

Library Contest Deadline Set for Thursday, May 5

Thursday, May 5, at 6 p.m. is the deadline for entries in the annual Library Day prize contest, which will be held on May 7.

Prizes of $25, $15, and $10 in books to be purchased at the Co-op will be given in each of the three categories of the contest—undergraduate student's specialized library, undergraduate student's general library, and graduate student's library. Already over 40 entries have been received, but it is hoped that last year's total, 55, can be surpassed this year. Up to date, the University of Oregon stands highest in the nation in the quality and number of student libraries submitted for this contest.

Rules of the contest are:

1. Entries must be limited to less than 50 volumes.
2. Required textbooks which will become a permanent part of your library may be included.
3. Each book must bear a definite mark of your ownership.
4. Entries must be made by 6 p.m. of Thursday, May 5, 1949, to Miss Rise at the circulation desk. The name of the contestant, a list of the books to be displayed, and a statement of the general nature of the collection must accompany each entry.

5. Entries must be arranged in the space allotted by 10 a.m., Saturday, May 7, 1949, and must remain on display until 6:00 p.m. Sunday, May 8, 1949.

6. Prize winners of former years are invited to exhibit their libraries, but they are ineligible for another prize award.

7. Judging by a committee of five appointed by the head librarian will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday. The libraries will be judged on the selection of titles as they meet the objectives of a student's personal library.

8. Prizes will be awarded Saturday afternoon at 4 p.m. in the Adelaide Church memorial room (browsing room) of the University of Oregon library.
