NEW YORK (AP)—Israel was admitted to the United Nations tonight as the 59th member. The Arab delegations in the U.N. then walked out of the general assembly.

The vote admitting Israel was 37 to 12. Nine countries abstained. None of the 58 members was absent.

The vote was the end of a battle of more than two years by Israel for national recognition in the U.N.

The United States, Russia, China and France were among the countries voting to admit Israel. Britain abstained, along with Belgium, Brazil, Denmark, El Salvador, Greece, Siam, Sweden, and Turkey.

PORTLAND (AP)—The city council doubled the cost of parking a car yesterday.

The parking meter rate throughout the downtown area was set at 5 cents a half hour. It is now 5 cents an hour.

Motorists can stay longer, however; two hours instead of only one. They will be able to feed the meter one, two, three, or four nickels, according to the amount of time they plan to park.

It will probably take four months before all meters can be readjusted. The new rules affects the area southwest Second to Twelfth avenues, and from Pine to Madison streets.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Amos 'n' Andy were sued for $300,000 in federal court today by the William Morris Talent agency. The agency alleged it negotiated a contract for the radio comics with Lever Bros. company but lost an $11,000 weekly commission.

The complaint stated that last summer Amos 'n' Andy sold their program to the Columbia Broadcasting System for $2,000,000 and then sought to terminate commission payments to the agency on the ground the Lever Bros. contract was ended. The suit asserted Lever Bros. continued as sponsor of the show.

Matrix Table Invitations Sent By Journalists

Invitations to Theta Sigma Phi's formal Matrix Table were sent out yesterday to Theta Sigma alumnae, Eugene women outstanding in journalism and civic activities, faculty women in literature and the arts, and presidents of women's living organizations.

The event will be held May 19 at 6 p.m. at the Eugene hotel.

The outstanding senior woman in each living organization, chosen by the house president, is also invited, as are all upper-division women in journalism.

The formal banquet is given annually by all Theta Sig chapters to honor outstanding women in journalism. Matrix Table this year will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the women's national professional journalism fraternity.

will be tapped.

Miss Dorothy Carew, formerly women's financial writer for the Associated Press in New York, will be featured speaker. She will speak on her experiences as a journalist and discuss job opportunities in the field.

The outstanding freshman and sophomore women in pre-journalism at the University and the outstanding girls in journalistic activities at Eugene, St. Mary's, and University high schools will be honored. New Theta Sig members will be tapped.

Year's Hottest Day; Mercury Hits 83

Yesterday was the hottest day of the year, according to the weather bureau. Thermometers climbed to 83 degrees.

The combination of high relative humidity and the temperature explains why shirt collars and students alike were wilting.

But the prediction is for slightly cooler Thursday and partly cloudy with scattered afternoon thunder showers.

Theatre Needs Two Managers

Applications for house manager and box office manager of the new University theater are being accepted now by Horace W. Robinson, director of the theater.

It is preferable that the house manager, who will be in charge of ushers, and general care of the public during the plays' runs, be a woman, according to LeJeune Griffith, drama secretary.

Box office manager will handle box office attendants, ticket sales, and act as head usher during the plays' runs.

Applications may be turned in to Mrs. Griffith in the speech office, room 216, Villard. Any student interested in the jobs may apply, regardless of term in school or major.

New Million Dollar Heating Plant OK'd For Expanding University

Approval of the University's proposed one million dollar heating plant was given yesterday by the state board of higher education, Irwin I. Wright, superintendent of the physical plant, announced today.

Bids on construction will be taken early in the fall, with the hope of beginning construction as soon as possible. The plant will replace the present unit, now incapable of handling the University's expanded facilities. It will be equipped to give service to the student union, the girls dormitory, and other buildings now in the process of construction.

One of these will probably be the University theater, now nearing completion. The roof of the building has already been finished, and work on floors and electrical units is now going on. Tentative plans mention the work being completed in time for a summer opening, but in the event of summer delay, the drama department should be ready to open there in September.

Jobs Open for June Graduates

"Tactful and mature" BA graduates may apply for a job with a local lumber office.

Someone with "grocery background" may inquire about becoming a combination retail salesman and jobbing man for a major food plant.

Hillsboro needs a librarian.

These are a few of the calls firms from the outside world are sending to June graduates of the University.

