Netters Pitted against OSC Here Today

Oregon State's experienced Varsity tennis team invades Eugene today for a match with the Oregon Ducks slated to begin at 2 p'clock this afternoon.

Although the Beavers are favored to top the Webfoots, Oregon displayed good form on its recent road trip and will be tough to beat. In the matter of comparative scores, the Northerners have a definite edge.

THEY BLANKED both Idaho and WSC while Oregon only split with these two teams.

The Beavers have such capable performers as Hugh Findlay, Jack Carrothers, Wes Brigham, Ivan Hatfield, and Nevin Cope, all letter-winners, to throw at the Ducks.

In today's matches Oregon plays er-coach Saal Lesser expects to start Bob Carey in the number one position. Dave Van Zandt will occupy the number two slot, with Lesser holding down third.

BUD CARPENTER was named to play fourth, and Bob Mensor will round out the group. Van Zandt and B. Carpenter will form one doubles team, while Lesser and Carey will compose the other.

A return match is on tap for Saturday, when Oregon will travel to Corvallis to play the Beavers.

Freshman Nine Set to Tackle Axemen at 3

Oregon's Frosh ball team held its final practice yesterday afternoon in preparation for a four-game weekend starting with Eugene high today at 3. The yearlings dumped the Axemen last Saturday 12-0 behind the no-hit pitching of Jim Courtright.

BILL DAHLBEER will pitch for the Ducklings with either Jack Smith or Joe Segura behind the plate.

Gene Louis will throw to Mel Jefferies for the prep schoolers.

So far this season the Frosh have had four wins in six games, both losses being to the Oregon State Rooks.

STARTERS for the Frosh will be Phil Settecase, first; J. D. Wade, second; Gene Danzer, shortstop; Nick Schmeier, third; Dewayne Owens, center field; Joe Proulx, right fielder; and either Jack Smith or Joe Segura in left field.

Coach Duane Mellem has not named his first team as yet.

Tomorrow Coach Falgren's nine will face the Rooks here in a twin bill. It meets Albany high on Saturday.

Taggesell Registers No-Hitter As IM Softball Playoffs Start

TODAY'S SCHEDULE
South Field—Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Delta Theta
North Field—Delta Tau Delta vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Brilliant pitching performances highlighted yesterday's intramural softball games as the playoffs for the championship began.

In the afternoon's results, Bob Taggesell twirled a no-hitter as Phi Delta Theta trampled Veterans Housing, 18-2; Kappa Sigma pinned a 10-1 defeat on Lambda Chi Alpha; Beta Theta Pi bounced Sigma Chi by a 4-2 count; and Sigma Alpha Epsilon came through with an 8-2 victory over Phi Kappa Psi.

ALTHOUGH he allowed Vets Housing no hits, Taggesell's wild-

Bevo Tops ND Hitters; Kovenz in Third Place

Frank Roelandt, Oregon State's hard hitting catcher, swung a mean stick last week, cracking out 11 hits in 16 tries, to surge ahead in the Northern Division races with a dizzy .548 average.

Roelandt passed up former leader Bill Andring of Washington, who is second with .543, and left Oregon's John Kovenz in third place.

KOVENZ, at .442, replaced Al Cohen as the Ducks' top swat-master, the latter having slipped to .405. Cohen, however, still retained his RBI lead with 18.

Washington State's Gordon Brunswick is the pace-setter in the home run column with three, while Roelandt leads in triples with three and K. Chorlton of Washington in doubles with seven.

Cohen, with five, is second in two-baggers. Kovenz has swiped the most hassocks, nine.

DICK STILES of WSC maintained his lead among the pitchers with ed in three decisions and Oregon's Homer Brobst in two. Sid Mills has a ed in three decisions and Oregon's Homer Brobst in two. Sid Mills has a 3-1 record.

Washington is tops in team batting at .305, with Oregon second at .286.

Surprisingly, WSC, tied with the Ducks at the summit of the ND standings, is last in this department. The Cougars are hitting .251.

Steers Joins Hall of Fame

Les Steers, former Oregon track ace who established the world's high jump record, was among the 46 track and field stars and coaches named to the Helms' Hall of Fame yesterday.

ness led to his opponents' only two runs in the first inning. He issued 12 bases on balls altogether, but was tough in the clutches. In addition, he slammed two triples to aid his own cause.

Jerry Switzer chipped in with a triple, double, and single as the Phi Deltas racked up four counters in the first and kept adding to their margin.

They crossed the plate seven times in the fifth canto and added five more in the sixth for their decisive win over Vets' pitcher Don Buffington.

THE KAPPA SIGS received another good hurling job as Sam Wash scattered six safeties in pitching a 10-1 triumph over Lambda Chi. The victors unlimbered four Don Kirsch and his baseballing Ducks take on what they hope will be a breather tonight when they face Willamette at Salem. Gametime is 8 p. m.

The Bearcats divided a double-header with Lewis Clark yesterday, dropping the opener 3-1, but snapping back to take the nightcap 14-3.

However, while Oregon should not have too much trouble with Johnny Lewis' gang, it may be recalled that in a pre-season exhibition it had to go down to the wire to pull out a last inning 5-4 decision.

AFTER returning from a successful six game tour into the Northern hinterlands, Kirsch plans to give his overworked mound staff a rest.

He will send Sophomore Jim Hanns against the Bearcats tonight.

The Ducks resume their ND competition against Oregon State this weekend.

Theta Chi Golfers Win

The Theta Chi intramural golf team moved into the semifinal round by defeating the Betas 11-1 Monday.

Trackmen Face Time Trials as Dual Nears

Oregon's Webfoot cindermen will run through their weekly time and distance trials this afternoon as they prepare for their arch rivals from Oregon State whom they meet here Saturday in their final dual meet of the season.

Since 1930, the beginning of the modern era of track, the Ducks have tangled with their favorite foe 18 times and walked off the oval victors 12 of those times.

Earl Stelle continued to draw sideline raves yesterday as he connected on 26 out of 46 passes in a long scrimmage session conducted by Coach Jim Aiken. Teammate Jim Calderwood hit three out of five. The emphasis was on long aerals to John McKay and Woodley Lewis.

Hale Paxton came in for plenty of praise too with his sparking defensive work at end.

Eugene Hi Post Goes To Berwick

Jim Berwick, first string defensive guard on Oregon's Cotton Bowl gridiron team, has been named assistant football coach at Eugene high school.

A two-year letterman under the tutorage of Webfoot Coach Jim Aiken, Berwick teamed with big Ted Meland, who handled the offensive chores, to give the Ducks a fine pair of linemen at the left guard position.

Berwick started his collegiate career at the University of Washington as a naval trainee and came to Oregon in 1946.
