Olympics Go To Australia

ROME, April 28—(AP)—The International Olympic Committee tonight awarded the 1956 summer games to Melbourne, Australia, sending the Olympics to the southern hemisphere for the first time.

So overwhelming was the sentiment among the 30 Olympics nations in favor of the small countries and the southern hemisphere that the only serious contenders for the summer games were Melbourne and Buenos Aires.

Melbourne received 21 votes on the fourth ballot and Buenos Aires 20. Detroit and Los Angeles, last of six U. S. cities seeking the games, were eliminated on the third ballot.

The winter games went by a landslide on the first ballot to the Italian ski resort of Cortina, which received 31 votes to seven for Montreal, Canada.

Lake Placid, N. Y., didn't get a single vote in its bid for the winter games. Two votes went to the Colorado combination of Colorado Springs for skating and Aspen, Colo., for skiing.

Veteran San Diego Pitcher Released

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 28—(AP)—Tom Seats, veteran left-handed pitcher, was given his unconditional release by the San Diego Padres today, Bill Starr, president of the local Pacific Coast league club, announced.

Seats came to the Padres four years ago from the Brooklyn Dodgers. He has not been used as a starter this season and has pitched only a few innings in relief roles. Seats was credited with 40 victories against 49 defeats during his tenure with the San Diego club.

Mel Krause Set To Open Series On Road Trip

If things don't follow form this afternoon, just as they failed to do a week and a half ago, then Don Kirsch and his league leading Webfoots will be a happy bunch of boys after they finish battling it out with Washington State at Pullman.

It seems that when Buck Bailey brought his ND favorites here a short while back, he was tendered a rather rude welcoming in the form of two upset defeats. Kirsch hopes to turn the same trick this time, and in order to help matters, he's sending the same two pitchers against the Cougars who had so much success with them last time.

MEL KRAUSE will open for the Ducks today, giving a sendoff to Oregon's six-game road trip around the circuit. Windup of the series comes Saturday with Sid Mills pitching, and then the Lemon-and-Green moves on to Idaho, and after that, to Washington.

Whom the colorful Mr. Bailey plans to send opposite Krause is anyone's guess, but indications are that it might be Ward Rockey, his top ace.

Oregon is in good, but not excellent shape for the series. Don Kimball, long hitting third baseman, is still bothered by a leg injury and chances are that his effectiveness will be cut down measurably.

HE MAY NOT even be able to go the full route against the Cougars. Firstbaseman Dick Bartle is having his troubles, too. The big fellow has a painful back ailment which, although it won't keep him out of the lineup, will hamper him to some extent.

Otherwise the whole squad is in fine fettle.

Besides Rockey, Washington State will likely throw Big Bob Arps against the Ducks—at least in one of the tilts any way.

IT WILL BE recalled that in the last series Arps hurled seven sparkling innings in relief, giving up only five hits and two runs.

That the Cougars lost 8-6 was no fault of his. So Bailey will probably dig him up and send him out again against Oregon.

The Cougars, winners of the ND title the past two years, are a veteran outfit. In Tom Marier, crack thirdbaseman, they possess one of the finest infielders in the league.

THIS is Oregon's first, and also last, big swing around the loop, and consequently it is an all-important one.

If things don't follow form today and tomorrow, then the picture, from a Duck standpoint, will brighten considerably.

They need at least an even break with the Cougars, and they are pitching their number one and two men, Krause and Mills, in an effort to get it.

DUCK FIRST BASEMAN Dick Bartle's warclub has proved to be an outstanding factor in the Webfoots early lead in the Northern Division baseball race.

WSC Links Aggregation Arrives for Today's Meet

Arriving in Eugene Thursday afternoon from Pullman, the Washington State College golf team ran through a workout at the Eugene country club in preparation for their conference match today with the undefeated Oregon Webfoots.

The Cougar linksmen stopped over at Corvallis to shake some of the travel rust from their clubs and limber up.

Duck Mentor Sydney Milligan gives his hard-working squad no better than a fifty-fifty chance to win over the Cougars at the Eugene country club.

Fearful that his Webfoots might develop a case of staleness, Milligan cancelled all challenge rounds until after today's WSC match.

IN LINE with that cancellation there will be double challenge rounds early next week, which will afford the golfers opportunity to move up two notches on the squad.

The top six linksmen, slated to take the firing line this afternoon, are Dom Provost, John Eckstrom, Red Omlid, John Prince, Fred Zoletzi, and Jim Donahue, in that order.

PLAY WILL start at 8:0 this morning, with best ball (doubles) being run off before noon, and the individual play in the afternoon.

The Webfoots have waded through two conference foes so far this spring, Idaho and Oregon State, besides mopping up on Victoria college before conference play began.

18 Putts on 18 Greens

PORTLAND, Ore., April 28 (AP) Frank Womack used just 18 putts on the 18 holes at the Alderwood Country club here today.

Professional Al Zimmerman said he would submit Womack's card to National Golfing Associations in an attempt to determine whether it was a record.

Womack had a score of 81.

Tracksters Host Frosh Meet Today

Oregon's yearling cindermen vie against the varsities of Vancouver Junior College and Oregon College of Education this afternoon at 3 o'clock on Hayward field. Coach Bill Bowerman stated that the Frosh will meet either the individual squads or a team of the two schools combined.

The freshmen will be trying for their third victory in a so far undefeated season. The two previous meets were against a combined team of Springfield and Cottage Grove high schools and a relay with the Oregon State Rooks and the OCE freshmen.

THE PRACTICE yesterday afternoon was cancelled because of the weather but the meet will be run today, rain or shine.

Bowerman has scheduled Tom Elliott and Herby Timms to do the century with Elliott and Chuck Missfeldt sprinting the 220 yard event. The distances will be run by Art Backlund, state prep champ, Pickett Bradetich, and Fowler.

Olympic Runner Jack Hutchins is still ineligible for freshman athletics so Backlund and Hamilton will bear the load in the half mile. Bergstrom and Phil Jones will run quarter to fill out the middle distance events.

CLEARING the high hurdles will be Blomenkamp, Ralph Risley, and Bill Sorsby, while Singler, Jack Smith, and Tom Joyce will take the low hurdles. The frosh board jumpers are Smith, Sorsby, and Joyce.

Marvin, Ed Robison, and Joe Almand will pole vault, and Caldwell, Blomenkamp, and Robison will try the high jump.

Heaving the shot-put will be McCauley, Missfeldt, and Bob Craig, with Lew Langer throwing the discus.

MISSFELDT, and Jerry Leslie will fling the javelin to round out the top Frosh entries.

The next Frosh track meet is with the Oregon State Rooks May 13.
