

Young Stuff

By Fred Young

Interesting to see the results as the Pi Kaps turned lucky logger last Tuesday and clipped their one shade tree. Maybe now a little better view of the "tennis court" across the street?

Excitement next to the tennis court as the Chi Omega's washing machine wiring caught fire with resultant fire-trucks and ambulances drawing the curious and cold. Only loss was the SAE who ran up to the third floor to help.

The Alpha Chi's now report 50 per cent pins. Half-safe. Contributing to the percentage is Dorothy Wonderly with Art Milne's Beta pin. Also, and they said it surprised, there is Sally Schilling with Jerry Switzer's Phi Delt badge. However, Pat Foley's Sigma Nu pin won't surprise. And Barbara Nasberg knitting for suave ex-china chipper Keith Larson.

Not to forget the lucky ones who are announcing engagements. Alpha Xi Ruth Clark to Bill Conley of Eugene. Alpha Xi Marcia Anderson to Jim Embree. Alpha Chi Virginia Mahon to Sigma Nu Forrest Hedges. And the Kappas finally with a representative to the pansy ring as Phyl Schnell is rung by Fiji alum Bob Streebig.

We'll willingly pit our softball "wide awake" team against the sport page's intramural dream team. Darhl Davis will shag the sparse connections with Don Linstedt's pitching. Afraid our worthy contemporaries in the press box overlooked the best.

Chi Omega's house dance sported the good-looking twosome of Jackie Dilley and Curt Cutsforth of jury bribing fame.

Rebec house tells that since the Junior weekend and parade harem girl Jean Brown has managed to catch the eye of ex-Ali Baba Bill Ek. Don't sell the mosquito netting short. DU Bill Sloan stepping across the street for consistent pigging with Rebec's Clara Belle Roth. Campbell Club's Mickey Campbell along with Irene Long.

Kappa house dance found Fiji Mike Madden and muddy feet with Estelle Greer, Leslie Palfrey making hay (?) with Tau Ed Allen of ambulance chasing fame; Beta Glen Holden with more than his hands full.

Alpha Chi Wilma Watkins with engagement to Theta Chi Jerry Weber.

Chi Psi Bill Gross dropping the badge with Alpha Xi Yvonne Heppley. Campbell clubber Clarence Hall joining the squad with Alpha Xi Mary Dewees. Wonderment with Alpha Xis when there'll be definite news from political boss Virginia Wright and Campbell's Hank Panian. And if Joe Staples will overtake yell-leading Marv and convert.

Susan Campbell's Norma Jean Noble betwixt the between as she receives a VMI ring from military friend Art Harrington.

House dances this weekend. Let's hope there's good weather. No fog.

Although Confusing It's Good Reading

SPOKANE, May 20 (AP)—John Law came to grips with the law last night and lost.

John Law (that's his name), 25, surrendered himself to the sheriff's office and was charged with third degree assault.

Law—John Law, that is—posted a $100 bond and was released.

'POPPY GIRL' — Mlle. Annie Robineau (above), daughter of a French veteran, will be flown from Paris with Flanders poppies for the American Legion's poppy campaign.

It's Raining... It's Pouring!!!

It's raining. It's pouring. One day it's sunny and bright; the next it's rainy and stormy; but both days are warm and sticky. You want a raincoat that will keep you dry as well as cool, and is smart-looking too. Such a raincoat is the new red denim number with contrasting stitching and a double row of buttons. The sturdy material has the same feeling as your favorite pair of dungarees and is just as durable.

Then there is the coolie raincoat that doubles as an over-everything coat when it's sunny. Made of red corduroy, it has raglan sleeves and a mandarin collar. With it you can wear the matching coolie rain hat, something very new in rainwear.

Another rather different twist to the familiar raincoat is the cotton twill raincoat in plaid that adds a touch of gaiety to a rainy day. Hooded and double-breasted, it has a detachable belt which can be worn three different ways. The pockets on each side are useful as well as decorative.

Tri Delt's Honor Engaged Seniors With Pansy Ring

Engaged senior women will be honored tomorrow at the annual Tri Delt Pansy Ring Tea when they step through a seven-foot pansy ring as their names and those of their fiances are read.

