

Fire Insurance Necessary Protection States Sig Ep President Jim Snell

"There is nothing more secure than fire insurance, and no fraternity or sorority should be without it." That was the declaration of Jim Snell, president of Sigma Phi Epsilon, in a Thursday interview.

Activities of SPE are currently centered around Hunter Hall in Vets' Dorm where Snell and 32 other members are living. They are awaiting the reconstruction of their 11th avenue house which was badly damaged in a fire Aug. 1.

COVERS $25,000

Insurance covers the $25,000 cost of rebuilding which includes complete interior decorating, outside painting, new wiring, and a rebuilt heating system. An enlarged third-floor sleeping porch will accommodate 50 men and each study room has been increased in size.

In addition to these improvements, $3,000 worth of new furniture will be installed and the millrace house has plans to re-landscape their back yard.

MEALS STILL SERVED

At the time of the fire, 28 men were living in the house and all found temporary quarters with other fraternities although meals were still served from the Sigma kitchen.

Workmen are living in the building now and construction should be done by the last of November, Snell said. "The organization expects to move back in at the start of the winter term," he added, "without financial worries."

YWCA Strives For Members

Many women's living organizations are striving for 100 per cent membership in the campus YWCA as the annual drive goes into its third day, Mary Stadelman, membership chairman, stated yesterday.

Room-to-room canvassing in women's dormitories will begin Monday. Picked representatives will contact each girl individually to explain the program and opportunities offered by the Y.

This year's drive will close with a recognition service Thursday evening, Oct. 6, under the direction of Joan O'Neill Foulon.

Just Ask Art Johnson

Information on ASUO affairs, requests for jobs on student body projects, or general gripes—all these can be brought to the attention of President Art Johnson.

Johnson has scheduled 2-4 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday as official ASUO office hours in the Emerald Hall office.

"Just drop in during those hours, or if you can't make it then, call extension 213 and make an appointment," Johnson advised yesterday.

Journalism Prof Edits Booklet; Other Faculty Men Contribute

Dr. Laurence R. Campbell, professor of journalism, has recently edited a 105-page booklet on journalism vocations, "Careers in Journalism."

The booklet, published this week by the Quill and Scroll Foundation in Chicago, is designed for young people interested in journalism, according to Dr. Campbell. A first edition of it came out in 1946.

Contributions by 73 persons teaching in journalism schools or working in the field are included. Dean Clifford Weigle of the journalism school, and faculty members Gordon A. Sabine and R. D. Millican are among contributors.

Other bylines include George S. Turnbull, former dean of the journalism school, Palmer Hoyt, formerly of the Oregonian and now of the Denver Post, and the late Charles Gratke.

Education, magazine, radio, graphic arts and advertising are some of the career possibilities dealt with in the publication.

Machine Will Vend Juicy, Cold Apples

Apples, "always under refrigeration, and coming from tree to thee," will go on sale at the Co-op soon when a vending machine operated by the Frigid Fruit Company will be installed.

The machine will be smaller than a Coca-Cola machine and work on the same distribution basis, said G. L. Henson, manager of the Co-op.

Hospital Admits Seven Students

The following students were admitted to the Infirmary this week: Patricia Boyle, Beverly Ostrum, Judy Bolender, Wilfred Potten, Roger Moore, Robert Kingsbury, and Allen Osgood.

Kingsbury, injured in an accident Monday, was transferred from the Eugene Hospital to the Infirmary Wednesday and is expected to remain there several days.

Navy Positions Open to Women College Grads

Women college graduates between the ages of 21 and 25 may apply for commissions with the rank of ensign in the Regular Navy.

Those accepted begin their Navy careers at the Navy's General Line School in Newport, Rhode Island. Upon graduation from this five-month indoctrination course the junior officers are sent to initial duty at various shore activities.

Waves recently were assigned to duty in England. Hawaii is expected to be one of the first Pacific bases to which women will be sent.

Those interested may get detailed information from the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Arctic Building, Seattle, Washington. Oct. 15 is the deadline for acceptance of applications for the Wave officer classes convening in Jan. 1950.
