Westminster House, 1414 Kincaid, will hold open house starting at 7:30 and will have mixer games, dancing, skits, and other forms of entertainment, it was announced by Mary Nelson, chairman of Church Night activities. Refreshments will be served throughout the evening. During the football broadcast, there will be no planned recreation. Scheduled activities will start immediately following the game.

PLYMOUTH CLUB

The Plymouth Club will have its party at the First Congregational Church, at 13th and Ferry, in the Wheeler Room. A tour through the new student house that is being remodeled next door to the church is on the program.

Wesley Foundation's party will have as its theme "The Millrace," and its activities will start at 8:30 although the broadcast of the game, starting at 8, will be turned on the house radio.

At all groups, campus clothes will be in order. Dancing and organized 'parlor-games' will feature the "Mill Race" party.

NEWMAN CLUB

All Catholic students and their friends are invited to the Newman Club's fall dance to be held in Gerlinger Annex starting at 8:30. And all students are invited to the Baptist Youth Group's party to be staged at the Baptist Church, Broadway and High streets in downtown Eugene.

Channing Club, affiliated with the Unitarian Church, will stage its activities at the Unitarian church, 11th and Ferry, starting at 7:30.

Religious Council President Sherman Holmes urges all students to visit the various houses and religious clubs on the campus in this annual affair, planned to acquaint students with University religious groups. Holmes stressed that both old and new students are invited to visit any group of their choice.

KOAC Schedules First of Series Oct. 6 for Oregon Classrooms

The first broadcast of the "Lets Sing America" series for 1949-50 will go out over KOAC to an audience of 35,000 in classrooms of countless Oregon rural schools on Thursday Oct. 6 according to an announcement by the University Radio Division and the School of Music.

Especially aimed at the one room school where music facilities are limited, "Lets Sing America" assists teachers in bringing the pleasures of group singing to pupils.

Under the direction of Maude Garnett, associate professor of public school music, youngsters will become familiar with the folk and national songs of America and foreign lands.

Last year, after singing along in their small groups with Miss Garnett, 4,000 youngsters and their teachers gathered at McArthur Court for the big program that ended the season.

The children spent the day at Eugene, eating lunch in the bleachers while they watched the first band concert many of them had ever seen. Later their massed voices carried such favorites as "Oh Susanna" and "America the Beautiful" over KOAC to thousands of others who could not make the trip.

Twenty-nine Thursday broadcasts are listed for the series.
