

The Ore-Nter, a publication designed to interest and acquaint freshmen with the Oregon campus, was discontinued in 1947 due to the fact that there was a problem of duplication with the UO "Welcome" book. In 1945, the Ore-Nter was financed by several campus organizations. The following year the educational activities board became financier, and in 1947 both educational activities and the freshman week committee co-operated in publishing the book.

It has been felt that the "Welcome" book, sole publication directed to new students for the past year, has been directed toward too many people — parents, students, and alumni. Therefore, the "Welcome" book will be condensed and added to the student life sections of the Ore-Nter, combining the two publications.

Speaking of the decision to start a new publication, Miss Yevitch, explained that "this year's Executive Council felt that the 1948-49 Welcome Book was inadequate in imparting information and Oregon spirit to the incoming freshmen.

"The old Ore-Nters and numbers of handbooks from other campuses were looked upon as better serving the purpose of extending a warm hand of welcome to the new student and properly introducing him to the ways of our life here at the University. It was felt that this was at least in part a student problem . . . a joint student-administrative responsibility."

In the process of organizing the new Ore-Nter, various student leaders and administrative personnel have been contacted.

Miss Yevitch reports that all persons contacted thus far have looked upon the revival of the Ore-Nter with "much favor and enthusiasm."

Cal Students Ask

SEATTLE—(AP)—A petition signed by 3,000 of the University of California's 20,337 students at Berkeley has arrived here for presentation to Dr. Raymond B. Allen, University of Washington president.

The petition calls for reinstatement of three dismissed Washington professors. It was sent to the Student Organization for Academic Rights (SOAR), whose officials said they would give it to Dr. Allen next Monday and at the same time launch their own petition campaign for reinstatement.

The professors are Herbert Phillips and Joseph B. Butterworth, both admitted Communists, and Ralph H. Gundlach, who recently was sentenced to 30 days imprisonment for contempt in refusing to answer a state legislative committee on un-American activities last summer on whether he was or ever had been a Communist.

All Campus Sing Trials Held Today

Vocalists from 36 living organizations will compete in the first round of the all-campus sing this afternoon and evening. Ten women's and ten men's houses will be left in the contest after today.

Winning groups will appear in the sing on May 6, the first night of Junior Weekend.

Elimination for the 16 men's houses will begin at 4 in McArthur court. The 20 women's groups will start at 7. This arrangement was announced Thursday by co-chairman Sally Waller and Lou Weston.

Special Seating Planned

Men's and women's organizations must be seated in Mac court at 3:55 and 6:55 p. m., respectively, they said as a special seating arrangement is planned.

Approximately six minutes will be allotted each group, the co-chairmen said. Before each song, leaders will announce their selections and names of houses they represent. They will be judged on diction, quality of the song, stage appearance, and the ability of the group to follow its leader, according to the chairmen.

Music Faculty to Judge

Judges for the male choruses will be D. W. Allton, Miss Florence Vanderwicken, and Miss Maude Garnett. Milton Dieterich, Oscar Bjorlie, and Miss Iva Weir will judge the women's groups. All are music school faculty members, except Bjorlie and Miss Weir, graduate students in music.

Houses will sing in the following order. The co-chairmen requested that leaders remember their number and place in line.

Men: 1, Alpha Tau Omega; 2, Beta Theta Pi; 3, Chi Psi; 4, Delta Tau Delta; 5, Lambda Chi Alpha; 6, Phi Delta Theta; 7, Phi Gamma Delta; 8, Tau Kappa Epsilon; 9, Phi Kappa Psi; 10, Phi Kappa Sigma; 11, Sig-

Five-Hour Activities Board Meeting Fills Emerald Post

First sophomore to be named Emerald editor during normal times since the creation of the Educational Activities Board, Don Smith was selected from nine aspirants in a five-hour board meeting Wednesday night.

In a two-hour afternoon session Joan Mimnaugh was chosen Emerald business manager. Five students had petitioned for the job.

Members of the Activities Board met from 4 to 6 p. m., adjourned to the Anchorage for dinner, and then returned to Johnson hall for the 7:30 to 1 a. m. meeting. It was one of the longest meetings of the board, said Dick Williams, educational activities secretary-manager.

All the students petitioning for editor were juniors except Smith. They were Hal Coleman, Don Fair Vic Fryer, Chuck Grell, Barbara Heywood, Steve Loy, Ron Phillips, and Bob Tweedell.

Others petitioning for business manager were Corland Mobley, Jack Schnaidt, Leslie Tooze, and Sally Waller.

Smith, who was nominated for junior representative last Tuesday, will continue to run. "It was too late to withdraw my candidacy," he pointed out "as the deadline for nominations was past."

First Come First Served Only 200 Tickets Available For Concert 'Sound Experiment'

There are a limited number of tickets available for "Sound Experiment," the first concert of chamber music and progressive instrumentals to be presented on the Oregon campus.

The educational activities office states that the University theater will hold only 200 (seated), and the ticket sale policy will mean that the first 200 to appear at the activities office at McArthur court for tickets will be the ones to go.

The concert program will include examples from many diverse musical schools. Beethoven, Bach, and Bartok will be among those represented in the classical field. Also, on the program will be studies of various forms of ensemble and solo jazz with dixieland and bebop styles predominating.

Many well-known and respected University musicians will take part in this presentation. Marty Wright, Gene Zarones, Bob Hayes, Curt Finch, Bill Fletcher, Carl Gutman, Julia Warner, Arnold Martin, and Hal Hardin will participate.

James McMullen who has been featured with the Portland Symphony orchestra will sing one of the concert sets. For more details regarding "Sound Experiment" see "Wild Notes" on page six. The concert program will be printed in Saturday's Emerald.

Soph Picnic Plans Include Box Lunches

Box lunches for dormitory students the afternoon of Saturday April 30, is the latest development in plans for the sophomore, class of '51, picnic to be held that afternoon at Swimmers' Delight.

Mrs. Genevieve Turnipseed has arranged for those students desiring a box lunch to sign up before Thursday, April 28, on lists placed near every dormitory dining hall.

An army truck to transport students from the campus to the picnic grounds, has been offered by the ROTC department, according to class president Herb Nill, who made the arrangements with Col. F. R. Maerdian, head of the military science department.

Frequent trips between the campus and Swimmer's Delight by the truck are being planned by transportation chairman Joe Richards.

Tickets for the '51 picnic will go on sale in living organizations, according to Steve Church, house ticket chairman. Booths in the Co-op will be opened Wednesday by Jim Cox, Co-op ticket chairman.

Donna Mary Brennan, food chairman, who is now in the infirmary, suggested on her petition that other living organizations, besides dormitories, make arrangements to fix box lunches for those students who plan to attend the picnic.

Two appointments of sub-committee heads were made by Stan Turnbull, promotion chairman. Glenna Hurst was selected to handle flying speeches and Donna Fields will be in charge of posters.

UO Nominating Assembly Today

The ASUO nominating assembly will be held at 4 p. m. in 207 Chapman today for formal nominating of officers for Wednesday's elections.

The ASUO constitution requires that such an assembly be held five days before elections . . . although petitions for candidates must be turned in 24 hours before.

This year no speeches will be permitted at the formal assembly, ASUO President Bob Allen explained, because Friday is inconvenient for student participation. The meeting will be brief.

Instead, the executive council has voted to hold an election-day "campaign rally" Tuesday night in McArthur court, at which candidates from both parties will be introduced and will speak to the students.
