450 Ineligible To Cast Ballots In Lane County

Approximately 450 University students who registered to vote in Lane county have been found ineligible, L. M. Wadman, head of the Lane county election department, reported Thursday.

These students, Wadman stated, are not permanent residents of this county and are therefore not eligible to vote in any city or county election.

MAY STILL VOTE

The students gave University or Eugene addresses as their temporary residence and declared out-of-county addresses as their permanent residence, he said. They may vote only in their home county, directly, or with the absentee ballot.

However, any student may register here if he intends to make his permanent home in Lane county and has been a resident at least 30 days prior to an election.

RE-REGISTRATION

Wadman also emphasized that residents will have to re-register if they have changed their address, political party, or name, or have not voted in an election during the previous two years.

The significance of student voters was illustrated ten years ago when a bond issue came before the city. The issue was passed but was immediately contested and thrown out when it was learned that nearly a thousand students participating in the election were ineligible to vote.

Journalism Student Sells Four Articles Within One Week

Bob Karolevitz, graduate student in journalism, has received notice of acceptance of four magazine articles in one week.

Two were sold the first time they were submitted. An article on how Bill Bowerman, Oregon track coach, is following in the footsteps of the late Col. Bill Hayward was purchased by Sportvue, a monthly published in Dayton, Ohio.

GRID SYSTEM ARTICLE

Public Works, engineering journal in New York, took a story on the Eugene grid system.

The other two were personal anecdotes.

Western Family, Hollywood, is printing the true story of how a comic book was responsible for upsetting the plans of a judo stunt.

Our Navy, Brooklyn, accepted the story of an experience Karolevitz had in Japan.

BOMBS, FRYING PANS

Incendiary bombs located in a Japanese factory aroused suspicion, but it developed that they were being processed into frying pans.

Karolevitz received approximately $100 for the stories.

U.O. May Issue OEA Certificate

Possibility of having grade school teaching certificates issued from the University of Oregon is being investigated this week by a committee appointed at the first meeting of the Oregon Education Association.

At present, graduates of the University's Education School must attend Monmouth College for 12 term hours to obtain an emergency elementary teaching certificate.

REPORT NOV. 10

Committee members are: Isabelle Lowry, Marilyn Daniels, Ann Cuthbert, and Ward Sybouts, all students of the Education School. They will report their findings at the next meeting Nov. 10. Need of additional training facilities at the University for future teachers was second on the agenda. The department lacks visual aids, blackboards, and even double sockets.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Harold Kirk was appointed chairman of this committee. Serving with him are Elizabeth Sanders and Wayne Story.

Officers for the 1949-50 OEA of Future Teachers were elected. President is Richard Logan; vice president and program chairman, Howard Bailey; secretary-treasurer, Ann Cuthbert.

Extension Division Transfer Scheduled

The University Extension Division today will be moved to new quarters at last year's YMCA building, H. D. Jacoby, assistant superintendent of the Physical Plant, announced.

The present Extension building will be moved or torn down soon to make room for the new Science building on University avenue.

Completely remodeled, the new extension building will contain three private offices and two large work areas on the first floor and a library and archives on the second floor.
