

Rally Will Meet Team At Airport

Early lunches are suggested for all living organizations today, to be prepared for the snowball welcoming rally this noon, rally board chairman Art Ross stated Friday night.

"The rally will start at Carson Hall at 12 noon and should take only about half an hour to pick up the whole campus," Ross explained. "Men's living organizations should get in touch with the women's house with which they are paired and make all arrangements, so that everyone can be ready and waiting in the cars when the parade comes by," the chairman continued.

Homecoming Policy Outlined

"It looks like the biggest Homecoming in the history of Oregon."

That's the comment of alumni secretary Les Anderson, just returned from a trip to Salem, on this year's weekend celebration, slated for Nov. 18-19.

Homecoming Chairman Willy Dodds, first sophomore to win the post in many years, stated his policy for the event yesterday:

"As far as the kind of a Homecoming this is going to be—that doesn't depend on the chairman, it depends on the students.

"The only promise I want to make is that every student who wants to help will be given a good chance.

"This isn't a political grab bag—it's a great opportunity for all of the students of the University of Oregon to support a great team and make friends again with a grand bunch of alums."

Game Covered

Art French, manager of the University photo bureau, was in Los Angeles last night taking moving pictures of the Oregon-UCLA game.

All Oregon football games will be covered by French this year. Formerly he recorded only home games.

Campus Chest Campaign Rises To 22% of Goal

Approximately 22 per cent of the campus Community Chest goal of $4000 had been reached by late afternoon Friday, according to Paul R. Washke, chairman of the drive. The Health Service was the second department to report a completed campaign.

Student solicitation is under way, according to Brian Graves, president of Alpha Phi Omega, which is directing this phase of the campus drive.

"Although we are holding no dances or giving no trophies in the campaign, we believe the students will realize they benefit directly through the Community Chest in the campus YWCA and YMCA, and also are helping many charitable organizations."

House representatives will receive contributions till next Thursday. Alpha Phi Omega members will cover the vets' dorms cafeteria next Monday or Tuesday noon, Graves said.

"Response has been slow in starting," Washke stated, "but after faculty payday today, contributions should increase substantially."

He urges solicitors to turn in collections daily to the Division of Information in Johnson Hall.

YMCA Slates Frosh Carnival

Rain or shine, the YMCA-sponsored Freshman Men's Timber Carnival will be held at Moose Park on Saturday, Oct. 1. The day's schedule includes softball, football, log-rolling, other games and contests; and a weiner roast and picnic dinner.

In the evening the Rev. Wesley G. Nicholson of the Congregational Church will speak on "Values to Seek in College." A program of indoor recreation will be held in the park pavillion in event of rain.

Setting for the Timber Carnival is Moose Park on Fern Ridge Lake just west of Eugene. Those who plan to attend are asked to phone the "Y" to ensure transportation. Cars will leave the "Y" at 1:30 and will return at 9:30.

Registration Total Hits High of 5328

Registration totaled 5328 students Friday evening with 108 completing the process Friday, according to figures released by Registrar Clifford L. Constance.

Last Team To Beat UO Wins, 35-27

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30—(UP)—A scrappy UCLA football team scored the first major upset of the Pacific Coast Conference season Friday night by defeating a favored Oregon squad 35-27.

Only the brilliance of Oregon's Earl Stelle kept the game from being a rout as he passed for numerous gains that kept Oregon only a touchdown behind throughout the game.

Last night's game ended Oregon's string of 13 consecutive conference wins. Oddly enough, UCLA, back in 1947 was the last league team to beat the Ducks 24 to 7.

Credit for the outstanding run of the game went to Oregon's Woodley Lewis, who raced a kickoff back 95 yards for his team's first score. This was the first TD scored by Lewis in an Oregon uniform.

Stelle completed 10 out of 12 passes for a phenomenal record in that department. UCLA completed only six out of 16 passes.

The Bruins hit paydirt first midway in the opening period on a 38-yard pass play from Johnson to end Bob Wilkinson. But the crowd had hardly settled in its seats when Oregon's Negro halfback Lewis took the kickoff on his five and raced 95 yards to a touchdown.

Johnson and fullback Cliff Schroeder on 12 plays in the second period marched 61 yards, with Schroeder scoring. But Oregon again came right back and on passes from Stelle to Halfback Johnnie McKay marched 55 yards to score on a 19-yard toss to McKay.

UCLA's third touchdown of the first half came when guard John Nikcevic recovered an Oregon fumble on his own 35. Little Ray Nagel, who took over at tailback for Johnson, ran and passed the Bruins to the one-yard line, where Schroeder dived over for the score.

Lewis set up Oregon's third touchdown in the third period when he intercepted a UCLA pass on the 50 and raced 30 yards. Five plays later, fullback Bob Sanders dived over from the three.

But Johnson teamed with reserve halfback Hal Braly to March 76 yards in 18 plays, with Johnson going over from the one-foot mark.

Stelle unlimbered his passing arm and in three throws went 55 yards with his final toss to end Darrell Robinson good for 33 yards and a score.

The amazing Bruins snapped right back, with Johnson again leading the ground drive to go 58 yards in 12 plays. Braly drove over from the three to score the final fourth period touchdown.