Seniors may start finding their niche in the world by registering at the Graduate Placement Service in Emerald hall. "Do it now," the service requests. "The best jobs are taken before June."

Future employers will visit the campus between May 17 and May 24. They will be looking for chemists, outstanding BA graduates, and sales trainees.

Firms represented will be Procter & Gamble, Sears, Roebuck &

Company, Montgomery Ward & Co., and General Motors.

Journalism majors may be interested in an executive secretary position with a California publishing company.

A cookware company needs an assistant district manager with a car.

The list is much longer. But a senior's best bet is to leave his credentials in the placement office—for future reference, if he needs no help now.

Vets Exempt From ROTC Under New Faculty Decision

War Danger 'Grows Daily,' Meyer Warns

By James Knight

Danger of war grows daily because the world armament race is breeding international suspicion and fear.

That's what Cord Meyer, president of the United World Federalists, told 500 persons at Roosevelt junior high school last night.

"We live in a world where military power is the price for survival," he said. "The armament race is the inevitable consequence of competing states."

The present foreign policy of the United States is a "great preponderance of military power." The United States is internally rearming, giving economic and military aid to potential allies, and economically boycotting potential enemies.

"I personally believe it is necessary today that we do these things," Meyer said, "because serious disputes cannot be settled by law or a police force—there is none."

"The United World Federalists support the United Nations as a first step, but others have to be taken quickly. The best way to support it is to understand its weak points and take steps to correct them."

The weaknesses of the U.N., as Meyer pointed them out are:

1. The necessity for the Security Council to have the unanimous votes of the Big Five.
2. No world court.
3. No international police force. The minimum powers necessary to weld the U.N. into a strong, unified body, according to the UWF platform, are:

1. Power to prevent and prohibit the use of the threat of war.
2. Regulation and control of national armed forces.
3. A world court with compulsory jurisdiction.
4. Power and law to raise revenue by taxing national governments.

With a strong world government, and freedom from fear, we could use our vast resources constructively," Meyer said. "Another war would be suicidal and destructive for Russia as well as the United States."

"If Russia won't go along with

Health, P.E. Will Be Required; New Advisory Council Elected

ROTC training was waived for veteran students at the faculty meeting yesterday.

Physical and health education credits will still be required of men entering the service after March 31, 1949.

This action changes part of the motion to abolish the granting of health, physical education and military science credits to men entering the service after March 31, 1949, passed April 13 by the faculty.

By yesterday's action, no credits in military science will be given veteran students, but they will be exempted from taking the course.

Col. F. R. Maerdian, head of the military science department had said before the meeting that such exemption would not greatly affect the size of the ROTC since the number of veteran students is diminishing.

No official vote was taken on the ROTC question, according to Paul Civin, assistant professor of mathematics and author of the motion, since agreement was almost unanimous.

A new advisory council was elected by the faculty. It will assist President Harry K. Newburn in making decisions that involve academic policy. Elected were:

W. C. Ballantine, professor of business administration.

Calvin Crumbaker, head of the economic department.

R. R. Huestis, professor of zoology.

E. L. Johnson, dean of the college of liberal arts.

S. W. Little, dean of the school of architecture and allied arts.

Hoyt Trowbridge, professor of English.

A proposal to let graduate students take courses for graduate credit at fewer hours than are listed for the course was defeated.

T. Z. Koo Talk Set for Tonight At Mac Court

Dr. T. Z. Koo, secretary of the World Student Christian federation, will speak tonight in McArthur court at 7:30 on "China in Transition."

Serving the Federation as secretary since 1934, Dr. Koo has been prominent in Christian gatherings in England, India, Holland, United States, and in Central and South American countries.

University students, faculty and townspeople heard Dr. Koo speak in 1945 when he included Eugene in his lecture tour of the United States and other countries of the western hemisphere.

He served as adviser to the Chinese delegation to the United Nations conference in San Francisco in 1945. In 1925 he was one of three chosen by representatives of 34 nations to represent China at the League of Nations' second opium conference in Switzerland.

Dr. Koo is stopping here on a tour of Pacific coast town and cities, which began on April 20 and will continue through June 30.

Sponsoring Dr. Koo's lecture are the campus YWCA, YMCA, and the educational activities department.
