

Council to Hear Reports on Cost, Homecoming

High cost of living on campus and Homecoming reports will be among items on the Executive Council's agenda when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday in the ASUO office of Emerald Hall.

University Business Manager J. Orville Lindstrom will explain the high costs of living in University dormitories. Lindstrom's report grew out of the investigation started two weeks ago by Senior Representative Phil Patterson on the Council's suggestion.

HOMECOMING REPORT

Homecoming chairman Willie Dodds will report on the progress of his committees for the annual event, set for Nov. 18 and 19.

Inquiries slated to begin include an investigation into the feasibility of renewing Thursday assemblies.

These were a regular feature of campus life before the war, when campus talent, speakers, and rally programs were presented. The present University Assembly series, which brings speakers renowned in public life, politics, journalism, and other fields, would be included in the Thursday assembly schedule, according to present suggestions.

TRADITIONS

Traditions—the remodeling of the old and possible addition of the new—will also come up for discussion.

A movement for a single unified campus drive, replacing the many causes to which students are asked to contribute annually, will be debated.

Confirmation of the appointment of Merv Hampton as sophomore representative on the Student Traffic Court is also on the agenda.

Reports from the Council's committees on the proposed talent finding and recording system and the improvement of the post-game singing of the Pledge Song will be requested.

Noise Parade Meet Slated for Monday

Homecoming Noise Parade representatives from all campus living organizations will meet at 4 p.m. Monday in the Delta Gamma house.

Men and women's houses will be paired in preparation for the Nov. 18 parade at the meeting. Parade rules will also be discussed.

Each living organization will have one representative, with the exception of Carson and Hendricks Halls, which will have three and two respectively.

Facial Stubble Begins to Show

That five o'clock stubble is beginning to show on most masculine sophomore faces with the Whiskerino dance less than a week away.

Violators of the traditional two-week beard growing race have been found, however, and are subject to the penalty of tubbing. Sophomores with 36 to 93 hours, who have shaved are to report to the pool between Deady and Fenton Hall, Monday at 12:25 p.m.

Violators to date are Phil Liberty, Dave Ramstead, Glen Torrey, Jack Landrud, Burl Dethridge, Wayne Coffey, Warren Eljohly, Charlie Grondona, Ward Bebb, Gene Moody, Ken Metzler, Harold Darin, Stan Aune, Tom McDonald, Jim Hayden, Bud Anderson, Bob Gitner, and Harold Sipe.

A few living organizations have not been checked. These will be inspected Monday by the sheriff's posse, according to Bill Clausen, high sheriff. Freshmen are to see that sophomores appear for dunking.

The Weather . . .

Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday, with patches of fog in early morning. High temperature Saturday, 63 degrees; low Saturday morning, 35 degrees. High temperature Sunday, 63 degrees.

Finalists Smile for Camera

BETTY COED AND JOE COLLEGE finalists try out their grins for the camera. From left, Bill Clausen, Barbara Bates, and Betty Boner. A short interview with each appears below. Other finalists will be interviewed next week. (Emerald Photo by Deane Bond.)

Trojans Favored Over Webfoots In Los Angeles

Jim Aiken's Oregon Webfoots and the mighty Trojans from Southern California, both one-time losers in 1949 PCC football action, do battle today in the Los Angeles Coliseum. The loser will be virtually eliminated from the Rose Bowl contender list.

The Coast's game-of-the-week will start at 2 p.m. Eugene radio station KORE will broadcast the play-by-play, starting at 2:15.

Oregon is listed as a one to two touchdown underdog in California, but many Northwest writers and fans have stayed behind the Lemon and Green.

Oregon's 37-man traveling squad arrived in Los Angeles Friday afternoon, and warmed up on the Coliseum turf. It was in the same stadium in which the Webfoots were defeated 35-27 by UCLA earlier in the season.

BELL MAY GO

Halfback George Bell is the only Duck not ready physically, although he may see limited action. Aiken has two speedy backs to fill the gap, including Bill Fell and Woodley Lewis.

Three Oregon backfield men—Quarterback Earle Stelle, Bob Sanders at fullback, and John McKay at left half—are almost sure starters.

Offensively, Aiken's T-machine should be prepared. Oregon's passers may start throwing the ball more than in five previous games, to keep pace with a 30-point per game average.

DEFENSE BETTER

On defense, the Webfoots will face a familiar T-formation, as employed by Troy Coach Jeff Cravath. The Ducks have shown improving defensive play since Bruin speedsters ran wild Sept. 30.

