Meetings

FATHER LOUIS H. Sohler, of Springfield, will speak at the next Newman Club meeting, according to Bill Thompson, club president. The meeting is scheduled for Sunday night at 7 in the YWCA.

"Last week's group-discussion on the 'Boston College issue' aroused much comment among the members," said Thompson. "Discussions of that sort are held from time to time. Most of the programs are short talks by local personalities or visiting speakers."

The Newman Club is planning a joint-picnic with the Oregon State chapter May 15 at Benton-Lane Park. Thompson said tickets for the picnic will be for sale at this week's meeting.

REV. WESLEY G. NICHOLSON of the Congregational church will be the forum speaker at Westminster house Sunday evening discussing the race problem in Oregon and Eugene. Rev. Nicholson has been working for a number of years on improving race relations.

He is now a member of the citizen's committee which is working to get better housing for the Negro families on Ferry street.

Supper at Westminster Sunday evening will precede the forum at 5:15. Worship service will be at 6:15 and the forum will begin at 6:30.

Work Advances On UO Campus Construction

Construction of the steel framework for the library extension will begin on Monday, Harry D. Jacoby, assistant superintendent of the physical plant said yesterday. Work on the concrete footings supporting the framework has been completed.

The University theater continues to take shape, as workmen continue to make up for the time lost during the Winter-weather layoff.

Other campus construction includes work on the new University house on Agate street. A crew is now engaged on landscaping and painting the exterior the two houses now occupied by the girls.

Irwin I. Wright, superintendent of the physical plant, will return on Friday night from a two day visit to Portland. While in the Rose City, Wright conferred with the engineer in charge of designs for the projected heating plant, J. Donald Krockner. He also spent some time with Lawrence, Tucker, and Wallman, architects for the planned science building. Revised plans for the building was the topic under discussion. Lawrence, Tucker, and Wallman are the architects for the girls dorm, and the student union.

Shanghai Trap Tightened

Chinese Communist forces (black arrows) have reached Weiting, 38 miles west of Shanghai, and Wuhing, south of Lake Tai, in a drive on Hangchow (open arrow); that part of the force at Soochow will drive on Kashing to cut Shanghai-Hangchow rail escape route, while remainder of force will press on from Weiting toward Shanghai (open arrows). Nationalist also reported another Red army driving on Shanghai from northwest (open arrow). (AP Wirephoto map)

Finnish Student Wins First IFC Scholarship

Oregon's Inter-Fraternity council has awarded its first foreign-student scholarship to Matti Juhani Raikkala, of Helsinki, Finland.

Raikkala, who is about twenty-three years old, is at present attending the Commercial University at Helsinki, where he is studying languages and foreign trade. He will enter the University of Oregon next fall term, with tuition, fees, books, board, and room paid by the University and the IFC.

Recommendations and biographical information on several foreign students were sent to the Oregon IFC by the Institute of International Education, New York City. Subsequently the IFC chose Raikkala for the first of its scholarships. The Finnish students will be in the United States for one year.

According to his application, Raikkala is something of a sportsman, being particularly interested in hunting. He also has an affinity for "driving cars." During the course of his education he has served in the field artillery of the Finnish army.

Since Raikkala is primarily interested in trade, he will study American practices at the UO school of business. Upon returning to Finland he will enter foreign trade—"I will apply myself to the rationalizing work in the service of the Finnish foreign trade with the view of specializing in the importation from the United States to Finland."

Thus far in his twenty-three years, Raikkala has traveled no farther than Copenhagen, Denmark, and Gothenburg, Sweden. However, he speaks Finnish, Swedish, German, and English.

While at Oregon, he will live at the Theta Chi house. It is part of the IFC's plan to have the students live in various fraternity houses on campus.

BETTER BE SAFE THAN SHOCKED!

Remember this advice about electric cords:

- Never run cords under rugs
- Don't place cords in door jams
- Cords should never be run over radiators
- Disconnect heating appliances not in use
- Do not disconnect appliances by pulling on the cord; grasp the plug instead
- Worn electric cords should be replaced
- Don't handle electric appliances while hands are immersed in water.
