Aiken Works Footballers; Passing Percentage Good

Tuesday was another day of head bumping for some 90 of Jim Aiken's spring pigskinners, and the squad continued to impress bystanders who witnessed the hardy exhibition of how to be ferocious and collegian at the same time.

Both offensive and defensive clubs were juggled constantly, and as a result one could not actually ascertain just what combo was clicking on the most number of cylinders.

Earl Stelle handled most of the aerial fireworks in yesterday's scrim, connecting on 12 out of 18 attempts.

IN THE LAST three practice sessions, Stelle has hit the bull's-eye in 29 instances out of 46 tries. Jim Calderwood launched only four passes yesterday, but completed all of them. His record through the last three days is 26 out of 36.

SINCE THE beginning of spring practice Calderwood has connected on 66 per cent of his passes, and Stelle on 65 per cent.

Altogether, including aeriels thrown by everyone—even counting Johnny McKay, who has a perfect completion record for the handful of passes he has tried—almost 400 plays run out on the practice field this season have wound up being passes in one form or another.

Several worthies were forced to forego practice because of injuries and other reasons. Guard Eddie Chrobot, lone returning regular in the forward wall, is sidelined by an attack of poison oak, and Sam Nevills is bothered with a hip point. Big Lou Robinson, who has held off because of a hip injury, is scheduled to see action today.

Especially impressive in recent Paxton, and Don McCauley. Missfeldt, big freshman product, Hale Paxton, and Dow MacCauley. Missfeldt is currently playing behind George Bell at half, while the other two, both guards, have showed plenty of ginger up front. Another good looking comer is Halfback Herb Timms.

Aiken plans to hold sessions this afternoon, weather permitting, and probably again on Friday.

Action This Week

HOMER BROBST, two-year letterman pitcher for Don Kirsch and his Oregon baseballers, is set for plenty of action in the next two weeks, when the Webfoots invade northern baseball camps for six conference games in eight days. Games with WSC, Idaho, and Washington are scheduled for the Ducks before they return to Eugene.

Six-Game Road Series Holds Key to Oregon's Chances for ND Crown

Oregon's league-leading baseball club takes to the road this week for a seven-game stint in the Northland, starting tonight in Portland against the Portland University Pilots.

Following this non-conference outing, Don Kirsch's Webfoots en-train for Pullman, Wash., for a two-game Northern Division baseball series with the WSC Cougars. Washington State dropped two games to the Ducks in Eugene.

Cougar masterminder "Buck" Bailey is expected to send his ace chucker, Ward Rockey, to the mound Friday, in an attempt to even hostilities.

THE WEBFOOTS step over another state line May 2 and 3, when they go to Moscow, Ida., for a pair of ND contests with Idaho. Oregon also holds a two-game edge over the Vandals.

Finishing up their lengthy trip, the Kirschmen tangle with Art McLarney's Washington Huskies in Seattle May 5 and 6. The pesky Huskies claim the only victory over the Ducks so far this season.

Despite pitching worries, Kirsch is hopeful for at least an even split this trip, and possibly more. The five top Duck pitchers, Mel Krause, Sid Mills, Homer Brobst, Dick De-Bernardi, and Jim Hanns will all see action, with Rube Besada slated for reserve mound duty.

THE INJURY situation has improved, according to Kirsch, and both Don Kimball, third baseman, and Dick Bartie, first baseman, will see regular duty. Shortstop Al Cohen, leading Webfoot hitter, and Walt Kirsch at second complete the Oregon infield. Gene Rose and Hal Torkelson will alternate behind the plate.

After the Washington series, the Ducks have four games with Oregon State and one with Willamette on the slate. The first OSC game is scheduled May 13 at Eugene.
