Addition to Radio Time Brings Program Shift

Fifteen minutes of radio time will be added to the University KOAC schedule beginning next week. The added time will mean the shifting of one Thursday night program to Wednesday night, and the lengthening of the Radio Workshop series to a half hour performance.

The first thirty-minute drama will be presented this Thursday night from 4:30 till 5. Titled "The Ghost of Memorial Park," the drama concerns a little man, disappointed with his role in the world, who becomes convinced, by the aid of "Christmas Carol" like apparitions, that in their own way the little people are important. Dick Rayburn will play the role of Merbert Perkins (the little man), while Jim Blue and Terry Roseen will do the ghosting. The play, written by an undergraduate at the University of Wisconsin, will be directed by R. L. Montgomery, associate professor of speech.

"Friends Around the World," the interview with foreign students usually heard on Thursday, will not be broadcast this week. Instead it will be presented next Wednesday at 6:30 following the piano program of Mrs. Zonda Montgomery. The interview will be followed by the "Invitation to Read" series featuring Dr. Alburey Castell of the philosophy department.

Huts Linger On Campus Two Years

Quonset huts will remain on the campus for at least two more years, said I. I. Wright, physical plant superintendent, today. By then the new Science building, to be built between the physical plant and the men's pool, should be completed.

All science and laboratory classes now in other buildings will be moved into it, leaving space in Deady hall for the Math, English, Sociology and other classes now in quonsets.

Nine quonsets are on the campus now. Almost half are located between Oregon and Commerce halls. Three are situated on the old campus and are being used for laboratory work; one houses the Emerald; and the most recent one, built in 1948, is used for ROTC equipment.

Work on the Science building was begun last April and is expected to be completed by fall of 1951.

Peterson Appointed To Testing Board

T. S. Peterson, associate professor of mathematics, has been appointed to the College Entrance Examination Board. With representatives from Haverford, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Chicago, and Phoenix Junior College, Peterson will compile mathematics tests to be given by major colleges and universities throughout the country.

Grade School Students

Twenty-two sixth graders from Whiteaker Grade School visited the geology museum in Condon Hall last week.

The students viewed the fossils and geological exhibits as a part of their social living study program. Similar groups of grade school students usually visit the Condon museum at a rate of about one group per week.

Off-Campus Seniors

Seniors living off campus, both married and single, are requested to take their cap and gown pictures for the Oregonian on Saturdays between now and Nov. 23 at the Kennel-Ellis studios.

Annual Libe Civil Service Applications Series Opens Must be Filed by Nov. 8 With Piquet

Tonight at 7:30 the first of the 1949 Browsing Room series of lectures, concerts, and plays will be presented in the Adelaide Church Memorial Room of the library.

Dr. Howard S. Piquet, visiting professor of economics, will open the lecture series with a talk entitled "Washington Sidelights."

EX-GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEE

Piquet will describe his impressions and observations of the nation's capital, formed while he was a government employee there.

Piquet served as special consultant to the White House staff, the House and Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and as a Senior Specialist in international economics for the Library of Congress. He is listed in the 1948-49 edition of "Who's Who in America."

Mu Phi Epsilon, women's professional music fraternity, presented the first recorded concert this afternoon. On Nov. 1, Phi Beta, women's speech and music fraternity, will play recordings.

LECTURES, CONCERTS

Faculty lectures and concerts presented by the University music societies will be given on alternate weeks throughout the year.

Following an annual custom, the drama department will present one-act plays during the last week of the series.

No admission is charged for the Browsing Room series.

It's a shaky reputation that is built on things you are going to do.