Traditional with Tri Delt chapters throughout the country, the tea is given in honor of all graduating senior women. Thousands of pansies, the sorority's flower, that have been gathered from all over the state will compose the huge ring.

A preview of the latest summer fashions appropriate for trousseau wear from Russell's department store will be modeled by members of the chapter. Flowers for the show, which will precede the ring, have been donated by Flowers Unlimited. Musical accompaniment will be provided by Tri Delt.

The tea will begin at 3 o'clock, with the ring scheduled for four. All students and their friends are invited to witness this event, which will be held on the front lawn of the chapter house.

Writer Discusses Women's Sports

By Tom King

Noted Women's Sports Authority Scot kilts have developed into pants—and the women wore 'em. Ten gallon hats became the craze of tough-skinned, leathery faced men with twelve-shooters on each hip—and women bought 'em.

Why even back in the age of neolithic man women did all the menial tasks while their then better halves stayed home and discussed the day's political report that came to them via pre-historic radio made out of African hemp—but the gals soon switched this.

It comes as no surprise, then that the fair sex, ornery cusses that they are, have moved into another field, the athletic.

And there, ladies, you have the eighth wonder of the world—and certainly more of a wonder than wonderful.

From a technical standpoint, the feminine sex do irreparably great damage to the sacred shrine that is sports. Quite often, though, they take out the damage on each other. This squares accounts, so we men have no kick here.

Wrestling is a particularly interesting form of skullduggery, but when the femmies take a whack at it—and each other—then

A Woman's Place in News Outlined by Matrix Speaker

Don't try to be the back slapping, "one of the fellows" type of woman journalist, but don't go to the other extreme and be "cute," Dorothy Carew, former Associated Press financial writer, told guests of Theta Sigma Phi's annual Matrix Table Thursday night.

Miss Carew emphasized accuracy as one of the keys to success for women in journalism. Women are working on the same basis as men in the newspaper field, she said, and must be able to turn out "a man's product."

CHAMBRAY-PIQUE — Lola Albright models a dress of chambray by Dorris Varnum for office, school or luncheon. Collar and cartwheel hat by Betmar, are of white pique.

Speaking from personal experience, Miss Carew gave several tips on successfully working side by side with men. Her advice was not to ask numerous questions, but to figure problems out for oneself. "Avoid cute copy, at least until you become experienced," she said. "Also, don't over-dress around the office."

Tapped as new members of Theta Sigma Phi, women's national professional journalism fraternity, were Anita Holmes, Ann Goodman, and Marge Scandling, sophomores, and Barbara Jeremiah, junior.

Honored at the dinner as the two outstanding University freshmen women in pre-journalism were Gretchen Grondahl and Lorna Lawson. Anita Holmes was named as the outstanding sophomore woman. This was a repeat performance for Miss Holmes, who was the outstanding freshman woman last year.

Three Eugene high school journalists were also honored by the Theta Sigs. From Eugene high school came Mary Ellen Burrell, daughter of O. K. Burrell, University professor of business administration. Kitty Lou Shaw and Kathryn Ann Heidenreich, of University and St. Marys' high schools, respectively, were also honored.

with which Matilda might conk us. So, being a rather resourceful gal, she started in on us in such fashion as might stir the envy of Strangler Lewis.

And Matilda, overjoyed at the prospect of using her finger nails for some purpose other than to manicure, never gave up her newly found form of recreation.

So you'll see her around the Pacific slopes these days barnstorming from town to town, challenging any cow-poke gal to a best two out of three falls.

the weaker sex loses its identity. When our day of reckoning comes, you can make us walk a plank or have us eaten piecemeal by every form of mammal and fish that might be attracted by the feast, but don't toss us into the ring with Matilda McAmazon. Matilda's biceps are well developed, the which cannot be said for her other aspects.

And herein is our pet peeve. This Matilda McAmazon, of whom we speak, was, we remember, quite a doll as one stage of her development.

Then one fatal afternoon milady got a bit perturbed at us. In previous incidents of a similar nature it was simply a matter of doing a dodging act amidst a battery of rolling pins.

However, unfortunate as it was, this time there was no rolling pin