The SC boys will be looking for a win to avenge an 8-7 Oregon victory last season in Portland, and they may bounce back after being dropped by California 16-10 last Saturday.

ONE USC WIN

USC has a single conference win this year, beating Washington State 35-7. The Trojans whopped Navy 42-20, and tied Ohio State 13-11.

Less than 40,000 fans are expected for the game today, because of 50-yard-line television seats available at home.

The Webfoots will return to Eugene tonight by plane, and are tentatively scheduled to arrive at 10 p.m.

Schleicher to Talk At U.N. Workshop

Charles P. Schleicher, professor of political science, will address the United Nations Workshop in Boise Tuesday, opening the workshop with the subject, "Why we Face an International Emergency."

Schleicher will also address students of the Boise Junior College Wednesday on the topic, "Approach to International Peace."

The three-day conference, mainly an Idaho event, is sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Boise and Boise Junior College in honor of United Nations Week.

High School Press Conclave Draws Over 400; Ex-Governor Sprague to Speak This Morning

The Oregon High School Press Conference meets for the 23rd consecutive year today, with over 400 attending. This enrollment makes the conference the biggest since its inception.

Opening convocation will be at 9 a.m. in 3 Fenton and will be attended by student delegates and advisers representing 95 high schools throughout the state.

Greetings will be offered by Clifford F. Weigle, dean of the school of journalism and director of the conference; Miss Barbara Heywood, president of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary, and Robert Tweedell, president of Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism honorary.

SPRAGUE TO SPEAK

Charles A. Sprague, ex-governor of Oregon and now editor-publisher of the Oregon Statesman, Salem, will give the morning's main address. He will speak on

"Journalism as a Career."

The all-day schedule includes four separate programs. Four hours will be devoted to meetings of the Newspaper Clinic, the new Yearbook Forum, Special sessions, and the OAJA.

These meetings are designed to cover all phases of journalism activities. The special sessions are on radio and television. Approximately 40 leading journalism figures from all over the state will lecture at and direct the meetings.

IMPROVEMENT AWARDS

Also included on the program are election of conference offices and the awarding of five cups to high school newspapers showing the most improvement during the past year.

The closing session from 4 to 5 p.m. will feature a talk on "World Affairs and the Newspaper" by Ivan G. Nagy, assistant professor of political science.

The School of Journalism sponsors the conference each year.

Conference Program

- 8:10—Registration, 1 Journalism, 3 Fenton.
- 9-9:50—Opening Convocation, 10-10:50—Campus tour conducted by Sigma Delta Chi, 2 Journalism.
- 10-12—Special Sessions, Yearbook Forum, Newspaper Clinic and Oregon Association of Journalism Advisers.
- 12—Campus tour, 14 Friendly; tour of Department of Speech, 304 Villard; football film, 3 Fenton.
- 12-12:40—Nomination Committees' Joint Session, 101 Villard.
- 12:45—Cafteria Luncheon, John Straub.
- 2-4—Special Sessions, Yearbook Forum, Newspaper Clinic, and Oregon Association of Journalism Advisers.
- 4-5—Closing Convocation, 3 Fenton.

By Ken Metzler

With final selections of Betty Coed and Joe College a week away, The Emerald begins today a series of interviews of the 12 finalists.

Interviewed were Betty Boner, Alpha Phi; Barbara Bates, Carson Hall; and Bill Clausen, Kappa Sigma.

BETTY BONER

A petite brown-haired finalist who likes sailing and horseback riding, Betty Boner is known as "BJ" to friends. That's for Betty Jean.

The name was given to her during her grade school years and has stuck ever since.

Betty is from Santa Barbara, Calif., and likes it there because the sun shines, she says. Oregon is okay too, she added. She came here because she "wanted to go to school in another state."

Asked how she felt when selected as a finalist, she exclaimed, "Well—it's different from anything I've ever done before." She didn't elaborate on this.

However, some of the things she's done before include good grades in high school, travel, and sports activities. The California Scholarship Federation and the Lions Club in Santa Barbara picked her as one of the top 10 high school students in grades.

Her father owns a sailboat and at every opportunity she takes it out for a spin.

What about Oregon traditions? Fine, she says, we ought to keep them.

"They're very collegiate, at least."

However, she admits she would not like to be dunked.

BARBARA BATES

Barbara Bates was in a hurry when interviewed. In a scant 10 minutes she was to go out and measure beards. She said it looked like there were some mighty good ones, too.

"I'll bet some of them went into hibernation a couple of days early and got a head start, though," she said. "Maybe not."

However, she stopped long enough to say she was terribly surprised when she found out she

(Please turn to page 8)