

Frosh Named for Journalism Special Class

Seventeen pre-journalism "recognition" freshmen were enrolled this week in a special orientation program directed by Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, men's and women's journalism honoraries.

They were chosen as the outstanding senior journalism students in their high schools by the honoraries, with the help of advisors on the high school faculties. The nine girls and seven boys in the group represent sixteen Oregon high school journalism departments.

They are attending a series of meetings planned to acquaint them rapidly with the University, the city, and campus publications. Emphasis is placed on news-gathering and news-writing for the Emerald. Medical Test Set For 1950 Students

The Medical College Admission Test will be given by the University counseling bureau on Oct. 22, under the direction of Spencer Carlson. This test will be required of applicants for admission for the fall term of 1950 to medical colleges which are members of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Applications and fees for the test must be received by the Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey, not later than Oct. 8. The full examination fee of $10 must accompany each completed application filed with the Princeton office.

Only fall term, 1950 applicants should apply at this time.

The Medical College Test is composed of a number of tests designed to measure three major categories of the candidate's ability. These are general scholastic aptitude, understanding of modern society, and achievement in pre-medical science. Test scores will be used by medical schools to supplement other available criteria for determining admission.

Application blanks may be secured from premedical advisers or direct from Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 775, Berkeley 4, Calif.

Open House Set At Campus YM

Open house for all men students is being held this week from 9 to 5 p.m. at the YMCA's new headquarters in the former YW bungalow around the corner from the Side on Kincaid.

The YMCA also sponsors the only all-frosh group on the campus, the Freshman Club. Its first meeting will be Thursday, Oct. 6, at 7:30 p.m. Information on the YMCA's student program will be presented; and Dr. Robert Clark, assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts, will speak on the topic, "If I Were a Freshman Again."

Pre-Journalism Meet

All pre-journalism "recognition" freshmen are requested to meet at 2:30 p.m. today, in room 6, journalism building. The meeting is one of a series in a special orientation program being directed by members of Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi.

More Uses Planned for Library When Addition Opens in April

An early-April completion date has been set for the new library addition, Head Librarian Carl W. Hintz reported Thursday.

Work on the addition is progressing rapidly, with concrete now being poured for the top level.

TOTAL REORGANIZATION

With an 80 per cent over-all increase in size, the library will be somewhat reorganized. Reader facilities and books will be found in the new section, with the audio-visual department, including small studios and listening rooms, quartered in the basement.

The entire third floor of the addition and the adjacent stack in the present building will be used for humanities. Social studies will be found on the second floor of the addition and a portion of the present stack. The large reading room now on the second floor and the stack will contain science.

OPPORTUNITIES OPEN

The collection may be opened to the student body without restriction, so that the students may get material first-hand. This will increase their opportunities for reading and learning, Hintz explained.

Exterior finishing of the addition will be different from the present building. A transitional part of the building will be finished in brick, but the back section will be covered with metal, which will be painted to avoid a shiny appearance.

Ticket Deadline Set for Concerts

Ticket sales for the Eugene University Civic Music Association will end Saturday night, with absolutely no tickets sold after the deadline," T. M. Alexander, president of the association, said today.

ASUO cards admit students to the concerts. Faculty, administration, and wives of University students will need tickets, Alexander explained.

Mrs. Robert D. Horn, vice-president of the association, is handling faculty ticket sales. She has named representatives to take ticket orders in every building and department on the campus.

The concert series usually includes seven or eight concerts, including such performers as Joseph Shuster, Helen Traubel, the Philadelphia and Minneapolis symphony orchestras, Vienna choir boys and others.

A membership campaign has been conducted since Sept. 19. These campaigns plus University membership have given Eugene the largest music association in the world in recent years.

Campus representatives on the association board are R. C. Williams, Arthur Johnson and Anita Holmes, vice-presidents, and Dr. Carl M. Pallett, treasurer.

Ticket booths have been set up at Millers store, the Osburn Hotel and the U.S. National bank building.
