

Mortar Board Petitions Asked

Freshman and sophomore women interested in helping with decorations and cleanup for the Mortar Board ball may submit petitions to Anne Woodworth at Kappa Alpha Theta or Laura Olson at Delta Delta Delta, according to General Chairman Beth Basler.

Members of the senior women's honorary are taking charge of their annual girl-take-boy dance, instead of acting in an advisory capacity. They will be assisted by freshman and sophomore women.

The ball will be held June 4 in McArthur court.

Graduate Assistant Receives Position

Andrew L. Wade, graduate assistant in the sociology department, recently received a teaching assistantship at the University of Wisconsin for the coming academic year.

Wade received his bachelor of science degree from Linfield college in 1948. After finishing work on his master's degree, Wade will leave for his new position.

New Music Scheduled For Aesthetics Meet

Two programs of contemporary music will be presented by the University of Oregon school of music May 12, and 13 in the music auditorium. These programs are in conjunction with the annual meeting of the American Society for Aesthetics, West Coast division, which is holding its annual meeting in Eugene, for the first time.

The first program, which will be held Thursday, May 12, at 8:00 p.m., will consist of numbers by the UN as proposed, don't break it up, but leave the door continuously open to those who choose to remain outside in hopes we can eventually grow sufficiently attractive to entice them in."

The program proposed by the UWF can be accomplished, he said, only by support from "the vast majority of the people." The most effective opponents of the program are not Nationalists or Communists but "despair and resignation to inevitable war."

the U. of O. band under the direction of John Stehn, numbers by the women's chorus of University singers and the whole chorus of University singers under the direction of Donald Alton, accompanied by Anne Hopper, pianist. Last on the program is the UO orchestra, Edmund Cykler, directing.

Though no effort was made to set up an all American program, the majority of the music is by living Americans, some of whom are among the most advanced and representative figures of contemporary music in America. Some of these are: Carl Ruggles, Wallingford Riegger, Charles Ives, and Aarorn Copland.

The second program is to be presented Friday, May 13, at 4:00 p.m. This is devoted to more intricate music, including chamber music. This will be more international in character, featuring the neo-classic style of Albert, and expressionistic songs by Schoenberg and Webern.

One of the outstanding works in recent years in literature of two piano music, Stravinsky's "Concert for Two Pianos," will be played by George Hopkins, piano instructor and Jack Wittwer. Others appearing on the Friday program will be: Miss Florence Vanderwicken, soprano, with Stacey Green at the piano; George Boughton, violin and Stacy Green, pianist, playing a sonata for violin and piano.

These two programs will be open to the public. No admission will be charged.

*Who are America's Most Successful
YOUNG Men?*

In anybody's book, one of them is Marion Harper, Jr. of Advertising's McCann-Erickson. Said TIME—late last year:

Bill Wasson, Cal-Pictures

ADMAN HARPER, Jr.
He energizes people.

sider's idea of an advertising man. He was quiet and studious; he did not wear hand-painted ties, didn't smoke, showed not a single huckster characteristic.

But he had been an office boy only three months when he was moved into the copy research department where he could put his liking for market research to work. Not long after, Harper was made manager of copy research: at 28, only seven years after he had left Yale, he was vice-president in charge of research and merchandising.

By bearing down on market studies, he helped boost the agency's billings from $46 million in 1946 to a 1948 rate of more than $50 million. Last week in Manhattan, at 32, Marion Harper was made president as Founder H. K. McCann, 68, moved up to board chairman. Said an awed agency director, in summarizing Harper's rise: "He energizes people... he's got so much energy himself. The agency has never had such good teamwork before."

On Harper's team is his wife Virginia, whom he met while she was a clerical worker at the agency and married in 1942. She is now assistant director of McCann-Erickson's copy research department. Having no children, Mr. & Mrs. Harper sometimes stay at the office until 2 a.m., working together. Says Mrs. Harper: "I think he's quite bright."

Successful adman Harper reads TIME each week—as do more than 1,500,000 other U.S. college graduates who find in TIME the news they can't afford to miss.
